"Second Ty Cobb" Cause of New Fight of Federal League and Organized Baseball.

Benny Kauff, crack outfielder of the Brooklyn Federal league club, called often the "Second Ty Cobb," has been the cause of another stir in the baseball world, and his action in joining the New York Giants may lead to another legal fight between the new league and organized baseball. Kauff, who is one of the greatest ball players in the country, suddenly appeared at the Polo Grounds, New York, Thursday, April 29, and was signed by John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants. He was sent out into the field for the game with the Boston Braves in place of Jim Thompson, the Indian, who it was learned at the time had just been sold to the Jersey City club of the International league. George Stallings, manager of the Boston club, protested, and then called his men off the field. "Kauff," said he, "is the property of the Brooklyn Federal league club, and he has no right to play in the National league."

The umpire ordered the Boston men to play, and on their refusal forfeited the game to the Giants. Later what McGraw called an exhibition game was played without Kauff in the line up. Robert B. Ward, chief financial backer of the Federal league and owner of the Brooklyn club, was at a white heat when he learned the Giants had signed Kauff. He declared war in these words: "Kauff has a contract with the Brookfeds that is absolutely binding for the next three years. If the Giants believe otherwise we will fight them to the last ditch. If the Giants or any other club in organized baseball want war they will get it. If the Kauff matter can be construed as a call to arms organized baseball will regret that they ever sounded the call. We will get out and take players who have iron-clad contracts with clubs in the National and American leagues and will fight to the limit to retain them."

JOHNSON FAVORS PEACE IN BASEBALL LEAGUES

Says National Game Should be Kept Out of Courts—Will Profit From Troubles.

Boston, May 4.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, today declared himself in favor of withdrawing from the courts the suits between organized baseball and the Federal League. He said baseball should have been kept from the courts and that he didn't believe it was too late to reach an agreement outside. He expressed the opinion that the national pastime as professionalized will be bettered by the trials it is undergoing. He said peace, or an agreement between organized baseball and the Federals wasn't in sight immediately and hadn't been discussed recently.

Deferred Devotion.
After a period of six months of widowhood, Bridget consented to again enter the married state. Some weeks after she was led to the altar her old mistress met her in the street dressed in the deepest mourning. "Why, Bridget," she exclaimed, "for whom are you in black?" "For poor Barney, my first husband, mum. When he died I was that poor Oi couldn't afford to buy mourning, but Oi said if I could of would and me new man, Tim, is as generous as a lord."—London Tit-Bits.

On the Street Car.
"How do you know they are married?" "How do I know? Easy enough. He thoughtlessly turned to look across the aisle at that pretty girl in the transparent waist and the openwork hose and as soon as he saw the woman by his side was observing him with a frown he immediately shut his glance up at the street car signs and began to study them intently."—Jacksonville Times-Union.

AGED MEAT.
The extraordinary keeping qualities of meat when subjected to well-regulated cold storage have recently been proved. A hindquarter of Australian beef which had been in storage for 18 years was exhibited at the Smithfield London market. It had been shipped from Australia to Malta by the "Duke of Portland" in February, 1896. It was kept in Malta until the Spring of 1914, and then sent to London in June. The color of the meat had faded, but beneath the surface the meat had undergone remarkably little change. Chemical analysis revealed that the meat had lost none of its dietetic value.
