LOCAL MATTERS.

THE WEATHER.—On Tuesday evening last the rain commenced coming down in showers, which continued throughout the night, increasing in volume as it approached daybreak, and at about seven o'clock on Wednesday morning the heaviest flow of water came from the heavens that we have seen for a long time. For two or three hours this immense fall of rain continued, when it held up, and the sun came out beautifully for a short while. It soon clouded up again, however, and drizzled for the balance of the day, getting much cooler in the afternoon. The clouds were heavy all of that night; but, on yesterday morning early, they broke, and the sun beaming forth, gave us one of the most beautiful days, with a fine temperature, that could be wished for at this season. The City Registrar has kindly furnished us with the quantity of rain which fell from two o'clock of the 14th to the same hour of the 15th last past—twenty-four hours—which amounts to 5.18-100 inches.

DEATH OF JUDGE WITHERS.—The Camden Journal of last Friday mentions the death of Judge THOMAS JEFFERSON WITHERS, who died at his residence at Kirkwood, on the night of the 7th inst. Known and respected as he was here, the announcement of his death will cause many a feeling of regret, and a cloud of sorrow must cover our minds as we think of the loss of so faithful and able a public servant at a time like this. His reputation as a Judge on the Bench of South Carolina has never been surpassed, and many years will pass over the State before her people see his equal again upon it.

LAFAYETTE.—Soon after the evacuation of the city, a lithograph of Genl. LAFAYETTE, painted by FRASER, in the highest style of art, was taken from the Council Chamber, at the Orphan House, and little hopes was entertained of its being ever seen again. A few days ago, however, ex-Mayor MACBETH received a package, which, upon opening, was discovered to be this valuable picture, uninjured, and in the same case in which it was when carried off. Although there was no communication of any kind accompanying it, it is presumed that it was sent from Norfolk.

A NEW PAPER.—We find, among our exchanges, "The Crescent," a paper "devoted to literature, agriculture, and general intelligence," published at Marion, S. C. We welcome this weekly, and congratulate the proprietor, Mr. SIDNEY E. MCMILLAN, on the excellent appearance of his paper, as well as the judiciousness of his selections. Its leader on "the Labor Question" is written with great clearness, and displays considerable judgment in an essay upon this important matter. Its advertising patronage seems very good, and, upon the whole, it is one of the best country papers now being published. It is issued every Wednesday, at $4 per annum.

MR. JAMES W. LLOYD, of the firm of DENT, PALMER & CO., Bankers, of London, has arrived in our city. The house of which he is a member owns largely of the bonds of the South Carolina Railroad Company, and Mr. LLOYD is here to look after the interest of the firm, and to afford to the Company any reasonable facilities to help them through their present difficulties. Messrs. DENT, PALMER & CO. have large investments in Southern securities; and Mr. LLOYD, who represents them, expresses his great gratification at the honest purpose which appears to animate the South in her present financial troubles.

THE STEAMER W. W. Coit, a government transport, lately known as Gen. GILLMORE's boat, left this city on Tuesday morning last, 14th inst., for New York, to be "mustered out of service." A little below Georgetown she encountered a gale, which became worse and worse, and drove her, in a southeasterly course, to within a few miles of the Gulf Stream. A heavy sea stove in the bulkheads, tearing away the pantry, and, of course, carrying along with it the entire stock of dishes, knives, forks, and nearly all the provisions; and worse than all, on Wednesday morning a slip joint of one of the steam pipes gave way, and she had to stop in the midst of the gale, perfectly at the mercy of winds and waves. Our informant assured us that nothing could surpass the coolness, vigilance, energy, and unwearied assiduity of the Captain, E. TROW, the Pilot, Mr. J. S. SWIFT, and Mr. G. W. RICKIE, the Chief Engineer, who never left their posts, but night and day worked on, till the danger was past.

The water filled the engine room, and the pumps had to be constantly kept at work; coal was heaved overboard; but, notwithstanding all their exertions for many hours, there seemed to be no other prospect but to take to the water, which, in that sea, with "nothing but wildcats going," seemed a forlorn hope.

Capt. BOYCE, Capt. RUNDELL, and Capt. WM. TOWNSEND, U. S. army officers, passengers on board, worked with might and main, and too much cannot be said in praise of these gentlemen.

The Coit is built very strongly, with splendid "hog frames;" otherwise she could not possibly have lived in such a sea. These "hog frames" failed, what incessantly "playing rattlesnake," as the sailors call it, but did not give way, fortunately.

She put about and arrived here yesterday evening, decidedly damaged. It will probably take a week or more to put her to rights again.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Under this head, the Wilmington Dispatch, of the 15th inst., speaks of the preparations that are now being rapidly made for placing the fire department of that city on a firm and efficient footing. The old hose has been sent North for repair, and some two thousand feet of new are expected by the first steamer, while the engines, which are injured but slightly, are to be immediately put in order. We hope that the firemen of our city are following the good example of our sister city, and, as far as circumstances will allow, renovating the old apparatus which they may have in possession. We are satisfied that no fire department in the South has suffered equal with that of Charleston, and we know at the same time that there is no body of men to be found possessing more energy and character than they, and who are not to be depressed or kept down by misfortune. The insurance offices, the city, and the citizens generally, must soon come to it, and with what means can be afforded, and the organization, which has been pronounced one of the best in the country, be preserved and protected. Under the disadvantages which it now labors, its efficiency is remarkable, and is attributable to the active exertions of the young men who compose it and the attention and experience of those at its head. We sincerely wish that in a short time the different companies may be furnished with all they shall be in need of, and find once more placed in the encouraging position which they held before the war.

W. H. CHASTEE.—For all articles of groceries that may be desired by dealers, or wanted by families, we beg the readers of this morning's issue to refer to the different advertisements of this gentleman, who has every kind at his spacious establishment, No. 205 East Bay, opposite New Custom House.

WILLIAM GURNEY.—This gentleman has just received at his store, No. 102 East Bay, a large supply of sides, shoulders, lard, cheese, &c., &c., which will be disposed of on reasonable terms. See his advertisement.

MANTOUE & CO.—Those in want of groceries of all kinds, liquors of the best quality, and segars of the finest flavor, need go no further than the corner of King and Society streets, where this firm holds forth, and where purchasers can be accommodated promptly and reasonably.

D. PAUL & CO.—The reopening of this old house, at the corner of Church and Broad streets, where this firm had, before the war, so long, and so successfully done business, will be highly gratifying to their numerous friends and former customers. Being distinguished in this community as an establishment that could be thoroughly depended on in the purchasing of goods, we are satisfied it will sustain its good name, and the generous patronage it has before received, will, by their style of business, be brought back to them at an early day.

THE POOR.—The rains with which we are now being visited, and the breezes that now whistle around our houses of nights, usually prognosticate, at this season of the year, the approach of extreme cold weather, when the former will descend upon us in icy bails, and the latter assail us as the cutting wind of winter only can. And although the weather is at the present time peculiarly mild, we must not look for this pleasant temperature long, but we should make preparations for the comforts necessary to ward off the effects of the chilly times which are fast approaching. The high prices of articles needed for this purpose, especially fuel, cause us to turn our eyes to the poor, and to wonder how they are to struggle through the forthcoming winter—to those of them who labor hard and are unrequited for their work, and whose earnings are just enough to pay for the humble shed which covers them, and the light food their children live upon—to those, also, upon whom disease has laid her hand, and whose scanty subsistence comes from friends who once could give bountifully, but, poverty having overtaken them, their means are now but small. We feel particularly anxious about all that are needy, now that winter is coming on; but we are much more solicitous to know from whence those articles of prime necessity in cold weather, wood and coal, is to be obtained for those who will so much require it, but whose indigence will not allow their getting it. The State and the City are impoverished, and cannot give aid or help, while nearly all of our benevolent citizens, who in past times had the means to be charitable, and dispensed their kindnesses to this class with a liberal hand, are now but a little better off than they to whom they once were helpers.

This is a matter of the most serious importance, and we publish these few lines in hopes that it will be taken up earnestly, not only by those of our community who have always made it a rule of their lives to assist the indigent, but by all who can afford the least help; for we should all

Look on the poor.
With gentle eyes; for in such habits, often,
Angels desire an alms.

WILLIAM MATTHIESSEN.—The fine clothing-house of this gentleman, who was the senior of the highly-reputable concern of MATTHIESSEN, O'HARA & CO., has always on hand a fine and as varied an assortment of all articles of wearing apparel as any we would desire to examine or purchase. His supply of overcoats, as published by him this morning, is of a superior kind, and is well worth a visit from those whom the cold weather will soon compel to buy.

BRICKS.—Messrs. SKERRITT & VENNING advertise in this morning's issue 15,000 bricks, now landing at Southern Wharf, for sale low.

HIGH APPROVAL.—Mrs. S. A. Allen lately received a letter from a lady, stating that at the suggestion of numerous friends she purchased a bottle of Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer and Zylobalsamum, or Hair Dressing, and after using a few times, her hair, which was quite gray, was restored to its youthful color, and new hair was fast appearing. No lady's toilet is complete without these preparations. Every druggist sells them. 3t

Valuable Cotton Plantation in Edgefield District, South Carolina.
BY T. SAVAGE HEYWARD & SONS.
Will sell at Private Sale, all that valuable PLANTATION known as CURRINGTON, situate in Edgefield District, S. C., on the Main Road from Augusta to Edgefield Court House, being ten miles from Augusta and fifteen from Edgefield Court House, containing, as per Plat, thirteen hundred and forty-eight (1348) acres, more or less. On the Plantation there is a fine Residence, containing eleven rooms; Kitchen, Stables, Barns, Machine House, ample quarters for laborers, with all requisite buildings for a well-settled Plantation.
This place is considered one of the best in the District for the production of cotton, corn and wheat; and, with a creek running through the land, affording ample water facilities for a large mill-seat or factory. Also, a large and productive Orchard of well selected fruit trees. Any one wishing to purchase fine Cotton Lands would do well by applying at our Office, No. 129 East Bay, where the Plat may be seen and all particulars given.
