Latest from Europe.

HALIFAX, N. S. January 31.—The British and North American Royal Mail steamship Arabia arrived at this port this evening from Liverpool, with advices from Europe to Saturday the 19th inst., which are highly important.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.—The correspondent, at Vienna, of the London Times, telegraphed to that journal on Wednesday, the 16th instant, at ten o'clock in the morning, that Russia had unconditionally accepted the propositions of the Allies.

This statement is believed to be authentic.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.—The Liverpool Cotton Market had advanced from 1-8 to 1-4 per lb., and the sales had amounted during the week 58,000 bales of which exporters took 5000 and Speculators took 3000 bales, leaving 24,000 bales of all descriptions to the trade. The Stock of Cotton in port was 570,000 bales including 300,000 American.

THE LIVERPOOL MONEY MARKET.—Consols closed on the 18th instant at from 89 1-2 to 89 3-4, being a considerable advance in the market on the 11th instant having closed at from 88 3-4 to 89 3-4.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—In the U. S. House of Representatives to-day Mr. Cox offered a resolution which was rejected, to the effect that Democrats and National Americans should first unite on Mr. Orr for Speaker, and if he were not elected then fall on Fuller.

The Michigan militia mustered a plurality of solutions, which have over under the rule until to morrow, it is believed that there will be a better prospect of its being adopted.

Triple, an amendment to Mr. Richardson's resolution declaring Mr. Smith, of Virginia, Speaker, was, however, defeated by a vote of 110 to 100.

The Senate passed the proprietors of the Union as Senate Printers, and adjourned till Monday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—An official dispatch has been received from Mr. Swedish Minister, stating that it had removed the import and export duties on iron.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—The Commercial Convention in this city, has been organized by the appointment of Gen. Pilgnan of Maryland, as President. 200 delegates are present. A resolution was submitted to the effect that, notwithstanding the baleful opinions of the North, the Convention expressed their devoted attachment to the Union and their determination to preserve it.

Additional by the Arabia.

HALIFAX, N. S. Jan. 31.—The announce[illegible] in the London Times that Russia had unconditionally accepted the Austrian proposals, had caused great excitement, but a Government dispatch next day stated that Russia only accepted the Austrian proposals as a basis of negotiations. Confidence [illegible] and the public is less sanguine. Many think that Russia merely accepts these proposals to prolong negotiations [illegible] gain time.

[illegible] in the announcement of Russia's acceptance of the peace proposals, the Vienna papers represented affairs as in an alarming condition. It was stated that the Austrian Embassy had received orders to leave St. Petersburg. The facts connected with the premature announcement are that Esterhazy had communicated to Nesselrode, saying that he was not authorized to enter into discussions, but that there was no suspicion unconditionally. Before the 16th, he and the Austrian Embassy must leave St. Petersburg. [illegible] this Nesselrode communicated direct to Prince Gortschakoff at Vienna, who had a talk with Count Buol, who produced a memorandum expressing the general explanations of Russia to negotiate, but [illegible] alterations.

Count Buol received the document, but as it did not contain an unconditional acceptance, Austria could not reply without a conference with France and England. The Russian Ministers of these Powers accordingly [illegible] London and Paris for instructions, and the reply was received that the Western Powers had no motive to change their decision already carefully considered, and further that if Russia did not accept by the 18th, Count Esterhazy and the Austrian legation would leave and Austria would immediately seek to obtain the desired co-operation of other powers. The Russian Embassy had been ordered to leave Vienna during the week and extreme apprehension existed at Vienna, but on the 16 the apprehension subsided by the announcement that Russia agrees to negotiate on the terms proposed.

From the Crimea there is no important intelligence.

The President's Message is generally regarded favorable in England. Even the attitude assumed with regard to Central America is not objected to. Nobody seems to apprehend serious difficulty between the two countries.

The bullion in the Bank of England has increased $119,000.

Breadstuffs had considerably declined.—Wheat had declined, and was worth 42s. per 196 lbs. White Corn was lower, and Mixed was worth 40s. 480 lbs.

Pork, Beef and Bacon were quiet and lower. Lard was quoted at 67s. per cwt. Sugars had advanced. Naval Stores had declined. Rosin was worth 65s. 6d per cwt. Spirits of Turpentine commanded [illegible] per cwt.

Five Winters among the New York Poor.

"Five Winters—dark and dreary Winters—have we spent upon the Five Points, surrounded by want and suffering, by beggary, shame and crime. The fact of living here is not in itself so hard as the lack of means to supply the wants of the worthy poor, and to afford shelter and protection to the houseless. We have been compelled by our relation to this people, to witness little bare feet treading the icy pavements, until the nails have been frozen from their toes; to their skeleton fingers reached out to us, and hear their cry for bread, when we had no bread to give; we have been compelled to leave the widow with her new born babe upon her bosom, friendless and shelterless upon the street, because we had no shelter for her; to see boys ripen into criminal manhood, and girls into wanton womanhood; we have been compelled to hear hundreds of unfortunate beg in vain, even in the name of our Saviour, for an opportunity to reform; and when denied, see them give up in despair, and afterward die hopeless; and all for want of a little of that of which thousands are so prodigal. This is hard."

The above is from a recent address to the New York public by the Rev. L. M. Pease, the benevolent head of the Five Points Mission establishment. New York can now rival the great cities of the old World in its startling contrasts of extreme penury and great wealth—gaunt, hunger and overfed luxury—fashion and famine—rags and ruffles—vice and virtue—all crowding her avenues in juxtaposition, hideous and revolting until the eye gets accustomed and the heart callous to the spectacle. No candid man, familiar with the facts, can doubt for a moment that a greater amount of human misery is packed up within her twelve or fourteen miles square than could be found in the whole slaveholding section. But N. York is no worse than any other city of its size in the world—it is probably better. Her miseries only illustrate one inherent vice of what is called free society, which, like every other form of social organization, has its peculiar defects. It has no unity—its interests are, in fact, antagonistic. Capital is not forced to promote far labor, but on the contrary, uses its power and seeks its own advantage in obtaining labor as cheaply, and doing with as little of it as possible. It employs and discharges without a moment's reference to the employed or discharged. A thousand of dead poor are held of no account except as there may be taxation for funeral expenses. They are deemed of no value and no loss. If such represented a thousand dollars of value to somebody not a word would be necessary to keep him from starvation and freezing. If Northern reformers could get over the barrier of mere names and look at things, they would see, in the lakes of suffering which come from both sections, not so much the results of any social system as the abuse of it.

Will be paid for the apprehension and delivery to me of my two slaves, Scip or Scipeo and his wife Delia, which slaves left my premises on the 3rd Sabbath in May last.

Scip is forty five years old, about six feet high some of his front teeth out, eyes small and dark skin. Delia is about forty years old, black skin, some of her front teeth in gone and small in size. They were brought to this State about two years since, by one Godbold, from Marion District, S. C. They may have made their way back to that place. The above reward will be paid for them delivered to me, or lodged in any jail out of the State, so I get them.
