Edgefield Advertiser

THOS. J. ADAMS, - - - - - EDITOR

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15, 1896.

The assembled wisdom of the commonwealth is again in session. We allude of course to the Lagislature.

Jno. P. Bones, cotton factor of Augusta, made an assignment last week. Mr. Bones was well known in Edgefield county.

The Saluda county people are receiving bids of sites for a Court House. These bids must all be in by February 1st, prox.

Cotton seems to be holding its own, neither going up or down. A new factor will soon be in the market in the question of acreage.

Gov. Evans has offered a reward of fifty dollars for the capture and conviction of the party or parties burning Mr. J. M. Swearingen's gin house.

A Confederate Veterans Camp was organized at Johnston on Monday by Col. Geo. B. Lake to be known as the McHenry Camp. This name was in honor of private McHenry of the 1st South Carolina Regiment of Volunteers, and is the only Camp in the world named for a private.

"The months may speed as they will. The days may come and go like lighting flashes. Age may creep on apace and youth hasten to middle life. November blasts chill and December snows cover the sod like a shroud. It matters little. There will be other years in other climes, and the work we leave unfinished will be brought to completion when the grass has grown on our graves."

EDGEFIELD'S PRIZE PIG.

News and Courier.

State of South Carolina, County of Edgefield: Personally appeared before me D. H. F. Manson and being duly sworn, swears that the pig he is running for prize News and Courier offered for 1895, was born on the 18th day of February. 1895, making it two days old at this, the 20th day of February, 1895.

Trenton, S. C., Dec. 17, '95.

To the Editor of the News and Courier: I will give an accurate statement of the kind and amount of feed, and method of preparing the same and cost of feeding my prize pig during the contest.

The kind of feed was corn meal altogether, and the amount of same was twenty bushels. The cost, as I have not kept well posted on the market price of corn, I will say the cost is about $12.

The meal was prepared with slop and milk from the kitchen, and fed regularly three times per day.

In addition to this I will give my idea of hog-raising. I think the majority of farmers keep more hogs than they can well feed. In my experience I have found that one hog well fed and attended to will give more profit than several would if neglected and poorly fed. So if I have more than I can feed I sell them off to such a number that I can properly attend to. Since adopting this plan some seven years ago I have not bought one pound of meat or lard, and have had both to sell every year.

D. H. F. Manson.

P. S—The breed of my prize pig is a mixed breed of Berkshire and common stock. D. H. F. M.

State of South Carolina, County of Edgefield: Personally appeared before me D. H. F. Manson and being duly sworn, swears that the above statement is correct to the best of his belief and knowledge, and that the said pig is only 10 months old.

CORRESPONDENCE

Xantippe Tells of Beautiful Augusta.

Happy New Year! Dear ADVERTISER.

I am writing to you this, the first day of the New Year, 1896, and I wish old Edgefield happiness and prosperity all the year through, granting you some clouds and rainy days, which we may all expect while we live in this transitory world of ours. I shall quote just here a verse from Lucile, and it is not the first time I have fitted in Owen Meredith's genius to my own case. These lines seem to suit me sometimes.

"With irresolute finger, I've knocked at each one
Of the doorways of life and abided in none.
My course by each star that would cross it, is set,
And whatever I do I am sure to regret."

However I am determined to build up success on failure.

I spent a quiet, but very pleasant Christmas with friends, and the latter part of the holidays finds me on the Sand Hills, a beautiful suburb of Augusta. It is a village of handsome-private residences, and spacious grounds belonging to refined and wealthy families. This place is called Summerville, and a line of street cars run through it from early in the morning till twelve in the evening. These cars take you directly to Broad street in about 25 minutes. Elegant phætons close carriages and those naughty looking traps which seat two in front and two perched up in the rear, drive along these aristocratic thoroughfares, and pass out to the grand promenade on Broad. Ladies, gentleman, and children in high dress, are seated in these bewitching traps, driver in beaver hat, yellow or white gloves, and brass buttoned suits. Blooded horses and glittering horses make up the picture.

In passing along the drive, there is the Schutzen Platz where the German shooting matches come off, and where Hans resorts on the Sabbath, to drink lager, and smoke his pipe. You also pass the famous Bon-Air which looks like a castle with turret and casement. This hotel accommodates several hundred guests; it was packed last season, and an addition of one hundred rooms was made. A large park surrounds it of glade and forest trees, huge pines, oaks magnolias, and mock oranges, with intervals of grassy glade and huge boulders of granite rock. The hotel has every modern improvement and rivals, perhaps surpasses, the Highland Park at Aiken. It belongs to a stock company, and I suppose is very renumerative. I should suppose a poor hacking Northerner with only one inch of lungs would arise from his death-bed in this delightful place.

I am awakened every morning by the booming of the cannon at the Arsenal. This garrison is a few steps away. I shall investigate it soon. In a stone's throw is a memorial church, built of bricks, with gothic windows. I see gleaming through the mock orange hedge the white tombs of the cemetery, where I suppose the Summerville people are buried.

Not long since with three bright young girls, Pauline, Stella, and Maggie, I went up the Lakeview car line. Reaching Lake Olmstead, we descended, and going along a country road bordered by pine woods, for about a mile and a half, we passed up a broad avenue to Berckman's and saw fields of all varieties of rose bushes, with negroes puning cutting, and tying in bundles; smoothly kept walks with hedges of mock orange, cedar, magnolias, fountains and miniature lakes, a residence, cottage style with stone colored walls, surrounded by verandas, also a building with office printed over the door. We also saw Mr. Berckmans and his son, who kindly invited us to go through the long line of greenhouses, which were a bewilderment of ferns, palms, smilax, exotics in full blow. We closed each door after us to keep out the biting air. No one accompanied us, but over each was a placard, "please don't touch the plants, so being trusted alone and put on our honor, we did not pilfer, though I could have easily slipped a large bouquet. This famous florrist sends fruit and flower cuttings to all parts of the United States, and even to Australia.

We have attended services at the first Presbyterian church, once to hear a Japanese preach, which was quite amusing as well as interesting. Another time to hear Moody who preached to a crowded house. He is just an earnest good preacher and I enjoyed listening to him. Dr. Plunkett is pastor of this church, and is much beloved. It is one of the largest and handsomest churches in the city, and the music is beautiful. Mrs. Harrison's voice is especially fine in solo. I never saw so fine an organ before.

I went into White's, Pendleton's and Madame Eidlebluts to see Christmas things, which were perpectly lovely, but alas! no money to buy with. I spent a charming night with a friend in North Augusta, accompanied by pretty and youthful Elise. We got off the car at the iron bridge built by Major Kirkland. It is a strong and ornamental structure and shows the planning of a mechanical brain. Our friend's home is perched on a hill which is almost a mountain, and tired us a good deal before we reached the house. The Savannah river, the Sibley Mills the Lombard Iron works, and the length of upper Broad are spread before me. We spent a delight-
We stood on the piazza
Myriads of lights
the fog on the river
Sibley Mills and , as we looked down fr e on the cliffs.

The Augusta people are enterprising, and strive to beautify their fair city.

I am staying now in a family of wealth and great social prominence; and helping to care for two beautiful and gifted little boys. I remember with pleasure at the hospital Drs. Alen, Doughty, Malone, Turner, Wahl, Mathews, and Neely who were fine physicians, and courteous gentlemen. I can recall, after a hard days work was ended, and I would be resting my blistered feet, the social gatherings of the training school. A silhouette picture rises before me. Mary Baker as she tosses off the skirt dance, and gives the final kick, Mrs. Saunders with her sunny smile, the wicked Miss Stephens, the witty Miss Pope, Miss Calmire, Miss Ransom, Miss Walton, Miss Cust of Chicago all up to date trained nurses, Miss McKnight, and pretty gentle Miss Seago. Last but by no means least Mrs. Thomas, handsome, dignified, from whom I received much kindness.

I shan't forget my Edgefield friends who interested themselves in me, Drs. Hill and Butler, Dr. Gwaltney and my dear friend Willie.

I am content at present with Alfred and Henry the two little Virginians, and I close with the Christmas legend solemn and sweet. "Peace on earth, good will to men."

XANTIPPE.

Mine Creek Dots.

Mr. Ames Watson, who left this neighborhood for Texas about a year ago, with the anticipation of accumulating a fortune in that State has recently landed back on the soil of old South Carolina.

We don't know how Pedagogue is getting along with his Saluda Sentinel. We hardly ever read it. We noticed sometime ago where Semphronicus said he (Pedagogue) had been leaving off some first-class editorials. Well Sem. you know he "hast" to keep plenty of room for his egotism.

Capt. E. B. Forrest says he is going to try to have the poor-house of Saluda County built on his place. He says one poor-house by its self is lonesome.

We hear of several cases of the measles being in our community at present, but we don't think there is any body seriously ill with them.

Mr. C. L. Temples says he has been for some time endeavoring to decide whether it would pay him to spend time and money getting a collegiate education or not. He says lots of those graduates will have to fill humble positions yet. We don't know what advice to give you on this Charlie, but we don't think the education would be any disadvantage to you.

We are now a resident of Saluda county, but we would miss the old ADVERTISER should it not continue to come to our home.

We hope the good people of Saluda county will pull together, and all be willing for the Court House to be located as near the geografical center of the county as possible. The Court House should be located at the closest suitable place to the center of Saluda County. No patriotic citizen could object to that. P. J.

Love Me Before I Die.

Geo. D. Prentice, the brilliant journalist, wrote many things that will stand the test of time, but nothing worthy of a higher place than these touching words:

"Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness, speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them. The kind things you mean to say when they are gone say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would bring them out of my weary and troubled hours and open them that I may be refreshed and cheered by them while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower, a funeral without an eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy. Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Post mortem kindness does not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way."

Superior To All Sarsaparillas.

Down in Georgia, over fifty years ago, a marvelous medicine was discovered. It was what is now known as P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy), and its fame and reputation has been growing with the years.

For Rheumatism, Blood Poisoning, Pain in the side, wrists, shoulders, back and joints, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Scrofula, and all Blood and Skin Diseases, it has never been equalled.

Pain is subjugated, Health Renewed, Appetite restored and sleepless nights banished by its wonderful influence.

P. P. P. is a wonderful tonic and strengthener. Weak women should always take P. P. P. It builds them up. It has the universal commendation of medical men throughout the country, because we publish the formula on every bottle, and one trial will convince the most skeptical that it is a genuine health restorer.

Read The Truth And Be Convinced.

A Wonderful Cure.

I was a martyr to muscular rheumatism for thirty years; tried all medicines and doctors with no permanent relief. I was advised to take P. P. P., and before I had finished two bottles my pain subsided so I was able to work. I feel better than I have for years, and am confident of a complete recovery.

J. S. DUPRISS, Newnanville, Fla.

Testimony from the Mayor.

I suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years, tried all the so-called specifics, but to no purpose. My grandson got me a bottle of P. P. P., and I feel like a new man.

W. H. WILDER, Mayor of Albany.

From Two Well-known Physicians.

We are having a big sale for your P. P. P., and we prescribe it in a greatmany cases, and find it an excellent thing. We handle about one dozen bottles a week.

Drs. J. M. & M. T. RICHARDSON, Piedmont, S. C.

Hot Springs Surpassed.

A bottle of P. P. P., has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs, Ark.

JAMES M. NEWTON, Aberdeen, Brown Co., O.

Pimples, Sores and Eruptions Cured.

I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular medicine for skin diseases known as P. P. P. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. After taking three bottles in accordance with directions, I am entirely cured.

Capt. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Savannah, Ga. of Johnston & Co.

The above letters are taken from many received by us. P. P. P., (Lippman's Great Remedy,) is a medicine whose virtues are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

P. P. P. begins its work by purifying the blood, which is the source of all life, and does not cease until a perfect and entire cure is effected.

The mortifying eruptions that disfigure the complexion, the tired feeling that prevents thorough accomplishments of the daily tasks, sleepless nights, loss of appetite, irritability of disposition, all mean a derangement of the system consequent from impure blood, which can and will be cured by P. P. P.

P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), is conceded by physicians and the people to be the Greatest Blood Purifier of the Age. It positively and permanently cures. For sale by all druggists or direct from us; price $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.
