January 15 to 24.

An important event in the retail trade of Manning will be the big White Goods Sale and Clearance Sale of all Winter Goods which will open on next MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 15 and will last for ten days.

Just go and watch the swarm of women at Jenkinson's store while his great white goods sale is going on. It looks as if these precious creatures really feel as they must have those pretty goods that are marked down. Jenkinson can employ additional force to handle his trade, and the people will not have to wait for their turns. What is doing all of this? Answer: A complete stock of good values at prices which appeal to reason, and all of this well advertised.

Married by Rev. J. O. Gough, in the Baptist church, last Sunday evening, in the presence of a large congregation, Mr. W. H. Woodward of Columbia, and Miss Mollie Mims, a daughter of Mr. T. Martin Mims. Mr. J. P. Wilson, and Miss Lamb Mims, a sister of the bride, were the attendants. The bride has been living in Columbia with a married sister. She is a very sweet in the least to hear of his getting very full.

We learn that Senator Davis is opposed to making provisions for the issue of bonds for court house purposes, and it was very gratifying to us, but we expected as much, as he is a business man.

Solicitor Wilson returned to Columbia last Monday night to his post in the engrossing department.

Mr. DesChamps has introduced another bill to provide registers for the public schools of this State. We were always under the impression that such was the law now, if not in words, in that portion of the Superintendent's duties which imply the furnishing of registers for the public schools. However, not having seen the text of Mr. DesChamp's bill, we are not in position to discuss it, and we hope our friend will kindly furnish THE TIMES with bills, calendars, and journals as he did

, so far as we from the daily rts of the proceedings at Columbia, are anything but boisterous. Representative DesChamps introduced a bill look prevention of graft in the di and from past observation he well have introduced a bill to mankind from breathing. W our well meaning representativ as well realize that this is not miracles.

Representative Bradham told us he made a speech advocating a bill requiring sheriffs to keep blood hounds, and that if he had been provided with blood hounds when he was sheriff the notorious Bill Dixon would not have escaped. But then, if the dog—the blood hounds are provided, will that always insure sheriff's doing their duty? We doubt it.

Representative Green is kept very busy, we imagine, tho' we have heard nothing from him. He is a member of the dispensary committee, and this committee has been overwhelmed with a whole lot of bills: some to wipe out the sale of liquor entirely; some to have county control, others for license, and still others, and these with the approval of the powers that be, ostensibly, "to tighten up the screws of the dispensary," but in reality to give the grafters a longer lease of power. Our friend Green has his hands full, and he will have so much liquor argument to contact with, that it will not surprise us

No Bonds for Jones Eithe.

Editor The Manning Times:

In the issue of the 10th inst., you have an editorial in regard to the meeting of the legislative delegation of Clarendon, and their purpose for meeting.

We have read carefully your editorial in reference to the bonding of the county for the building of a new court house, and without hesitation whatever in the matter, we endorse your every utterance in regard to the same.

The present court house is good enough, and "the people of Clarendon can very well do with the present court house until they see where they are going to land with the change in the property assessment."

The tax payers of Clarendon are not as yet sufficiently flushed with riches at this time to back consent to the building of a county court house costing only thirty thousand dollars as has been suggested.

The present so called temple of justice is sufficiently good and ornamental to protect the rich and influential and to punish and oppress the poor and friendless.
