GENERAL ELECTION DRAWS INTEREST,

nominees to be legally complete.

Democratic nominees for the general assembly and for county officers apparently will have no opposition except in Georgetown county. There, state Representative James B. Morrison is running independently against J. Shepherd Thompson, the primary victor for the county's state senate seat, and two other independents are opposing the two Democratic house nominees.

Besides the presidential and other election contests, voters will give their verdict November 2 on two proposed state-constitutional amendments of considerable significance. One of these would repeal the long-time constitutional ban against divorce and permit it on grounds of adultery, desertion, physical cruelty and habitual drunkenness.

The other would take away from the governor's office its almost unlimited clemency powers. A governor would be permitted only to reprieve or commute death sentences.

If the proposals are approved by a majority vote, they will have to be ratified by the next general assembly before becoming effective.

In addition to the two statewide constitutional amendments, there will be 24 proposed amendments of local nature on the ballot.

Registration certificates issued during the 1947-48 registration period also in the new 1948-49 period will be good for this general election.

Estimates place total registration at from 250,000 to 300,000. These same estimates are far from 150,000 to 200,000 votes.

Negroes, who voted for the first time this year in democratic primaries, are reported to have registered in larger numbers than ever before with the possible exception of the reconstruction period.

State negro leaders estimate that about 60,000 are eligible to vote November 2. Since most of them are pro-Truman, their votes might have a marked bearing on the outcome of the election.

Poll tax receipts in addition to registration certificates are required for male voters between 21 and 60 years old. Males older than 60, and women, are not required to have receipts because they are exempt from the poll tax.

Polls in the state's 1,396 general election precincts will open at 8 a. m. and close at 4 p. m., except in Charleston and Columbia, where they will remain open until 6 p. m.
