CAMDEN, S. C., FEB. 5TH, 1892.

COMMENTS AND CULLINGS.

CHILE has acceded to all the demands of the United States, and there will be no war.

CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS are getting plentiful in every district except this. It is rumored however that it will not be many moons before the congressional race will liven up here as well.

THE IDEA of holding a primary for the nomination of Mayor and Aldermen seems to be meeting with favor. The time is only two months off, and it is time to be acting. We will gladly publish in these columns suggestions from the citizens.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

It seems that our member of the National Executive Committee has a double, recognized by his fellow members. In the daily journals which appeared on January 22nd the member from South Carolina, Col. John C. Haskell, was published as being in attendance upon the meeting being held in Washington.

But it seems that he was not present, and much to one's surprise delegated his valuable prerogatives into the hands of that half, or two-third we might say, Alliance man, Hon. Geo. Johnstone. But Mr. Johnstone's identity was lost in the public print in that of Mr. Haskell. Will either that strictest of straight-laced straight-outs, Jekyll Haskell or that half and half hay-seeder Mr. Johnstone Hyde, explain how their identities have thus become mingled? Who mixed the babies up? R. S. V. P.

Organize.

It is of first importance to the Democratic party of this state that it keep carefully and thoroughly organized. A contest is before us this year, both on state and national issues. It has been the custom so long to neglect attendance upon club meetings that not even under the excitement of the last state campaign did we get a good organization.

Some vital questions are to be faced. Our factions must come together, or seperate permanently. It has been the recognized foundation of the party that however distasteful, the decision of the regular authorities must be accepted. It remains this year to thoroughly test the strength of this principle.

Those who undertook to act independently in the last election have a chance under the new rules to return to the ranks if they choose. If they do not, it is safe to say that they will remain in a hopeless minority unless they see fit to camp with the Republicans. But disloyalty to the Democracy has not been popular hitherto, nor is it likely to be.

It is well understood that there is an element of the party who, in the heat of the last campaign, became desperate. They seemed ready to go to extremes regardless of consequences. If they remain still so disposed, the fight is on, and a bitter and relentless struggle, such as has always resulted with us from an Independent movement, will ensue. Every reasonable precaution ought to be used against such an issue.

The best precaution that could possibly be adopted would be an early and general organization of the loyal members of the party. A good showing made by the clubs would discourage and demonstrate how useless resistance to the Democratic party organization would be. Therefore it is to be hoped that the various clubs will begin to work up their rolls, get together and renew their pledges to the party.

Let us stand by the old Democratic ship whether we like the officers or not. Those who are not ready to betray it, will still give it their undivided support.

A great deal of repentance now days is done in sackcloth and ashes of roses instead of sackcloth and ashes.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Opinions and Suggestions of the State Press.

[From the Abbeville Press and Banner.]

Some of the newspapers, and various writers for the press, have already spoken of a successor for Governor Tillman at the next ensuing election.

As a set off to that proposition it has been suggested to us by a prominent citizen, that such talk at the present time is impolitic and detrimental to the public peace and good will.

It has been the rule since 1876 to give each Governor a second term, and there is no good reason why the rule should be an exception this year.

Whether Governor Tillman has settled the public demand or not, there certainly will be found many voters who prefer to stick to the old rule.

At the end of two years Governor Tillman will retire as a matter of course, and the race for Governor will be a free and open one, for all who choose to enter.

But the mere fact any candidate is brought out to defeat another who is entitled to the place, by custom, will be so handicapped that defeat will be certain.

At the end of Governor Tillman's second term a new man will be brought forward as a matter of course, who will then be embarrassed by none of the disadvantages to which he would be subjected if brought out at this time to defeat anybody. The "anybody to defeat Grant" was defeated, and "anybody to defeat Tillman" will most likely meet the same fate.

There is no use kicking up a muss. Let us live in peace. While this newspaper is not for Tillman, it is for peace and fairness. Tillman, by all the rules which have governed us in the past, is entitled to a re-election. He has committed no grievous sin against the body politic, for which he should suffer or for which his office should be taken away from him.

The proposition to bring out a man to defeat him seems evidence of a desire to do an unusual thing, and when the great public heart is called upon to aid personal schemes to do a wrong, it seldom happens.

By the time Governor Tillman has served his four years even his blindest supporters at present will then be ready for a change.

The man who comes out "to defeat Tillman" will very likely fail, and the foolish attempt to divide our people may do irreparable wrong. We don't want Tillmanism. We don't want Haskellism. We want Democracy, pure and simple.

James L. Orr for Governor.

[From the Florence Times.]

The next candidate for governor of South Carolina by the democratic party must be a man who has not figured in the bitter strifes of the past year, in short he must be a man who can cause the two wings of the party to flop together.

We suggest the name of James L. Orr, of Greenville, a man eminently qualified in every way for the office.

Mr. Orr has so the best of our knowledge tended to his business strictly, told the truth and paid his debts, voted when called upon, served the democratic party when his services were necessary, and refused to take any part in an independent movement.

He is able man, a wise man and a first man, a gentleman and a conservative politician. He is fully able to heal the breach between the two factions of our people, and he is about the only one we know of who is in exactly the position to do it.

We should labor for but one single object in state politics, and that is to heal the breach. Anything that will do this we will gladly support, from whatever source. We believe that J. L. Orr, of Greenville, can do the most towards this end, he is neither "Tillmanite" nor "anti," neither demagogue nor bourbon.

Senator Donaldson "Suggested."

[From the Lancaster Ledger.]

The Bamberg Herald asks the question, "Does there exist in South Carolina today a man who can command the respect and confidence of the Tillman and Anti-Tillman elements? Is not M. L. Donaldson that man? He is fitted in every respect for the Governorship of South Carolina. He is not a partisan, is intelligent, has a clean record, is a pure man, is a thorough Christian gentleman, has the respect of all the elements, will command the support of both factions and is a prominent Alliance man. For the sake of peace, for the good of the State, for the honor of our Democracy, let us lay aside this war paint and rally around Donaldson and present to the world a united and harmonious people.

Why not Try Earle Again?

[From the Orangeburg Enterprise and Alliance Monitor.]

There are numerous nominations and suggestions of some one to succeed Governor Tillman. The Enterprise thinks that no better man could be brought forward to defeat Tillman than Gen. Joseph H. Earle. No man ever defended pure Democracy with more ability or unselfish devotion than Gen. Earle did in 1890, and none showed more loyalty than did he when the majority declared against him.

Anybody to Beat Tillman.

[From the Cheraw Reporter.]

Some of the papers are opposing the idea of running any one for Governor to beat Tillman this year because the precedent of two terms for every one has been established. We would like to say to such papers that the idea of these reform times is away with precedent—"these are record breaking times and novel proceeding are in order and it's all right so long as it is right." If any good man can be found who is able to harmonize the two factions and make a strong fight against Tillman we say by all means let him be run for the office. The Anties last year did not have the opportunity to try the primary plan on State officers but they can see how it works this year.

A great many men who were whipped into line last year by the dominant element will vote as they please when it comes to a primary, and you are going to see, we think, that the fund is not so interested with Tillmanites this year as it was two years ago.

Senator Bigham would Take It.

[From the Lancaster Ledger.]

Senator Bigham of Florence is mentioned by the Chesterfield correspondent as a candidate for Governor. He says that Governor Tillman and Legislature have both failed to do their duty and redeem their pledges. Senator Bigham and Gov. Tillman used to sing the same song. If they lock horns now won't we have a racy campaign?

Tillman Can't be Beat.

[From the Carolina Spartan.]

It will be impossible to beat Governor Tillman this year. All the party machinery is in the hands of his friends. All the party machinery was in the hands of his foes two years ago, but he won. Party machinery is regulated by but can not regulate public sentiment. If the right man comes to the front as candidate for governor he will give the present incumbent a likely old thrashing.

About the Size of It.

[From the Manning Times.]

We see it continually stated that the people all over the State will not again support Tillman, but are now as bitterly opposed to him as they were before enthusiastic for him. Maybe so, but in Clarendon Tillman would to-day receive equally as great support as he did two years ago, and we presume the same conditions prevail in all other counties. Revolutions never go backwards. The people are not by any means fully satisfied with the reforms wrought, but they are perfectly willing to give another two years' trial, and then if Tillman and the other standard bearers prove unequal to the task of reform, others will be sought out to take their places.

POLITICS.

The words "Reform" "Demagogue" are often used in newspapers as well as in conversation. The Alliance is often admonished by its pretended friends to steer clear of Politics, Reformers and Demagogues. Therefore we should know the meaning of these words, that we may fully understand what we are cautioned to avoid. According to Webster politics means: "The science of government; that part of ethics which consists in the regulation and government of a Nation or State, for the preservation of its safety, peace, and prosperity." In our "declaration of principles" we resolve, first: To labor for the education of the agricultural classes in the science of economical government in a strictly non-partisan spirit." Is that not politics according to Webster? It is not partyism, but it is certainly pure politics. Hence these advisers are opposed to the avowed principles of the Alliance, and politely advise its members to violate the sacred obligation that they took voluntarily when they were initiated into the order. Of course the purpose of these enemies of the Alliance is to destroy it. They pretend friendship to the order, but seek to divide it by denouncing the advocates of its principles as demagogues, and counselling its members not to heed their teachings.

What is the meaning of the word demagogue? Webster says it means: A leader of the people; an orator who pleases the populace, and influences them to adhere to him. 2. Any leader of the populace, any factious man who has great influence with the great bulk of people in a city or community." Its first meaning is not odious but when used with such descriptive epithets as "blatant" it is intended to apply in an offensive sense as described in the second meaning given by Webster as above quoted. It is generally admitted that when arguments fail in a discussion, epithets and personal abuse are used to supply their place.

The meaning of the word "Reform" is: "To change from worse to better; to bring back to a former good state, or to bring from a bad to a good state. 2, To change from bad to good; to remove that which is bad or corrupt," &c. Surely there is nothing wrong in this. Yet the history of the world shows every effort to bring back from a bad to a former good state, or "to remove that which is bad and corrupt," has always been resisted by those who were responsible for the bad state, and who were being benefitted by its continuance. This class is endeavoring to divide and defeat the Alliance. The reformers have endorsed the legislative demands of our order, 4,000,000 wage workers, or wealth producers join in the demand for legislative reform.

Beware of those who oppose this just demands.

JAMES H. MAGUIRE.

Refusal to Abate the Assessment of the Three C's Railroad.

The Three C's Railroad authorities recently petitioned the Comptroller General to state the assessment for taxation against that corporation, but the State official has decided not to grant the request. In relation to this matter the Comptroller General says:

"A few days ago I received a petition from the Three C's railroad asking that its assessment for taxation be reduced from $10,000 to $7,000 per mile. I disapproved the petition for the following reasons:

"When the attorneys for the road appeared before the State railroad board of equalization, last summer, they agreed with the Comptroller General that the law required the roads to return for taxation their cost of construction, rights of way and equipment. The attorney submitted a statement from Mr. De Caradeuc, submitting that a similar road could be constructed and equipped for about $10,000 per mile, but Col. R. A. Johnson, who was manager of the road when it was built, has testified upon oath that the actual cost of the road from Camden to the North Carolina line was $23,000 per mile.

"Now, if the road could be reproduced for $10,000 per mile, and in view of the fact that other property is not assessed at its full valuation, it would be proper to reduce assessment to $7,500, as per the statement of Mr. De Caradeuc, but if, as Manager R. A. Johnson says, it cost $23,000 per mile, then an assessment of $10,000 per mile is not enough."

Terms of the Compromise.

The following are the terms of the compromise agreed upon last week between the city council and property owners.

"For the purpose of compromising and settling all litigation in reference to the laying of the flagstone pavements on Broad street in the city of Camden, and for having the work of laying said pavements done as originally designed by Council, it is hereby mutually covenanted and agreed between the undersigned that all suits and litigation of every character in reference to the laying of the said pavements shall be, and the same are hereby discontinued and withdrawn; and

I. That the supreme court of the State of South Carolina, and the justices thereof, be requested by the counsel of both sides to allow the discontinuance of all litigation in this case and in the former case of Wm. Clyburn et al. vs. Jno. W. Corbett et al., and that the said counsel sign consent orders dismissing said litigation, and all injunctions and restraining orders operating thereto and the counsel of parties, plaintiffs and defendants, in both suits, shall forthwith prepare and send to the supreme court proper consent orders to effect this end.

II. But in the event that the supreme court of South Carolina shall have filed its opinion in the case of Wm. Clyburn et al. vs. Jno. W. Corbett et al. involving the validity of a loan of J. F. Smith to the city of Camden, and if said opinion shall be adverse to the action of the city council, the plaintiffs herein, for themselves, and for all others similarly interested, covenant, agree and bind themselves to take no advantage of said opinion, but to recognize as valid and binding the obligation given by the city council to J. F. Smith, and to carry out in good faith the action of council, and to bring about the ratification of the same by a citizens' meeting, subsequently, if the necessity shall arise.

III. These undersigned proceed forthwith to lay the pavements on Broad street, in the front, and with the material and in the manner as originally contemplated by said council, and that the expense of laying said pavements shall be paid, one half by the owner or owners of a lot or lots, in front of which said pavement shall be laid, and the other half of said expenses shall be paid by the council out of general municipal taxation; and it is further understood and agreed that one half of the amount to be paid by the owner or owners of a lot or lots, shall be paid on the completion of the said work; the other half of said sum shall be paid within twelve months, the owner or owners of said lot or lots giving his or her note for said deferred payment with interest at seven (7) per cent. per annum; provided however that any or all owners of such lot or lots may have the privilege of paying said cash on the completion of the said work.

IV. It is hereby agreed and understood on the part of the city council, that the city of Camden shall pay to M. M. Baum the expenses incurred by the plaintiffs since the 24th day of December, 1891, per date of receipt by Judge Aldrich, the amount of such expenses not to exceed the sum of three hundred and seventy-five ($375.00) dollars, an itemized account of same to be furnished the city council, approved by the following committee: H. G. Carrison, J. R. Goodale, H. Parrott, A. D. Kennedy and Wm. Clyburn."

The above terms of agreement were duly signed by the plaintiffs and defendants.

Commissioner Boykin Heard From.

The following from the Wateree Messenger doesn't throw any more light on the matter, but substantiates the statements made by Mr Clarke in refrence to the clerkship of the Board of County Commissioners. The card referred to is the same that appeared in THE CHRONICLE on Jan. 22nd.

GREATEST CLOTHING SALE
Ever Attempted by Any House in the City or State.

OWING TO THE DEPRESSION of the money market and the low price of cotton, I have decided to close out my stock regardless of cost. This is earlier than any house has ever attempted such sales. The usual time is February.

Counter No. 1 contains 250 Suits that sold at $10.50 to $15 will now be sold at $7.50 cash for your choice. This is the BEST OFFER EVER MADE IN THIS CITY by any house. No odds and ends, but a good run of sizes. This is your opportunity to invest if you want a bargain.

Counters 2 and 3 contain 500 Suits in Sacks and Cutaways formerly sold from $15 to 25.00. Now you can have your choice for 10.00 cash. These counters contain values that have never been offered by any one. No trouble to find your size in these tailor-made garments when you have such assortments to select from. I want the money and room, so this stock must be sold, and if you are judges of bargains you will not delay, but come and help move these goods.

In addition to the above I have placed 250 pairs of Pants on a counter. This line formerly sold at $5 and 6.00, now take your choice at 3.50. This is the best bargain ever offered in pants.

Remember this line of goods is not old stock, but new stock this fall, and will be sold for cash. No goods of this sale are allowed on approbation.
