NOTICE TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

The maps and globes which the State Board of Education has approved and recommended to the schools of South Carolina are published by Rand, McNally & Company, and this company has notified me that Dr. Geo. S. V. Howard is their agent, for whose responsibility they vouch. I write this letter to call your attention to the conditions placed upon the adoption of these maps and globes.

1. No sale is to be made except to a board with the members all present at the time in full meeting. This is to avoid the possibility of rascalities like the Evans chart swindle in 1888. Moreover, in strict law, nothing can be done by a board of trustees except in board meeting, and in practice there is no other safe way of doing the business of the board.

2. No purchase is to be made unless you have the money to pay for it. Moreover, you are advised not to buy anything expensive, and to consult first with your teachers, so as to make sure that the apparatus is needed and will be used to advantage in the school.

The contract of the State Board is that whatever globes and maps are bought until July 1, 1906 shall be bought from this company which is reputable and has given the State a bond for a thousand dollars, obligating itself to a fine of $25.00 for each and every violation of its agreement.

A good globe in a school is very useful in every school, if the teacher will use it properly, and some large maps ought to be owned by a school when possible.

A NICE MEETING.

The Teachers' Association met on Saturday at 11:40 a. m. The attendance was very good indeed for the inclement weather, and the proceedings instructive and interesting. Prof. W. H. Jones took the subject of History, taking Thomas Jefferson as his text, and gave the teachers a very interesting account of this great Virginian.

Mrs. W. A. Walker, who was to discuss Primary Work, was not present, but sent in a very valuable paper, which was read by the Secretary, Prof. W. N Marchant. It is published in THE PEOPLE by request, and with pleasure.

Prof. R. K. Taylor of the Blackville School taught Algebra, and he taught it well. Prof. Taylor has a habit of doing things well.

State Superintendent of Education O. B. Martin will be present at the next meeting, on Saturday, February 21st.

It has been suggested by Ex-State Superintendent McMahan that a day be devoted to the study of the life and public services of Jefferson Davis, and future action will be taken in that direction.

Primary Work embraces a period of time beginning with a child's entering school and extending to the third year. This work is begun by learning the alphabet, then combining into syllables and words. In word building we begin with two letters, as A—and —N, the word AN is formed, by suffixing—D the word—AND is made by prefixing—H we have the word—HAND and so on.

We may take the simple words—RAT and—MAN, the first thing we teach in regard to the construction of these words is the value of the five constituent elements viz: R, T, M, N, A, and the name of these values.

From these known values, construct other words, such as, MAT, TAN, RAN, ANT, AM, AN, &c. We may practise the pupils in discovering and combining these values in printed words, also in writing the forms of letters and words after learning their sounds.

The child should be taught from the start to associate sounds with certain word forms. He should see literal spelling. As a combination of written words make a written word, so a combination of the sounds of letters make a spoken word. The association of a sound with a letter in such a way that either the letter recalls the sound or the sound the letter is the unit of this work. Show the child the relation between the spoken and written word. The following is a severe test, but developing and helpful. Let the pupils be shown some object, a hat for instance, let them name it, and watch the teacher as she writes on the board the word hat. The pupils attentively regard it until they think they know it. Let each one turn his back to the copy and write it from memory on the slate or tablet. The reproduction is from memory and not from sight.

This stimulates intense perception and aids the power of recollection. Wonderful results can be obtained by a patient trial of this form of word making from memory.

The teacher may arrange an exercise designed for the construction of words by adding a letter to certain terminations. This is arranging words according to their vocal analogies.

For instance take the termination—AT, place it at the head of a column under which arrange all the monosyllabic words which have that particular termination such as HAT, MAT, BAT &c, &c, many words can be found and the drill in phonics is made very definite and valuable.

The teacher must drill on new words, these should be selected at the beginning of the recitation and written on the board from which they should be thoroughly learned. These new words, constitute the advance of the pupil in word knowledge. The class should be handled in such a manner that all get the instruction imparted to each. In teaching reading care must be taken that each pupil in the class is keeping space with the member who is reading and is prepared to read aloud when called upon. Care must be taken to insure proper expression of the sentences. Let them be read over and over until the pupils can read as they would speak, that is in a conversational tone. Good expression in reading is of as much value as correct pronunciation of the words.

In conducting a Primary recitation it is the teacher's duty to have a bright, cheerful and pleasant manner; to be interested in the work; inspire the pupil with an enthusiastic desire to excel; to direct the pupil's attention to any special point by means of questions thereby seeing that every pupil has in mind the story and moral of the lesson. The pupils may be interested by allowing them to compare their own experiences with those of the characters in the text. There should be no halting or spelling of words.

In the second year children may be required to write a summary of the story of the lesson as they remember it, observing punctuation, capitals &c.

Mrs. W. A. Walker.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1808 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At Creech's Pharmacy.

WILLISTON NEWS.

No small pox in town. The scare is over, the supposed case about well, and no new ones developed. The attending physician is now satisfied that no new cases will appear, as every precaution has been taken to prevent it spreading, if it was small pox or if it was not. The supposed case was a small child about three months old.

Miss Mamie Dunagan, a most charming girl of St Louis, Mo., is visiting Mrs. Hummel.

Rev. W. M. Jones arrived at Baltimore on the 20th and went to the Hospital, where he is doing as well as could be expected.

All who attended the dance given by the young men in Young's Hall last week spent a pleasant evening.

Dr. A. N. Ray and family of Olar have moved into Mr. P. D. Wilson's house. Dr. Ray has charge of the drug store.

Rev. P. E. Monroe preached an eloquent sermon on Sunday evening 11th inst. to a large congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe spent the night with Mr. F. M. Young's family.

Miss Lancaster of Olar is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Ray.

Miss Edna Kearse visited her sister, Mrs. William Mallick, last week.

Miss Sue B. Boggs is now visiting friends here.

Capt. J. W. Janny was in town on Saturday on business

On Tuesday afternoon 20th inst. a Mr F. M. Young's two horse wagon, with three negro men riding in it, was crossing the track of the Seaboard Air Line Railway a few miles north of this place it was struck with terrible force by south bound passenger train No 57. Meddy Morris was killed outright, Mose Terry Jr. severely wounded and jumped in the nick of time and saved his life. One of the mules was killed, the other badly bruised up and the wagon was completely torn to pieces. Mose is doing as well as could be expected, considering his wounds.

The State.

Nothing can take the place of your county paper. For county news and for county pride it should go into every home. But for news from the capital of your State and every county in South Carolina, served fresh every day; for daily news from Washington, the United States and every other quarter of the globe, nothing can take the place in South Carolina homes of The Daily State.

These are momentous times in history. We are in the midst of wars, strikes and political struggles of great importance. The next session of our legislature, with the inauguration of a new governor, will have peculiar interest. Man or woman, to keep up with the times, must read the daily history of the world, and that is recorded in entertaining style in The State. The State will be sent daily for $8 a year, $4 for 6 months, $2 for 3 months, or just a fraction over the cost of a postage stamp for one letter a day! Cheap education and information for a family for 2 1-5 cents a day, isn't it?

But if you can't afford that, there is The Semi-Weekly State, issued Tuesdays and Fridays, each issue containing the most important news from all South Carolina and the world at large for that day and the preceding days since the last issue. And this may be obtained for $2 a year, $1 for 6 months, or just a fraction over a half cent a day!

No family in South Carolina is too poor to take this paper. No money can be spent to better advantage by a poor family. It is a necessity. Subscribe NOW—TODAY.
