ANNUAL CONCERT WAS GIVEN LAST EVENING

PUPILS SHOW MARKED PROGRESS AND MUCH APPLICATION

RENDERED CANTATA

Which Was Composed of Choruses and Solos of Unusual Beauty.

The annual concert at the Anderson College was given last evening and was unusually good. The program was opened by a double number by the college chorus composed of about fifty voices. The selection was well chosen and was sung with much spirit. The program closed with the beautiful cantata, "The Lady of Shalott," which was beautifully sung by the glee club. This cantata is divided into four parts, composed of choruses of unusual beauty, and a number of solos which were sung by Misses Elizabeth Lawrence and Louise Henry. The shading and contrasts throughout the cantata showed the hard work done by the students and the director, Miss Stranathan. Miss Julia Ledbetter played with good technique and a clean cut touch. The selection played by Miss Kathleen Burriss was well rendered. Miss Mollie Horton's style is rippling and lyric. Miss Emily Sullivan and Lafayette Johnson were not so well advanced as several others but they show marked ability and interpreted their selection well and with accuracy and spirit. Miss Marguerite Henry, who is the only Junior in piano, has temperament and plays brilliantly and with fine technique and dashing style. There were three vocal solo numbers. Miss Aclia Shultz sang a Beethoven song with a pleasing daintiness. The three Shumann songs sung by Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, were rendered with feeling and appreciation. She has a splendid voice and its quality is pretty. Miss Louise Henry sang a lyric number in true coloratura style. Her high notes were unusually well taken, her voice and interpretation are growing. All the pupils seem to have made much progress during this present year, and everyone taking part in the concert showed ability and diligent application. Misses Ledbetter, Horton and Marguerite Henry are pupils of Mr. Goode. Misses Burriss, Sullivan and Johnson are pupils of Mrs. Goode. Misses Lawrence, Shultz, and Louise Henry study under Miss Stranathan.

The program in detail follows: Part 1. Arne—Under the Greenwood Tree. Thomas—Gavotte from "Mignon"—Lords and Ladies All Are We. Chorus. Piezonka—Tarentella—Julia Ledbetter. Wachs—March elegante—Katheleen Burriss. Schumann—(From "A Woman's Love and Life.")—His Image.—He, of All the Best, the Noblest Heavenly Dream.—Elizabeth Lawrence. Schuetz.—A la blea Aimee.—Molly Horton. Beethoven—I Love Thee.—Cecelia Schult. Wachs.—Valse.—Emily Sullivan. Dell' Acqua.—Villanelle.—Louise Henry. Chamade.—Callirhoe.—LaFayette Johnson. Moskwski.—Scherzo Waltz.—Marguerite Henry. Czibulka—Morn Rise.—Vincent—Blow, Soft Winds.—Chorus.

SPLENDID PICTURE OF DR. VINES AT COLLEGE

Was Presented by Mr. Harry Wallace and is Much Appreciated.

Mr. Harry Wallace has presented Anderson College with a splendid picture of Dr. John F. Vines, all elegantly framed. It has been placed in the college and is very highly prized. This kind thought of Mr. Wallace is particularly appropriate, coming just at the time that Dr. Vines is leaving the city. This will serve as a gentle reminder of him who served so faithfully in the time of the college's need. Mr. J. K. Breedin paid a flying visit to the city yesterday and spend a few hours at the college, lunching with his friends there. Mr. Breedin is most joyously welcomed to the college for he has a very warm place in the hearts of the students and members of the faculty who were associated with him.

Worth a Million, and Will Not Mind Mamma

Miss Eugenia Kelly, granddaughter of the famous Eugene Kelly, once a leading banker of New York, and at one time sister-in-law of a son of Jay Gould, will not mind her mamma. This photograph shows the young woman in the costume of a fancy dress ball. Just at this time, when she is eighteen years of age, she enjoys an income of $10,000 a year, and when she is twenty-one, she is to come into a fortune of about $1,000,000 from her father's estate. The young woman was graduated from a convent a few months ago, and her mother says she was very demure. She didn't have a "naughty little twinkle in her eye." However, the white lights of Broadway got on the young woman's nerves. Her mother swore out a warrant for her charging her with being incorrigible, and had her taken to a police court. Usually she wasn't home before 9 o'clock, and after I had cautioned her I tried locking her out," said the mother. "She broke the glass in the door and let herself in. She brought a company of friends to dinner one night, and one of the men asked me if I had no brandy. He drank three-quarters of the bottle I had got for him, and when he began throwing burning cigarettes on the carpet I asked him to leave. "Eugenia explained to me later that this man was a drug fiend, and that he was going to go away to a sanatorium pretty soon. I expressed the hope that she had not added the use of drugs to her other habits, but all she said was: "Any one who has $15 can get all the cocaine or heroin she wants in this town. "When I expostulated about the hours she kept, she said to me: "You're nobody at all if you don't go to at least five cafes a night."
