Sermon to Young Men.

Rev. W. C. Schaeffer will preach to young men next Sunday night on "Character—Self-Built, God Built."

Our Steam Power.

The Shipman engine which has done faithful work in running the presses in The Herald and News office, has been out of gear for some time. We have thoroughly overhauled and made it as good as new. It will run our presses better than by hand or foot power, and we will be enabled to turn out more work in the job printing line.

Struck by a Limb.

On last Saturday Mr. J. J. Epting, who lives near Upwell in Lexington County, was working in the woods and had with him his little five year old son. The wind blew heavily and a large limb of a tree broke loose and fell on the head of the child crushing in the skull. The child was doing tolerably well when last heard from, but was still in a very critical condition.

New Perfume.

Ten new Handkerchief Extracts just received.
BELCHER, HOUSEAL & KIBLER.

A Beautiful Lot.

Dr. Jas. M. Kibler has bought a fine lot on Cornelia street, "Brooklyn," from Mr. George McWhirter, for $775. Four years ago Mr. McWhirter paid $250 for the lot. It contains an acre and a half. The lot will be divided, Dr. Kibler building on one-half of it and Mr. Michael Werts, of Silver Street, on the other half.

Moseley Bros.

That is to be the style of the new firm at Prosperity that is to succeed the old and established house of Wheeler & Moseley. Mr. J. M. Wheeler of the firm has withdrawn and his interest has been purchased by Messrs. H. C. & W. A. Moseley who will continue the business under she style and name of Moseley Bros.

They are both young men and good business men, full of energy, and the well-established reputation of the old firm will be maintained. We wish them success.

Some People

May be opposed to the use, and some to the abuse of whiskey, yet its use is often absolutely necessary, especially for medicinal purposes. In such cases, the pure, unadulterated stuff is needed—not a doctored, drugged combination—and when the I. W. HARPER is used you get the best results without any bad effects. Its purity and high standard will be maintained because this firm has an enviable reputation which its means to sustain.

It can be had from Thos. Q. Boozer, sole agent, Newberry, S. C. 6m

VARIOUS AND ALL ABOUT.

Yesterday was Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bowman have rented rooms at Mrs. Motte's and have moved to town.

Next Saturday is St. Valentine's day. The custom of sending the tender missives is not so popular now.

Mr. Jas. S. McCarley and Miss Inez Suber, daughter of Mr. Ivey M. Suber, of Mollohon, will be married this evening.

Katie Putnam will play "Love Finds a Way" at the opera House to-night. She is a popular actress and a great favorite everywhere.

Mr. C. C. Davis has begun work on the "Alumni house" at Newberry College. It is to be occupied by Rev. Prof. Bowers.

Messrs. Goggans & Hunt have moved their law office to the rooms upstairs in the Phifer building on the corner of Law Range.

Major Wm. A. Williams, killed in Greenville last Friday night, was a grandson of the late John Hopkins Williams, of Newberry County.

Mr. J. C. Chalmers, who was so badly cut about ten days ago by I. Y. Johnson, is very much better and will recover. Johnson is still in jail, though he will probably give boud in a few days.

A Washington special to the Charleston World says that Lieut. Ernest A. Garlington of the Seventh Cavalry has been ordered to report at Charleston for duty in the recruiting service.

Messrs. Jas. R. Davidson and Chas. A. Bowman have formed a partnership under the style and firm name of Davidson & Bowman, and will do a commission brokerage business in Newberry.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Talbot & sons in another column. Mr. V. C. Badham, Columbia, is their general agent for South Carolina, and will be pleased to sell you any machinery you may need.

A postoffice has been established at Sligh's on the C., N. & L. R. R. with Rev. J. A. Sligh as postmaster. A postal clerk will be put on the C. N. & L. R. R. soon and this office will then have a daily mail.

Rev. Geo. A. Wright and family have arrived. Mr. Wright preached his first sermon last Sunday morning in the Baptist church. We welcome them to Newberry, and hope they may find their stay among us both pleasant and profitable.

The alarm of fire was given on last Friday evening at six o'clock. Fire was discovered in Mrs. Godsey's store on Pratt street but was extinguished before any damage was done. The store had been closed about fifteen minutes when the fire was discovered in the closet. It was promptly put out.

Personals.

Gen. M. L. Bonham was in Newberry last week.

Dr. O. B. Mayer, Jr., returned on Tuesday from New York.

Mrs. Eloise M. Brown left Tuesday for Seneca, where she will reside.

Mr. E. W. T., the auctioneer, has returned from a pleasant trip to Columbia.

Mrs. M. S. Epstin, of Columbia, is on a visit to her father, Mr. H. Mittle and family.

Rev. W. C. Schaeffer has returned from Richmond, Va., and filled his pulpit last Sunday morning and night.

Mr. Geo. A. Sligh returned on Saturday from Arkansas, where he has been for about a year and a half.

Mrs. Peter Robertson leaves to-day to visit relatives and friends in Charleston. She will be absent several weeks.

Mr. Bachman Glasgow, who has been clerking for Smith & Wearn for several years, has decided to go to Texas, and will leave early next week.

Mr. A. E. Gonzales, representing The State, the new morning daily to be published in Columbia soon, was in town this week in the interest of the paper.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robertson returned to Newberry on last Friday. The many friends of Mr. Robertson will be glad to know that his health is much improved.

Mr. O. Klettner left for Charleston last Monday to attend the annual meeting of the M. E. Grand Royal Arch Chapter of South Carolina, which convened in Masonic Temple at 12 m., Tuesday, the 10th instant.

Field's Minatrels.

Al. G. Field & Co's Minstrels gave the best performance of the season at the Opera House last Friday night. A pretty fair audience greeted the company. Had the weather been more favorable the house would have been crowded, the night being dismally dark and rainy. Al. G. Field, Billy Van and others of the company are not excelled in minstrelsy. The songs and [illegible]okes were all new and sparkled with [illegible]ndid hits. The walking clog by [illegible] was especially good. The sple[illegible] the entertainment was the Ed. For a Quarter Century!

Mr. Silas Johnstone, who was reappointed Master for Newberry County by Governor Tillman, got his commission last week.

He has already served as Master for three terms—twelve years—and begins his fourth term.

Mr. Johnstone, though comparatively a young man, has been engaged in the selling of real estate for nearly a quarter of a century. Next December will close the 25th year of his acceptable services as Commissioner in Equity and Master.

For twelve years he was Commissioner in Equity for Newberry County. As Commissioner in Equity he filled the position with ability and to the satisfaction of everybody.

Mr. Johnstone wears well. He keeps old friends and makes new ones. His integrity, his fairness and his amiability in official life are pleasing to all who have business with him.

He makes an excellent Master and Gov. Tillman could hardly have found a more efficient official. The Herald and News wishes him many more years of official life as his own worthy successor in the office of Master for Newberry County.

The Graded School Elections.

An election was held here last Thursday on the question of issuing $5,000 more bonds to aid in erecting a suitable building for the Graded Schools. There was a very light vote polled.

The vote stood for bonds 72; against bonds 21; total, 93.

This will give $15,000 for the erection of buildings and will enable the trustees to put up a handsome brick building with all the modern conveniences.

Prof. Brown and Mr. Alan Johnstone were in Atlanta last week consulting an architect and getting the plans and specifications. As soon as these are completed the contract will be awarded for the building.

The school, this session so far, has been very successful, upwards of 600 children being enrolled. It has induced a number of people to move to Newberry.

TEACHER ELECTED.

At a meeting of the trustees, held on last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Maggie L. Tarrant was elected teacher in place of Miss Cozby, who resigned some time ago.

Katie Putnam.

"Love Finds a Way," with popular Katie Putnam in the leading role, was presented at the Opera House last night before a large and well pleased audience. The play is the most ambitious in which Miss Putnam has yet appeared, and with its strong situations and bright comedy scenes, caught the audieuce from the start.

Miss Putnam's clever work is too well known here to need any particular commendation, and it is sufficient to say that as Gay Howard, she revealed dramatic strength and artistic finish, which were a surprise even to her most enthusiastic admirers. * *

The singing, dancing and banjo specialties went with all the old time sprightliness, and Miss Putnam gracefully responded to several recalls. The company is much above the average and so evenly balanced that it would be unfair to mention one without noting all.—N. Y. World.

Money Gone.

The ticket office of the Columbia and Greenville Railroad was robbed of $80 last Monday night. The entrance was made through the ticket window, and by raising the wire netting. Mr. Forde, the telegraph operator found the money was missing when he opened his office on Tuesday morning. He left it in the drawer the night before. Twenty-five dollars of the money belonged to Mr. Forde, and the balance to the railroad and telegraph companies.

Five dollars was picked up on the platform Tuesday morning, which the burglar dropped. No clue.

Teachers' Association.

The Teachers' Association will meet at the Graded School building next Saturday, 14th. The following is the programme:

Third Year's Work—Miss Mallie Wheeler, from the Graded Schools. Miss Wheeler will have her class present.

The School District Plan—A member of the Association.

Besides the above, the Association will elect a president, and will take into consideration the advisability of holding a County Institute this summer.

All teachers expected.

OUR PROSPERITY LETTER.

Notwithstanding the low price of cotton, it is still being placed on the market, and there's lots of it home yet.

Messrs. A. H. Kohn and A. M. Wyse, who departed these coasts for those of Texas, in the harrow business, have returned home on account of the small pox scare in the lone star State. They report the outlook for the sale of their harrow as being very flattering. They will return to Texas next September.

The wheat and oat crops are looking well. No fly or other insects to injure it this season. The frequent rains have delayed the spring sowing of oats very much, in fact, little has been done in the farms thus far. There has been, and continues to continue to be much rain, lots of mud with now and then a ray of sunshine for which we are thankful.

Messrs. Francis Hobb and S. J. Kohn are shipping a car load of harrows to Sumter and other places. The harrow business is lively, with some people at least. We have not harrowed any lately, but unless a cyclone or something else comes along soon we'll harrow somebody or somebody'll harrow us.

A report has gained considerable circulation in the Pomaria section that Arthur Kohn is home with the small pox. Never was there a more false rumor circulated. This false rumor is calculated to injure the place, because, if people have the remotest idea that the small pox is here they would (and wisely too,) avoid the place. But neither Mr. Kohn or any other living creature here has small pox or any symptoms of it. Mr. Kohn's health was never better in his life.

The low price of cotton and the continuous rains has had a corresponding depression on all branches of business. However our merchants are enjoying a brisk cash trade, paying the highest prices for all kinds of country produce, and selling goods so cheap that a fellow has to stop and satisfy his mind whether or not he has stole them before he can proceed on his way rejoicing. The man who talks about country vs. town, and town vs. country, and such like nonsense is in a most pitiable plight. Such an one cannot enjoy life. He is not a jolly good fellow.

I'll give one of Bonham's Patent Adjustable Harrows and throw in one of Ham's Patent Cotton-seed Planters to boot to any man, woman or child who who will show me another scribe who is interrupted half as often, while inditing a newspaper letter, as I am. This a. m. I had scarcely finished a paragraph when rap, rap at the door.

"What's wanted?" "Sugar is out." Then another paragraph and, rap, rap again. What's wanted? "Miss Josie says she can't make any more biscuits until you get some flour." Here, go to Wheeler & Moseley and get a sack of that best double patent Victoria, (I wish I could buy a car-load and stop this eternal cry, "flour is out," "flour is out.") I resume my pencil—a few lines are written—rap, rap, rap! What, now? "The milk man is here."

Well, I must now go, for this is a part of the business that the maternal partner has allotted to me. The milk put safely away where the cats can't get to it, the potatoes measured, the butter weighed, and the man, paid for his culinary commodities, gone away happy and serene, I breathe a sigh of relief, and return to my desk. A whole page is nearly written, when that very familiar rap, rap is again at the door.

"What, in the name of the Pleiades, do you want now?" Mr. Gurgenheimer wishes to settle his board bill, sir?" Oh, yes, yes; I'll go at once. "Good morning, landlord." "Good morning, Mr. Gurgenheimer." "I wish to settle my bill, landlord." "Yes, sir; supper, lodging, breakfast—one dollar and a half, Mr. Gurgenheimer. Hope you had a good night's rest, sir; and that you enjoyed your meals, sir." "Never rested better, nor enjoyed my meals more. I'll come again," replied Mr. Gurgenheimer. "Good morning."

Happy and serene, I am writing again; getting on nicely; pen runs smoothly, and another page is nearly finished—rap, rap, rap, comes that same familiar and monotonous rap again. What in the name of common sense do you want now? My patience will soon cease to be a virtue, I growled. "Mi s Josie says she must have some coffee, some of Armour's parched coffee, and some nice, rich green tea for dinner, and some oranges and cocoa nuts to make ambrosia for desert, and some Ess. Lemon to put in the cake, and a few nutmegs, and a little pepper and spice and ginger, and tomatoes for soup, and some Irish potatoes for salad." Why this is a small matter, indeed. Is that all? quoth I. "Yes sir, all she told me for the present." Here is the money, I observed, to this want-crying fiend. Go and search from "Dan to Beersheba" and see if you can find these small affairs, and if you think there is anything else in this town, or any town adjacent, please attend to it before you return, and avoid further commotion in this office. Exeunt servant. Thus it goes on letter hours until the whole column of wants is exhausted. The want column is not only exhausted, but my pocket book is exhausted also, but then we all enjoy these things, (I mean after they are cooked, and baked and boiled) especially do the guests enjoy them, and they come back again, and we are all happy and serene. YUBE.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read Dr. King's New Discovery and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, and plump, weighing 140 pounds. NOTES FROM EXCELSIOR.

Owing to the abundance of rain the public roads in this neighborhood are getting in a rough condition and should receive attention by the overseers as soon as convenient. Let us continue to keep good roads.

Work on Prof. Wheeler's new residence here is pushing along and the building will soon reach completion.

Miss Janie Kinard is on a several days visit to relatives at Saluda.

Owing to the continued wet weather very few farmers have sown any spring oats, hence a good many are still holding up for fair weather. Early sowing of grain has a very good appearance.

Messrs. E. M. Cook and T. L. Wheeler of this community have returned from Greenville, where they have been attending the United States Court held in that city. The boys seemed to enjoy their visit to the city, but yet they claim that there is no place like home.

There was communion services held in Bachman Chapel on last Sunday. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather we learn the congregation was good, and an interesting sermon was preached by the Rev. Prof. J. B. Fox, of Newberry College.

Mr. Crosson and family left here last week for their new home near Lewiedale. We regret their absence from our quiet little community, and their departure will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Marion Miller and family now occupy the dwelling vacated by Mr. Crosson and family. SIGMA.

Big Trade in Fertilizers.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 7.—The South Carolina railway has accomplished the enormous feat of handling 567 loaded freight cars in one day. This was on Friday, last. Of this number, 135 cars were loaded with fertilizers for points in this and adjoining States. Receiver Chamberlain states that up to Feb. 1, the shipment upon the road of fertilizers exceed by 3,000 tons the amount shipped for the corresponding period of last year.

Death of James Redpath.

NEW YORK, February 19.—James Redpath, the famous Irish Nationalist, journalist and lecturer, and vice-president of the Anti-Poverty Society, who was run down by a 4th avenue horse car opposite the postoffice one day last week, died to-day at St. Luke's Hospital from the effect of his injuries.
