SWISS KEEP ARMY ON ECONOMICAL BASIS

No Generals Except in Time of War—Military Service Universal.

Berne, Switzerland, June 19.—The Swiss army, in the opinion of the Swiss federal council, is the most efficient, most economically managed, and most democratic in Europe.

Its efficiency is evidenced by the fact that at the beginning of the European war, this little nation of less than four million inhabitants, had completed the mobilization of her army before either Germany or France. In the first week of war she was able to post on her frontiers over 250,000 trained soldiers, a larger force than Great Britain was able to throw into Belgium after many weeks of arduous labor.

The comparative cheapness of maintenance of the Swiss army is shown in the budget returns. The army costs annually in peace time 62,200,000 francs of population. Germany's peace expenditure for the same purpose is $4.75 per head.

The Swiss army is in the strictest sense a democratic service. Every would-be officer starts as a private with the ordinary recruit's merit and not by seniority, except that it is conditioned on four years' service in each rank. There are no generals in the army except in time of war, the highest peace-time rank being that of colonel. The general appointed at the beginning of the present mobilization is the first which Switzerland had had since 1870, when the republic asserted its neutrality by disarming and interning the army of the French General Bourbaki, which was forced over the frontier.

Switzerland has universal military service—along with such modern ideas as the referendum and initiative. Every male Swiss citizen is a potential soldier, and those who for reasons of health or otherwise are excused from the usual course of military training must pay a special tax and must also be enrolled in the "supplementary service" army.

The striking force of the army consists of about 300,000 men, divided into three classes—the first, mainly twenty to thirty-two years; the second, 33 to 40 years; and the Landstrum, 40 to 48. The supplementary services number 200,000, making a total fighting force of half a million men, or one-eighth of the entire population.

The military training begins with gymnastic drill and rifle practice in the public schools. Between the ages of 20 and 30 the young man gets a regular yearly period of training, ten to twelve weeks the first year, and about a fortnight for the seven following years, when he passes into the Landwehr. This division is called out for eleven days' training every four years. The Landstrum is only called in time of war.

Each and every soldier has a rifle in the ranks. There are no "fashionable regiments." Officers are given supplemental training in the schools at Thun or Basel, but there are no war colleges like West Point.

Every soldier when he is out of training keeps his rifle and equipment in his own house, and he is encouraged to keep his marksmanship up to requirements by constant practice. Rifle shooting, in fact, is the great national pastime, and visitors to Switzerland always note the sound of gun-fire on Sundays, holidays and saints' days.

No one is paid for his service in peace time, as a soldier. Of the officers, only the few who are on the general staff receive remuneration, and their pay is small. In time of war, the commander-in-chief is by law entitled to $10 a day, while the privates receive about fifteen cents.

There are six divisions or army corps in the army. The first and second divisions consist of French-speaking citizens; the third, fourth and fifth are from German-speaking sections; the sixth is Italian. At the beginning of the war all six divisions were mobilized; at present only the 2nd, 4th and 6th are under arms.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says this old-time Eczema remedy is applied like cold cream.

Any irritation or itching out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and scaly, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur. The reason that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the eczema is that it leaves the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin conditions. While not always establishing a permanent cure, it never fails to subside the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any drug store, or send of bold-sulphur, which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

EDUCATION NOTES

Milwaukee has installed 25 of the finest type of pool or billiard table in its public school buildings.

A thousand dollar prize is offered through the American Social Hygiene association of New York city for the best original pamphlet for boys and girls between 12 and 15 years of age on the problem of social hygiene.

A Janitors' Institute was recently held in Salt Lake County, Utah, under the direction of the county superintendent of schools. Several problems of school janitor service were discussed and the meeting went on record as favoring special training for school janitors.

The school saving bank of public school No. 17 of Borough of Queens, New York city, has had $4,300 deposited in it in the three years of its existence. More than half of this amount is still on deposit either with the school bank or with a state savings bank.

In every one of the 54 grammar schools, of Portland, Oreg., there is a Parent-Teachers Association. Men as well as women are members of these associations, and three have business men as presidents. School excursions form an important feature of the work. Brick yards, lumber yards, and chair factories are visited by the pupils. A committee of 16 men have special charge of this work, one of whom accompanies the children on every trip.

Getting out among the fathers and mothers of the state is the method pursued by Prof. D. R. Haworth of the East Tennessee State Normal school, for arousing interest in education. Prof. Haworth and his party recently completed a "campaign" during which they drove 476 miles through eight counties; talked to 21,400 people in 40 rallies; slept in barns or in the school wagon, frequently far from the main road. The educational campaigners had with them a male quartet, a string band and three pieces of demonstration apparatus of practical value—a milk tester, a farm gate, and a model of a heating and ventilation system.

A free moving picture show is given every night at the public high school of Santa Rosa, Cal.

Children in the public schools of Chattanooga, Tenn., draw maps of South America, on which they indicate by marks all places where goods manufactured in their city are sold.

Country schools in Washington state are specializing in warm lunches. The teachers are trained in household arts and the school lunch is used not only to better the physical condition of the pupils but to teach domestic science.

Boys of Williamsport, Pa., are to have a college opportunity that boys in other cities may well envy. Through the will of the late A. D. Hormance, funds are eventually to be made available sufficient to give every deserving graduate of the high school $500 a year for four years while attending Cornell University.

Many of the city schools are adopting progressive measures in advance of the larger city systems. Hays City, Kans., has a free dental clinic, free medical inspection, social athletics. State and municipality have gone in partnership in Hays City; the entire city school system has been turned over to the Fort Hays Kansas State Normal school for use as a "pedagogical laboratory."

The Ontario department of education recently announced that future examinations in English, Canadian, and European History will contain one or more specific questions dealing with the present European war. It is announced that "any adequate knowledge of the topics in question shall be required as one of the tests of promotion from grade to grade." The minister of education for Ontario urges that generally disposed citizens and school boards offer prizes for essays on one or more phases of the present struggle.

Long Island Belle Admits Burglaries

Mrs. Ruth Taylor Conlin, aged twenty-one, daughter of a wealthy resident of Sea Cliff, Long Island, and belle of the little town and surrounding country has admitted that she robbed a number of houses closed for the winter and spring by summer residents. She did this with Donald Clapham, son of the town real estate agent to whose protection for the winter months these cottages had been given. The young man got the keys from his father's office.

Now he says the girl was the chief plotter. He furnished the keys but she did the robbing, he told newspaper men.

"I wish I did all the stealing," said he. "She took the lead always. I did not take a thing from the places we went to. I had the means of effecting entrance—the keys."

"We wanted to go to dances and theatres and devised the burglary scheme to get money. I realize I am as much responsible as she. I have no repentance against her for getting me into this scrape."

Some months ago Mrs. Conlin, then Ruth Taylor, ran away from home and married a chauffeur. She quit him after three months. Clapham's attentions to her aroused the husband, who followed the pair when they took a valise on a train to New York city. Thinking he would get evidence for a divorce he followed only to be led into a Brooklyn pawnshop. It was found by the county authorities, after he reported to them, that the valise contained valuables stolen from the Sea Cliff homes.
