

BIDS ARE SUBMITTED FOR EQUINOX WORK

FOUR CONTRACTORS WANT THE JOB, WHICH INVOLVES $15,000.

ADDITIONAL ROOM

Storage Room and Mill Space to Be Increased—Bids Will Be Sent to New York City.

Bids were submitted yesterday to Mr. R. E. Ligon for certain buildings and improvements which are to be made at the Equinox mill, involving about $15,000.

It was stated yesterday morning that bids had been submitted by C. Mr. Guest of this city and Gallivan, Fisher-Carter and Jordan-Munn, all three of Greenville. Before the awards are made the bids will be sent to New York city and it will be several days yet before it will be known who is successful.

Sometime ago the Equinox mill was closed down for repairs and it has been decided to build a storage room and additional space to the mill property. J. E. Eirrine of Greenville is the architect.

Work will begin soon after the contract is awarded.

EARLY MORNING FIRE

Destroyed Residence and Meat Market of Asbury McSwain on North Main Street.

Fire at an early hour this morning destroyed a five room dwelling and meat market situated just outside the city limits on North Main street. The house was occupied by Mr. Asbury McSwain, but none of the family was at home at the time of the fire. The buildings and contents were a total loss. To reach the fire it was necessary for the firemen to run a line of hose 2,000 feet in length, the hose being attached to a hydrant in front of Menefield's store.

As Mr. McSwain could not be found this morning it was impossible to ascertain how much, if any, insurance was carried on the building or contents.

Better be safe than sorry—Willett P. Sloan, insurance.

Good Cotton Weather.

Washington, June 23.—The national weather and crop bulletin announced today that cotton had a fine growing week and is in good condition. Some retardation of growth is reported from Oklahoma and adjoining sections, with boll weevil reported active in portions of Mississippi and Texas. The crop is fruiting in southern districts. Some blooms reported as far north as North Carolina.

Old Names for Alsace Towns.

Paris, June 23.—The French postal service is handling mail in ninety towns and villages in Alsace, says an official announcement today. All of these places now bear the names they had forty-five years ago.

Big Wheat Crop in Italy.

Washington, June 23.—Italy will harvest 29,396,000 more bushels of wheat this year than in 1914, according to a forecast of crop conditions cabled the department of agriculture today by the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome. Italy's wheat yield is estimated at 202,093,000 bushels for 1915, as against 172,697,000 in 1914.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a remedy that every family should be provided with, and especially during the summer months. Think of the pain and suffering that must be endured when medicine must be sent for or before relief can be obtained. This remedy is thoroughly reliable. Ask anyone who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.

Prince of Wales Now of Age.

London, June 23.—The Prince of Wales attained his majority today at the request of the king, there was no public celebration of the event. The prince did not come back to London for the occasion, and the numerous addresses of congratulation prepared by various civic and patriotic bodies will be forwarded to him at the front.

Bilious Attacks.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

President Off For Cornish.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson left tonight for Cornish, New Hampshire, intending to be absent from Washington until July 6th. He plans to spend tomorrow with Colonel E. M. House, at Roslyn, New York.

HOW THE BLACK WA R CLOUD HAS SPREAD OVER TWO HEMISPHERES.

When Austria-Hungary, on July 28, 1914, declared war upon Serbia, the dual monarchy precipitated a general European war. When Great Britain, on August 4, 1914, declared war upon Germany, the inevitable sequel was what may properly be termed a "world war" despite Pan-American freedom from direct complication.

The accompanying map of the two hemispheres is more comprehensive than any war map heretofore published. It indicates at a glance, in the black spaces, the extent to which war has gripped twentieth century civilization through the conflict of great powers and the dependencies of those powers.

In calculating the far-reaching effect of this war over the surface of the earth, it is fair to exclude the polar regions as necessarily "immune," with 6,970,000 square miles of territory and 300,000 inhabitants. It is fair, also, to include Portugal and its African possessions, since Portugal has declared its alliance with Great Britain, is subject to treaty call by Great Britain for thousands of troops whenever necessary, and is reported to have been in conflict with German troops in Africa.

Last, and also least, of the powers involved is the tiny republic of Marino, which, with thirty-two square miles of territory and less than 11,000 population, has cast its lot with the allies against the Turko-Germanic alliance.

The oceans, covering 139,400,000 square miles, are not included in the territorial estimates, although the Atlantic and Pacific have been the scenes of some of the most important operations of the war. They are excluded because they are the property of no nation or group of nations, but are the common possession of the world at large.

The figures used are compiled from the latest official statistics available and naturally do not take into consideration the effect of losses and conquests incidental to the war.

Territory Directly Affected by War.

Table with columns: Country, Population, Sq. Miles. Includes entries for Serbia, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Belgian Congo, British Empire, German Empire, Europe, Colonies, Italy.

Table with columns: Country, Population, Sq. Miles. Includes entries for Colonies, Japan, Korea and other dependencies, Montenegro, Portugal, Colonies, San Marino, Turkey.

Total population of the earth is 1,732,960,000. The total population affected directly by the war is 816,540,626. Nearly one half of the inhabitants of the earth, therefore, are at war in which their governments are involved.

The total area of the earth is 57,641,900 square miles. The total area directly concerned in the war is 23,127,357 square miles—two-fifths of the entire surface of the earth.

The total cost of the war to date in life and treasure, to those involved, it is impossible to estimate, even approximately. Any so-called estimate that may be advanced must be a wild guess merely, and therefore barren of value. Not until months after the close of the conflict will any statistics on this line be worth the paper on which they appear. This general statement, however, is true—that no war in history has approached the present war in destructiveness of life, property and useful industry. It is costing many millions of dollars per day, and more than a million men have fallen since the opening gun was fired less than eleven months ago.

Some idea at least of the comparative insignificance of other great conflicts may be had from the fact that the total financial cost of the Civil war, lasting four years, was $5,000, 000,000, and the total cost of the Anglo-French war, continuing from 1793 to 1815, was $6,250,000,000. The total cost of all wars from 1793 to 1913—120 years—is estimated at $26,123,546,000, and the total loss of life in the conflicts of 120 years is 5,498,100.

Of striking significance is the fact that the aggregate length of the armies engaged in all these wars of 120 years was 15,562,900—a grand total equaled at least by the present war alone, if the estimated strength of Russia be accepted as reliable. The stupendous figure necessary to convey comprehensive understanding of what this war means to civilization are staggering. But the accompanying may convey to the mind at a glance an appreciation of the extent of the lack mantle of human slaughter which now rests upon the shoulders of a suffering world.

STORES WILL LIKELY CLOSE FOR SERVICES

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AT McLENDON TENT.

PERSONAL WORKERS

Club Was Organized and Will Work in City—Interest is Growing Each Day.

A meeting of about 50 of the Christian men of all denominations of the city was held yesterday afternoon at the McLendon tent on North Main street for the purpose of organizing a personal workers club.

Another matter that was brought before the meeting was that of having a petition circulated among the offices and stores agreeing to close up their places of business from 10 to 11 o'clock every morning in order that the employees might attend the services. This petition will very likely be started this morning and will probably go into effect tomorrow morning.

The following committee was appointed to circulate the petition: Messrs. O. M. Beard, Samuel L. Prince, W. A. Power, John Tate and R. G. Bruce.

This matter was mentioned by several of the leading business men the several days ago but has only recently taken shape. It is an undoubted fact that these meetings are attracting wider attention and are creating more interest than anything that has happened in this section of the state in several years. Numbers of people are coming to hear the evangelist from all over the county and it was reported yesterday that some of the railroads leading into the city were considering the advisability of putting on special trains and excursion rates Sunday in order that the people along their lines might have an opportunity to hear Rev. McLendon.

Mr. McLendon last night showed a telegram addressed to Rev. J. W. Speake from one of the leading business men of Sumter. It read: "Reported in Sumter that evangelist McLendon very sick. Answer." Mr. Speake wired back that he was very much alive. This goes to show that people all over the state are very interested in the

ENTERTAIN TEACHERS OF SUMMER SCHOOL

Ladies and Business Men of Wallaha Hosts at Pretty Reception.

Walhalla, June 23.—An important feature and enjoyable occasion of the Oconee County Summer school session was the reception given by the ladies and business men of Walhalla in honor of the teachers. This reception was held Monday evening in the high school auditorium. A large number attended, both from Walhalla and the surrounding towns. A delightful musical program was carried out, after which refreshments were served. On Monday morning Miss Cora Strong, of Walhalla, who has been teaching in the State Normal college, at Greensboro, N. C., delivered an instructive lecture to the teachers of the summer school on the subject of "Astronomy." This lecture was one of unusual interest, and was handled to the highest degree of efficiency by Miss Strong.

RUSSIANS FORCED TO EVACUATE AFTER STUBBORN FIGHTING

tr-German forces was received here without surprise. It has been known that the German allies were within artillery range of the Gallian capital, and capitulation was regarded as only a question of days. Nothing has yet been heard from Petrograd confirming the reports of Lemberg's fall, but there is no disposition here to doubt the accuracy of the Austrian claim. Petrograd claims victory on the Danube, resulting in heavy losses of the Teutonic allies, and this is partially confirmed by Austrian field reports. Evidence of the orderly retirement of the Russians is given in the Austrian report that the German allies captured very few guns, the Russians having withdrawn their artillery previous to stubbornly fought rear guard actions. In the Dardanelles, the British report the recapture of trench forming a dangerous salient to their line after the Turks had taken it. In the western front, the French have taken the Labouth a strong German work forming a salient of the German lines between Neuville-St. Vaast and Ecouen, which has been the object of almost continuous attack since May 30.

English newspapers are giving prominence to an interview with the Pope, published in Paris, wherein the Pope, while expressing desire to hold the scale evenly between belligerents, declares he awaits an opportunity to move in favor of peace and will grasp the first hand held out to him for this purpose.

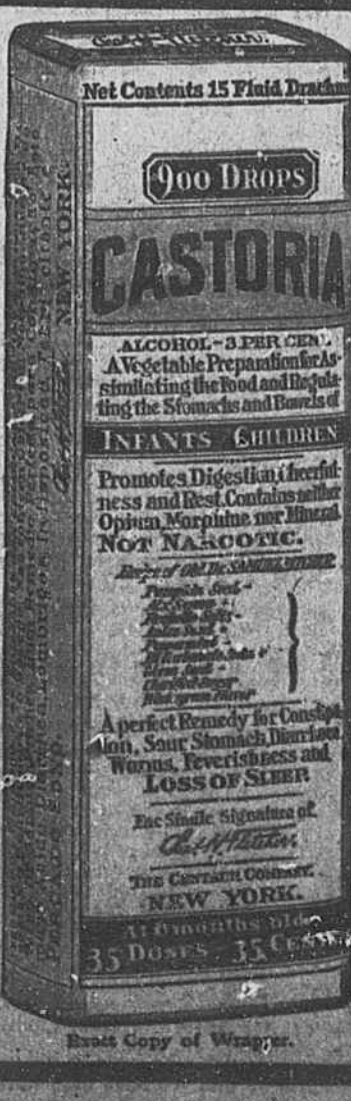

With the capture of Lemberg, Austria now has claimed most of the province of Galicia occupied by Russians early in the war. The Russians are reported to have withdrawn most of their forces and supplies from Lemberg.

The Italian general staff announces the arrival of important reinforcements for the Austrians along the Isonzo front north of the Gulf of Trieste, but declares the Austrians were repulsed by Alpine troops in Montenegro district.

A Geneva dispatch says the Italian troops captured all positions defending Maborgeth and are bombarding that fortress.
