ELECTRIC CITY SPARKLETS

Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless on the Streets of Anderson

Young Boy Was Struck by Auto.
Yesterday morning at the corner of North Main and West Earle streets, a bicycle ridden by Claude Mullinax, the young son of Mr. J. A. Mullinax, rolled into an automobile driven by Mr. Phillip Boyd. The lad was bruised rather badly but not otherwise seriously injured and he was taken into the Owl Drug company where his wounds were quickly attended to. His bicycle was completely demolished.

751 Bobolinks Given Away.
As a result of the advertisement in the Intelligencer 751 Bobolinks were given away on Friday and Saturday by Walter H. Keese & company, jewelers, to those holding coupons clipped from this paper. Mr. Keese stated last night that he was satisfied that the people read the Intelligencer and that it was a good advertising medium. Yesterday morning 144 were given away during the first hour that the store was open. Owing to the fact that they came in so fast that the engraving could not be done in one day. Mr. Keese asks that all of the girls come back on Wednesday to get their links.

U. S. Woolen Mills To Put on Big Sale.
Mr. A. Wolmoult, from the head office of the United States Woolen mills at Baltimore arrived in Anderson yesterday to put on a great tailoring sale in which this giant tailoring concern will give a pair of extra trousers free with each order for a suit ordered during this sale. They have an announcement elsewhere in this paper telling in detail of this plan. Mr. Wolmoult says it has been some time since he was in Anderson and that he sees quite an improvement in the city. He stated that in his estimation the street paving would be a great improvement or the city, also a splendid advertisement.

Japanese Bandage Widely Used in European War.
The triangular bandage first introduced by the Japanese during the Russo-Japanese war is now being widely used in the European war. It has been found that bandage of this type are suitable for binding up wounds in any part of the body and that one can be carried by each soldier without inconvenience. The Germans improved it by printing on the bandage itself, in sterilized ink, various figures showing how it is to be applied. The British war office then adopted the idea, and every British soldier now carries one of the printed bandage in a special pocket of his tunic. This bandage is often applied without assistance by the wounded soldier. A picture of the bandage is a feature of the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.

EXPERT ADVISER ON DRESS

Woman Has Achieved Success in Occupation That Is Something of a Novelty.

I heard lately of a plan adopted by one young woman that has worked out well with her, and might be of use to someone else, says a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. She lives at home, but must help the family exchequer, and this is how she does it:

Her one talent lay in her good taste in dress. She had an instinctive feeling for what was becoming, not only for herself but her friends, and was often called in to consult over a prospective new gown. So that is what she determined to do professionally. She let her friends know that for a certain sum she would give advice on costumes, helping to arrange a whole wardrobe, and from friends she soon branched out to regular clients.

She goes to the house of her employer and looks over everything the lady has. She gives definite instructions as to what each dress or suit or waist requires to bring it up to par. She advises as to the most becoming styles and colors, and lists what new garments are necessary. Of course she regulates the expenditure according to the purses of her various clients.

She has made a success. Many women do not know what to wear, what suits them best, what to put together. She tells them. She also saves them a good deal by her cleverness in adapting what looks hopeless. She can also tell where you should go for materials; she has addresses of tailors, dressmakers and sewing women, and knows they can do what they promise. She is thoroughly up in her chosen job, in fact. She also makes a point of attending carefully to the details of a costume, making sure that each item will harmonize. The work is extremely interesting, and it pays both her and her clients.

EXPLAINING THE WILD MAN

Curious Individual Learns All About Him, Including Reason for His Wildness.

"The wonder-ful cu-ri-ous-tee which you see before you, lay-dees and gentlemen," announced the sidshow lecturer, in tones admirably adapted for talking down from a great altitude to the subnormal understandings of the masses, at the same time waving an indicatory hand toward the hyper-esthetic looking personage in the steel barred cage, "is the Wild man of the Everglades, captured at the cost of seven lives and eleven thousand dollars in gold! Thu-ree times a day this savage mon-ster leaps upon gurgent hunks of r-r-r-aw and r-r-r-reeking flesh and devours them with terrible ferocity and bloodcurdling yell!"

"What caused the cause to go wild and live on raw meat?" asked a sharp-nosed ruralist, interestedly.

"He lived on his brother-in-law for five years and it made him wild when his long suffering relative would no longer support him. He eats his meals raw because he is too lazy to cook them himself."—Kansas City Star.

Changing Diet of the Chinese.
Americans who have been influenced by the Orient to the extent of taking their tea clear, without milk or sugar, will be astonished to learn that the Occident is now bent on teaching the Chinese to use milk with their decoction of tea leaves—and condensed milk at that.

An enterprising condensed milk company is pushing the campaign and expects to be successful. This concern has already introduced condensed milk ice cream to the Chinese, and they like it so well that many of the restaurants keep it always on hand.

Practically no fresh milk is to be had in China, although the natives seem familiar enough with the virtues of both the fresh and the condensed article.

Perhaps after all of the Orientals have taken their tea clear because there was no milk to put in it and not because they thought the addition of milk ruined the beverage.

New Uses for Old Rope.
Old rope, like old tin cans and other things generally considered as waste, has its special market and uses, and in every seaport the collecting and classifying of old rope is an important business. Rope that is covered with heavy graphite or tar is even more valuable today for making oakum than lightly tarred material, while hemp rope with the original heavy coating of tar worn off by weathering is often used for bag paper. A small percentage of untarred hemp rope, used in its prime for hoisting and other purposes, is being converted into cigaret paper in Europe. Scraps and waste from old tarred rope, and also old oakum removed from seams of ships, are now used for making boards.

Bamboo Blooms Slowly.
Certain species of bamboos flower only once in about fifty-five years, and strangely enough, all the trees in a locality flower about the same time. Those in Burma began flowering last year, and now they are all in blossom. The last time this species flowered was in 1859-60. They will now die and those that spring from the seeds born of this flowering will take their places and will not flower until about 1870. They may flower sporadically at other times, but the seed does not mature, for the bamboo cannot fertilize itself.

CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR EQUINOX MILL

GREENVILLE CONCERN SECURES ONE JOB, WILLIAMSTON ANOTHER.

ENLARGE BUILDING

Also Build Warehouse and 25 Cottages—New Lighting System Being Installed Also.

Contracts were let yesterday for the erection of a cloth warehouse and enlargement of the main building and also for the erection of 25 cottages at the Equinox mill. The first contract was awarded to Gallbraith Building company of Greenville and the latter to Mr. Dan Brown, representing the Builders' Lumber and Supply company of Williamston. All of this work will begin as soon as the material arrives.

The main building of the mill be made 72 feet longer, this being done so that more room can be given to the machinery. It is thought that in doing this the amount of production will be increased. The new warehouse will be 50 by 100 feet. Both buildings will cost something like $15,000.

Mr. Brown stated yesterday that the cottages would also cost approximately $15,000. Twenty of these will be four room cottages and the others will have three rooms. He says that the material is now being saved into the proper lengths at the company's plant in Williamston and work will begin within the next few days. He states that the 25 cottages will be built in 50 days, or one cottage every two days.

A complete lighting system is also being installed at the Equinox mill by the Southern Public Utilities company and when the new buildings are completed and the new system in, this will be a model mill village.
