TWO-STORY BUILDING WAS DAMAGED BY FIRE

OWNED BY ESTATE OF R. M. BURRISS—LOSS ABOUT $500

HAD GOOD START

Mr. and Mrs. Mullinax, Who Lived in Building Were Not at Home and Flames Had Headway.

Fire last night at 8:45 broke out in the residence of Mr. Louis Mullinax on Earle street and did damage to the furniture, and building amounting to about $500. It was understood last night that the loss was covered by insurance. The building was the property of the estate of R. M. Burriess. The fire had made considerable headway before it was ever discovered, owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Mullinax and family were not at home. A passerby noticed the smoke and flames and gave the alarm. Mr. H. A. Hudgens was the first one to reach the burning building and he stated that the fire started in the rear of the building on the lower floor. When he saw it it had burned up into the second floor and was making good headway.

The fire department made a quick run to the scene and in a very short time had two streams playing on it. The pressure of the water seemed to be good and in a few minutes the firemen had the flames under control. Owing to the construction of the building, the fire in the roof was hard to get at and although soon under control, it took rather a long time to completely distinguish the blaze. Owing to the early hour of the fire, and its proximity to the center of town, quite a large crowd gathered to watch the blaze.

Better be safe than sorry—Willett P. Sloan, insurance.

Ladies! Look Young, Darken Gray Hair

Use the Old-Time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and you appear years younger.

COMMUNICATION.

The Intelligencer.
Dear Mr. Editor: My judgment is against taking issues with the editor, and I would like to shirk the responsibility of criticizing an editorial.

I cannot let your editorial "The Livable Town" pass under the eyes of my people, and in the absence of the city pastors, their people, without voicing a protest. I am not at this time arguing the question of "amusements." No question has given the church more concern and I assure you no question has received a larger place in our reading and thinking.

You editorially endorse the modern dance and endorse it as a city builder. The church is unanimously against your position.

To teach our people that their leaders and preachers and law-makers are puritanical and narrow, and to exhort them to break faith with their church is presumptuous.

I call your attention to the fact that every church in your city is opposed to the modern dance which you say "should be encouraged."

"Encourage the young people in all the harmless amusements of the day" you say, and you include modern dancing. I have not anywhere heard advice "more insidious or dangerous." In exhorting our people to "be broad and liberal" and to break with us, Mr. Editor, you are not cooperating with the church influence of this city. It would have been better for the peace and influence of our "puritanical" mothers and fathers and the churches of our city if your editorial on the "Livable Town" had not been written.

Great cities make dance halls, red-light districts, gambling halls but these things do not make great cities.

Very few people who have not already gone wrong leave our splendid towns to "play" in the cities. They follow the call of commercial necessity. The "puritanical" small towns and country districts furnish the saving elements in all cities. Destroy the "narrowness of puritanism" in town and country and our civilization will smash.

I know of no small town in our State made great by dance halls, etc. I know of several blighted by its "broad" leaders. God made one city in South Carolina to be great and it went to social rot instead.

This insidious thing of "amusement" has overthrown so many civilizations of the past that the church of the present has decided to stay on the job of being "narrow."
J. W. Speake.

The Intelligencer would not argue the question of "amusements." For it realizes in the outset that the subject is too broad and the angles from which it is viewed are too many. It is similar to an argument on church creeds, a subject on which the world will never get together and one that profits nothing by argument.

We beg to call attention, however, to the fact that the editorial to which the Rev. Mr. Speake has reference spoke of the "harmless" amusements collectively, referring to dancing merely as one form, and passively at that. He takes issue with us on only the one form of amusement—dancing—and in doing so misconstrues our use of the term "modern" dancing. The adjective was not used in the sense of "up-to-date" or "up-to-the-minute"—which would have meant the exhibitions known as the "bunny hug," "grizzly glide," "turkey trot," etc. and seen only in the public dance ball or resorts of questionable character—but was intended to denote the dance which is commonly known as the "round" dance and the waltz. We say this much merely to clear up what was not very clear in the editorial in question.

As we stated in the outset, we would not argue the question of "amusements." Neither will we argue the question of the propriety of one form of amusement—dancing—the one which the Rev. Mr. Speake takes issue with us on. For that is another subject on which opinion is hopelessly divided.

Were we to attempt to debate the question of amusements, it would not only take in the subject dancing, but would include that of the motion picture theatre, the vaudeville show, the musical comedy show, the modern theatre, automobile joy-riding, and a host of others. It is too big a subject. These things are among us, and probably always will be.

The proper course to pursue, it appears to us, is not to attempt to abolish amusements, which are harmless per se, but to regulate them when they get beyond the bounds of propriety.
