SENECA PREPARES FOR FARMERS CHAUTAUQU

Will Probably be Biggest of Kind Ever Held in This Section—Many Features.

Special to The Intelligencer.

Seneca, July 21.—The little town of Seneca is a perfect bevy of workers today. Everybody has the gala spirit, and the most elaborate preparations are rapidly being pushed to completion for the entertainment of the most pretentious farmers meeting that has ever been held in this section. The Oconee Farmer's Chautauqu. Two mammoth tents have already been erected, one to accommodate Commissioner Watson's new exhibit of South Carolina products, and other smaller exhibits, the other to serve as a speaking pavilion and numerous smaller tents are darting up every where. The International Harvester company are unloading and erecting a very elaborate exhibit of farm implements, and other concerns too numerous to mention are erecting smaller exhibits.

Those who are to have a part in the school and demonstration are beginning to arrive. Mrs. W. Marvin Willimon, who is to have charge of the Woman's School and Demonstration work, under the supervision of Miss Edith L. Parrott, of Winthrop College and the agricultural department of Washington, arrived last night and has been busy with a large committee of local women in getting the graded school building ready for this work, and has been fitted up with rest rooms, nurseries, parcel rooms and other comforts and conveniences for the women and girls. Canning and cooking demonstrations will be held here each day.

The farm school and demonstration work, under the direction of W. W. Long, state demonstration agent for Clemson College and the department of agriculture, has been amply provided for with suitable and convenient places, conspicuously designated by large signs, for holding their various schools and demonstrations. The school of markets, which will be directed by Hon. E. C. Dasset of the bureau of markets, of the department of agriculture has been provided with suitable quarters.

The people are making preparation to entertain thousands of people during the four days of the chautauqu. The music will be furnished by the Smyth Concert band, of Pelzer, which will arrive at 7 o'clock this afternoon.

The speaking program for Thursday is especially strong. The opening address will be made by Gov. Richard I. Manning. He will be followed by Congressman Lever in the forenoon. In the afternoon there will be an address by Mr. M. V. Richards, commissioner of the agricultural and industrial department of the Southern railway.

Another especially interesting feature of this days program will be the spectacular parade of the Knights of Korrauan, who are journeying from Spartanburg and Greenville to take charge of a band of Tyros who were to be conducted across the burning sands. Something less than a carload of animals and cages arrived yesterday and were carried to the hall. About everything seems to be here except the camels. It is supposed that they will ride them through.

SOCIETY

MISS TRIBBLE'S ENGAGEMENT

Popular Young Lady to Be Married in Early Fall.

Mrs. Frank Q. Johnson entertained at an elaborate luncheon Thursday morning, the occasion being an announcement of the engagement of her sister, Miss Anna Varina Tribble and Mr. Thomas Butler Pearce of Spartanburg.

The lovely home was decorated with nasturtiums and ferns. However, the color scheme in the dining room was changed to a most artistic blend of yellow and white, these colors being used not only in the decorations, but the luncheon. In the center of the table was a large lake surrounded by ferns, grass and daisies. At one side stood a medieval castle cunningly made of black sugar. Large bowls of yellow malene caught with bunches of shasta daisies adorned each corner of the table. On each place card was painted a gold ring, the stone being a real rhinestone. After the elegant course luncheon was served the hostess called the guests attention to the castles from which she drew wa time worn paper on which were written the directions for the recovery of a hidden treasure. The hunt was very interesting. A box full of fortunes was unearthed. The top fortune, which was for Miss Anna Tribble, contained the fact that she would be married early this fall. The other fortunes told the girls present that they would assist her. The bride-elect is one of Anderson's most attractive and popular young girls. She is a daughter of the late James L. Tribble, who was a prominent lawyer and had much to do in the development of our city. She is also a niece of Col. Joseph N. Brown, colonel of the 14th S. C. Regiment in the civil war and is a prominent lawyer and financier.

Miss Tribble has a voice of unusual sweetness and her friends regret to see her leave Anderson, where she will be greatly missed.

Mr. Pearce is a popular member of Spartanburg society. He is recognized as a most successful and prominent business man.

At the guests arrived they were served with refreshing nectar by Mrs. J. E. McClure, and Miss Agatha Spearman. After greeting the hostess and her honor guests, they were entertained by the following beautifully rendered program by some of Anderson's most gifted musicians:

Some danced on the broad piazza, while others spent the time on the lawn, which was lighted with many Japanese lanterns. In the house flowers carrying out the color scheme of red and yellow were effectively arranged. Assisting in entertaining the guests were Miss Louise Bigby, Miss Lou Austin, Miss Agatha Spearman, Miss Catherine Sullivan and Miss Eugenia Maxwell. An elegant salad course with sherbett was served. Among the visiting girls present were Miss Evelyn Hoke of Birmingham, Miss Grace Ramsey of Washington, Ga., Miss Evelyn Calmes of Meriden, Miss., Miss Sara Louise Blanton of Jacksonville and Miss Louise Rideout of Highlands, N.
