BIG BEN

Did You See His Last Ad in the "Post"?

Well now come to this store and see Big Ben. Let us show you how smart he is. Tell him, here, to "ring in three minutes." Then time him with your watch. Tell him to "ring five minutes straight," or "give ten short calls lasting ten minutes." See how he replies.

Tell him to "stop" in the middle of either call. Put him through his paces. See what he can do!

That last ad said, "Wakes the furnace, too before he makes his rounds"—we'll let you see some diagrams to show how he'll wake your furnace at any time you say each morning!

Big Ben stand 7 inches tall, is handsome, sturdy and reliable. He only costs Two-Fifty. And you only pay it once—to get the smartest clock alive. Come and see him.

SANDERS-BAILES

Marriage of Prominent and Popular Couple Yesterday.

A quiet little home wedding occurred yesterday afternoon at half past three o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. B. Sanders on Greenville street, when Miss Gertrude Sanders and Mr. George H. Balles were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. L. Murtha and only the nearest relatives were present. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Lee Sanders, who also played softly and sweetly during the ceremony. The bride wore a handsome traveling suit and immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Balles left in an automobile for Greenville where they caught the Southern for New York for a week or ten days. Mrs. Balles is a charming and attractive young woman prominently associated in the church and social life of the city. She is also a sister of the five Drs. Sanders and Mr. Wade Sanders, the city engineer. Mr. Balles is one of Anderson's most prominent and successful business men, being at the head of one of the largest retail and wholesale houses in the city. Owing to the prominence and popularity of both Mr. and Mrs. Balles an unusual interest is felt in their marriage by their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Smith and son, Robert, of Newberry, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Sharpe at Rivoli are here, the guests of Mrs. T. L. Cely and Mrs. J. L. Tribble on their way to Hendersonville.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Smith have returned to Greenville after a visit to Mrs. T. L. Cely.

A LINE o' DOPE

A general sadness was cast of Williamston yesterday by the tragic death of little Roy Hand, the 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hand, who was burned to death when their home was destroyed by fire.

"He was my mainstay," declared Mr. Hand yesterday. "I could leave my store for hours at the time, and although quite young, I knew that he could take care of everything. He could take phone orders, see that they were delivered and do nearly everything around the store as well as I could myself. If I could only have rescued him from the flames," he ended.

Linked with the deep regrets of the Williamston people about the death of this bright young boy, there is highest praise for the work of his little sister who by her screams wakened her father and aroused him to the fact that the house was on fire, not only saving her life, her mother's little brother and sister downstairs, but who also woke three little sisters who were in the same room with her, afterwards throwing them into the waiting father's arms. She then tried to get to her brother Roy, but the flames were too much for her and she fell off the porch exhausted.

Mr. Hand stated yesterday that he was thankful for the assistance the people of Williamston had rendered and that all seemed to want to help him and sympathize with him.

Mr. R. S. Parker, of the firm of Parker & Bolt, who for the past two weeks has been in the northern markets, stated yesterday that there was a general opinion in the north that the European war would stop within the next 60 days.

Mr. Parker stated that he talked with a naturalized German citizen in New York who had three brothers fighting in the German army and that he was in close touch with affairs over there. He said that this man said that Germany had, but reached the end of her rope, and was soon going to have to sue for peace. He stated that conditions there were getting in bad shape and that she could not continue the fighting as has been going on for the past few months longer.

Mr. Parker also stated that from all appearances cotton would bring a good price this fall and that people in the north were looking to a big business in the next few months.

The vacation days are about over and many of the boys and girls of the city are preparing to return to their various colleges. Many will enter colleges over the state this year for the first time and they will be missed. Nearly all you can hear among the young people now is something about going off to school in the next few weeks.

FOURTH CLASS MAIL

Can Not Be Registered, But It May Be Insured.

Effective September 1, 1915, paragraph 2, section 468 of the postal laws and regulations is amended to read as follows:
Fourth class mail shall not be registered, but may be insured against loss in an amount equal to its actual value, but not to exceed $5 in any one case on payment of a fee of three cents, not to exceed $25 on payment of a fee of 5 cents, not to exceed $50 on payment of a fee of 10 cents, not to exceed $100 on payment of a fee of 25 cents, in addition to the postage, both to be prepaid by stamps affixed, but indemnity will not be allowed in cases of loss of such mail addressed to the Philippine Islands, unless the loss occurred in the postal service of the United States.

Barr-Broyles.

Miss Lina V. Barr and Mr. Frank E. Broyles, were married Wednesday morning at Ninety Six. The wedding was a quiet one, only the family and a few intimate friends being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. C. Morris at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Lipscomb.

The bride, whose home is at Leesville, is a recent graduate of Winthrop College and has many friends in this city.

Mr. Broyles is an Anderson boy but is making his home in Columbia, where he is in charge of the department of history in the Columbia high school.

The bride and groom left shortly after the ceremony for Hendersonville, N. C., to spend their honeymoon.

The One—"You say you are from London? That would make you a Londonite wouldn't it? By the way, have you another of those cigars?" The Other—"Certainly! And you say you are from Paris?"—Gargyle.

Dwarfs.
Purveyors of side-show amusements are agr ad, it is said, that dwarfs no longer may be counted upon to draw audiences no matter how gifted these Lilliputians may be. In Charles Starton, known the world over by his pseudonym of Tom Thumb, this country furnished the most attractive dwarf that ever exploited his accomplishments, and who as stated by his sponsor in what was considered the most "stunning" advertising of the day was "the delight of all the crowned heads of Europe" as well as of the uncrowned sovereigns of America.
Great as Tom Thumb was in his time, there were dwarfs preceding him that made most enviable reputations. Among these were Richard Gibson, age 75 at his death, July 23, 1690, and his widow, who died 13 years later, at the advanced age of 98. Gibson was a miniature painter—miniature in every sense of the phrase—as well as court dwarf to Charles I of England, and his wife, Ann Shepherd, was court dwarf to Queen Henrietta Maria. Her Majesty promoted a marriage between these two clever but diminutive persons, and the marriage proved a happy one. The little couple broke another established opinion—that dwarfs do not reproduce. They had nine children, five of whom lived to years of maturity and were of ordinary stature.—The Indianapolis News.
