WILL BUILD SCHOOL HOUSE WHITE PLAINS

WORK WILL BEGIN MONDAY ON A TWO STORY BUILDING

COOKING SCHOOL

Will Be Taught in Connection by Miss Jayne C. Garlington--Is Progressive District.

The erection of a new school building will start tomorrow morning at White Plains. Several weeks ago the patrons in that district voted on $2,800 bonds and this together with the $300 supplied by the county and the $300 given by the state department of education will be used for the purpose of building the new school house.

This district is one of the most progressive in Anderson county and on Friday they had a big picnic when speeches pertaining to the betterment of rural conditions were made and a canning demonstration was given. Miss Jane Garlington also made a talk about useful and economic utensils for the kitchen that she would like to give cooking lessons in that district provided it was agreeable with the patrons. She stated that it would take $5 to purchase the utensils necessary and one of the trustees immediately spoke up and said that he would give the required amount.

The building which is to be built will be two story structure, having four rooms and an auditorium. Another room may be added for the cooking school.

The principal of this thriving graded school is Miss Elizabeth Allgood. The trustees are Messrs. J. B. Spearman, chairman; C. J. Murphy and G. W. Durham.

THE INTELLIGENCER NOW HAS SPOONS FOR ELEVEN STATES

North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and Others.

Since the receipt of the shipment of Mississippi souvenir spoons, which came in yesterday, we now have souvenir spoons for eleven states: North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Delaware, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Since the weather has become cooler, quite a number of ladies have come in and bought souvenir spoons, saying that they had intended starting a collection of souvenir spoons before, but just kept putting it off. Several stated that they were buying them in sets of six to give to friends here and elsewhere for Christmas presents.

When you come to think of it, that is not a bad idea. Most every lady in the land wants souvenir spoons, and where can you get anything half as suitable and as acceptable as a set of six of these beautiful and serviceable Oneida Souvenir spoons, for ninety cents?

Remember please, that when we exhaust the supply of any state that we have on hand, that we will not reorder any more spoons of that particular state, so we would advise that you get your spoons NOW.

"Did your watch stop when you dropped it on the floor?" "Sure, you didn't think it would go on through, did you?"--Tale Record.

INTERESTING TALK IN REGARD TO THE WAR

IS HEARD ON STREETS OF ANDERSON ALMOST EVERY DAY

HAS OLD PAPERS

Mr. John Hubbard Has in His Possession Papers Once Stored in Old Court House.

Some gentlemen were discussing the European war the other day, when the question "When will the war cease?" came up. One gentleman went on to say that from what he could learn from the newspapers and magazines within the past three weeks, he was very hopeful of an early peace; that he had noticed several articles in different papers and magazines lately which emphasized the fact that the money of the nations at war was all below par, and steadily falling. He stated that he had seen from the paper that the English pound was down to four dollars and fifty cents, and the German mark was away below par; in fact, all the money of each warring nation was anywhere from ten to thirty five cents below par, and that if something wasn't done to bolster up the money, some one or more of these warring nations would be forced to suspend hostilities, simply for lack of funds.

Mr. John Hubbard, being asked his views upon the subject, stated: "Well, I was a small boy during the Civil war, but yet old enough to gain considerable knowledge of the events of that time; and I remember distinctly that about five or six months before the war closed I could buy Confederate dollars for five cents in silver. My father had given me small pieces of silver from time to time which I had saved, and when I found that I could buy Confederate dollars for five cents I got out my nickels and dimes and bought these dollars, thinking that I would make a lot of money. Along about this same time--that is about five or six months, and surely not over eight months before the war closed, my father bought Confederate bonds for gold United States money at ridiculously low prices, thinking that he was serving his cause, and at the same time, if the Confederate cause won out he would make considerable money, but alas, the war closed soon after, and these Confederate bonds and money were worth nothing except as souvenirs of a grand and glorious cause. I fully agree with you, I believe that the end of this terrible slaughter is near at hand, judging from the awful decline in the price of money of these warring nations." Very few people, no doubt, know of the very interesting historical documents that Mr. Hubbard has in his possession. Among others, he has several master rolls of the Confederate army, showing the names, companies and regiments, and commands of a great lot of soldiers who were absent from their command without leave. The manner in which Mr. Hubbard came into possession of these papers is rather strange. It appears that when Sherman was en route to Charleston the records and papers of the Confederate army were moved from there to Macon, Ga., and Anderson, and those brought here were stored in the old mint on University Hill until that building was torn down, and then these papers were packed away in the attic of the old court house and when it was torn down to make way for the present handsome structure these papers were either thrown away, or destroyed. Mr. Hubbard states that he found these papers which he now has, blowing around the streets.

TOTAL ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS TO DATE 743

IS APPROXIMATELY TWO-THIRDS ENROLLMENT ON FIRST DAY LAST YEAR

SCHOOL OPENS 13TH

Only About Five Out-of-Town Teachers and They Are Expected to Arrive Thursday.

The total advance enrollment of pupils for the city schools numbered 743 yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Supt. McCants closed his office for the day.

The office of the superintendent of the city schools were opened for the enrollment on September 1, and since that time Mr. McCants has been very busy. All of the students seem anxious to get back to work, judging by their desire to have their names enrolled as soon as possible.

The enrollment to date includes for the greater part pupils who will attend the Fant street school, Kennedy street or the West Market street school, since, as announced several days ago, teachers would be at the other schools for white children for the purpose of allowing them to enroll on next Friday.

On the opening day last year the three above mentioned schools had an enrollment of approximately 1,000 pupils. The number enrolled to date is approximately two-thirds of the number on opening day last year.

School will open on Monday, Sept. 13, and the teachers are expected to arrive about Thursday and Friday. There are only about five out-of-town teachers who will teach in the white graded schools of the city this year.

NEW BARBER SHOP

W. E. Raysor Will Have Place Open on 8th of Month.

Mr. W. E. Raysor stated yesterday that he would have his new barber shop, which is to be located in the store room formerly occupied by the Spot Cash Grocery, opened and ready for business on the 8th of this month. He has bought out the interest on Mr. W. Dean Simpson in the Hotel barber shop and this will be discontinued when the new one is opened for business.

Mr. Raysor stated that he had bought the most sanitary and modern fixtures for his new place that could be secured, having made a trip to Atlanta recently to get them.

In addition to the barber shop Mr. Raysor will have the little room next to the lobby in the Ligon and Ledbetter building fixed up for a strictly private place for ladies where they may go to have their face and scalp treated and hair dressed. This department will be in charge of an expert, A. B. Hallman, a chiropodist, will also be connected with the shop.

Mr. Raysor stated that he would have five barber chairs and would have a cigar stand in the front of the shop. He will also keep a full line of toilet waters and perfumes.
