LYCEUM COMMITTEE PLANNING PROGRAM

MORE TICKETS WILL HAVE TO BE PURCHASED AS GUARANTEE

SIX ATTRACTIONS

Of the Highest Class Have Been Booked But Association Must Have More Money to Close.

The ladies of the College association are trying to bring to Anderson during this winter a number of first-class lyceum attractions. They have selected six numbers which promises to be the best course that citizens of Anderson have ever had the privilege of attending. The course costs more than either of their previous courses, but they have lowered the price of season tickets to $3 for doubles, $1.75 for singles and $1.00 for school and children tickets. At these prices a very large subscription list has to be obtained to cover cost of the talent.

During the past week the ladies have been soliciting patronage. While the people have been quite liberal in subscribing, about one hundred more tickets have to be subscribed before the ladies have obtained enough to cover necessary guarantee and they have only a very short time in which to reach that amount. Lovers of music, lectures and dramatic art should at once give their subscriptions to the college or some member of the association. If one of the ladies cannot be seen, telephone Mrs. C. Sullivan, the president or the college and tell them how many tickets you will take.

This winter treat is to be opened in October with a concert given by the Lyceum Arts College Orchestra. The L. A. C. is a Chicago institution that prepares professionals for the lyceum. This orchestra originated in the college but this is their third season on the road and from the very first they have been a great success. Besides the orchestral numbers, there will be instrumental and vocal solos and recitations and vocal quartets. A varied and delightful evenings program.

Dr. Claxton, United States commissioner of education will probably be the one of the Carnegie peace foundation lecturers selected to appear in Anderson. Dr. Claxton has a national and international reputation and is moreover an orator of ability.

No words of praise are needed to a Southern community regarding Mrs. Pickett, widow of Gen. Pickett. Ever since she was "The Child Bride of the Confederacy" the South has followed her literary and public career with pride and affection.

In late January or early February two world famous grand opera singers will give a joint recital. Mrs. Evelyn Scotney and Howard White of the Boston grand opera company. Three of four years ago Mme. Scotney burst upon a Boston audience in a performance of "Lucia," that set that musical center wild. They compared her to Gettrazinni and Melba. Ever since she has been Boston's favorite singer.

Ralph Parlette quietly left his Ohio newspaper office fifteen years ago for the lyceum platform. In these intervening years he has appeared on nearly every large and important course in the country. He is in a class by himself, might call him an entertainer or a lecturer. He is a humorous philosopher. He makes people laugh and at the same time gives much food for thought. Has to be heard to be appreciated.

In March the course will be closed by one of the most unique and popular entertainments not on the platform. Miss Hettie Dunaway will give "The Lady of the Drorallon," a costumed monologue to the music accompaniment of Miss Aileen Foster. Miss Dunaway is a very handsome woman of the Southern type, a great artist and she has something entirely new to present.

Surely no one who reads the good things, the college ladies want to bring to Anderson this winter will allow the enterprise to fall down on account of lack of patronage. The college needs this course, Anderson needs it, the adults need it, the boys and girls especially need it. All must help to get this course and that includes the readers of this article.

A Narrow Escape.

"I'll give you a Hamburg steak," began the kind lady, "if you'll chop." Here the man darted out of the yard.

"If you'll chop the meat," she concluded. "Come back if you're hungry, I wouldn't think of asking you to chop wood."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

CORN CLUB STUDENTS HAVE LEFT CLEMSON

HAVE BEEN THERE FOR PAST FOUR WEEKS TAKING A SHORT COURSE

PRIZES OFFERED

For Two Best Drilled Boys in the Two Companies—Great Benefit to Those Attending.

The short course given at Clemson college for the winners in the various county corn clubs in South Carolina for last year has come to a close and yesterday morning the seventy-five boys left for their homes over the state. The short course has been a great success, the boys being trained in the many things that will enable them to be better farmers.

While at Clemson the boys were under a kind of military discipline and this past week prize drills were held. There were two companies, Company A and B, and prizes were offered for the two best drilled boys in each of these four prizes, there was a grand prize for the best drilled boy in both companies.

The winners from Company A were Tom Langford, Jasper county; and Wade Jenkins, Lancaster county; from Company B they were Thomas Zeigler of Orangeburg county and Daniel Young of Georgetown, who also won the grand prize. The boys were under the direction of Colonel Cummings, commandant and Capt. Duckett.

The course given to the corn club boys included a study in "Agriculture for School and Farm," a book prepared by the extension division of Clemson College. In this course they studied formation of soil, plants and how they grow, cover crops, summer legumes, diversification and rotation of crops, fertilizers, growth of cotton, corn, oats and wheat, feeding farm animals, livestock, and many other things that are of the most vital importance to the aggressive farmer. In connection with this class room work, the boys were given practical illustrations of the farms at the college.

OLD TIME CORAL JEWELRY

As Said to Be Fast Coming Back into Vogue.

In conversation with Mr. Babb of the firm of Marchbanks & Babb the other day Mr. Babb stated that the old time coral jewelry was coming back into vogue again; that they had in their window that is painted with allures and other neck pieces of red and pink coral that would prove very popular this fall. Mr. Babb also showed The Intelligencer man a Wedgewood cameo that he said was a very new thing in jewelry, and a very pretty one, too. Mr. Babb was very enthusiastic over that he considers the outlook for the fall and winter business. This progressive firm has a very pretty display of hand-painted china in their window that is painted by the well-known firm of Stodol of Chicago. The gold decorations are said to be twenty-two karat gold, and burned in so that it will never wash off. The display is well worth while seeing. Mr. Babb was showing these pretty things to the newspaper man, not with any hope of selling him, not with any hope of selling the newspapers have been hit by this war; he was simply enthusiastic about some of his new purchases for fall.
