"TIZ" FOR TIRED SORE, ACHING FEET

What relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet, swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, callouses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ".

His Misfortune

A horse dealer sold a horse to a farmer, assuring him it was a beauty, without a single fault. The farmer met the dealer some time after and said: "I consider you fairly swindled me with the horse you sold me, and I must have compensation."

His Best Was Broken

O. D. Wright, Rosemont, Neb., writes: "For about six months I was bothered with shooting and continual pains in the region of my kidneys. My rest was broken nearly every night by frequent action of my kidneys. I was advised by my doctor to try Foley Kidney Pills and one 50 cent bottle made a well man of me. I can always recommend Foley Kidney Pills for I know they are good."

PRINTER'S INK GREAT HELP TO HEALTH WORKERS

Edward A. Morse Tells Public Health Association Publicity is Saving More Lives Than Any One Agency.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—

"Printers ink is saving more lives than any other single agency employed by modern health-workers," said Edward A. Morse, assistant secretary of the New York State Charities Aid association, in an address today before the American Public Health association here.

"Printer's ink," said he, "should be entered in the pharmacopoeia as an accredited remedy for human ills. Among other things, it prevents tuberculosis and builds hospitals to cure it; it saves the lives of children and controls epidemics of small-pox. Thousands of babies are today alive in New York State largely because big doses of printer's ink were administered to the public by the state and local departments of health. One of the most important cities of this state endured an epidemic of smallpox that increased rapidly for a whole year. Then the newly reorganized department of health announced that its policy in dealing with local epidemics would be statewide publicity. When the people of that city realized that their lax health standards were to be spread broadcast through the pages of the newspapers and would come to the knowledge of the people of the whole state whose lives were being menaced, the officials of the city readily adopted the program of the state.

"You may cure individuals of their ills in the privacy of a sickroom, but to cure the public of its ills you must get into the newspapers.

"Public health work means effort to change the lives and habits of the people. In this respect the same principles apply as apply to the marketing a brand of beans. The bean man must change the lives and customs of the people with relation to his particular brand, we, in public health work, must change the lives and customs of the people with relation to sanitation, fresh air, eating, sleeping and drinking. The bean bakery will spend hundreds of thousands on advertising to put its particular brand of beans in the mouths of a million people. We, as a community, however, hesitate over spending a few thousand dollars to put health into the homes and minds of all the people.

"We will never reach goal or ultimate achievement in public health work until we realize that precisely the same principles govern the sale of public health to the community as govern the sale of beans, and garters, crackers and cordials. There is no reason why a community should not advertise its health work, and pay for it—advertise as intelligently and pay for it as liberally as a merchandiser.

"One of the greatest opportunities for public health work that counts is open to county, State and National medical societies. A nation-wide campaign of paid-for publicity on the part of patent medicines would either open the columns of the newspapers to the arguments against harmful nostrums or would place the publishers of the newspapers in an utterly indefensible position.

"The association has also found paid-for advertising space of tremendous value in campaigns for county tuberculosis hospitals. It will continue, I believe, to use that method of presenting the arguments in local as well as state campaigns, and if the success of a measure governs our future policy we will increase our use of advertising."

Newspaper Has Recommended It.

R. R. Wentworth of the St. James (Mo.) News, writes: "Two months ago I took a severe cold which settled in my lungs and I had such pains in my lungs I feared pneumonia. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it straightened me up immediately. I can recommend it to be a genuine cough and lung medicine. Many mothers write this reliable medicine cured their children of croup. Hay fever and asthma sufferers say it gives quick relief. Sold everywhere.

Educating Him.

Yells from the nursery brought the mother, who found the baby gleefully pulling small Billy's curls. "Never mind, darling," she comforted. "Baby doesn't know now it hurts."

Half an hour later wild shrieks from the baby made her run again to the nursery. "Why, Billy!" she cried. "What is the matter with the baby?" "Nothing madder," said Billy, calmly. "only now he knows!"—Harper's.

LUTHERAN GENERAL COUNCIL MEETING

Thirty-Fifth Biennial Session Convened Today at Rock Island, Ill.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 8.—The general council of the Lutheran church in America, which is said to represent about 750,000 communicants, will begin its 35th biennial convention here tomorrow. Among the more important matters that will come up for consideration will be foreign mission work, which is particularly strong in the far east. German Lutheran missions in India have suffered because since the European war began aid has not been forthcoming from the home country, and on account of this the American Lutherans have been appealed to for help. The problem of the English home missions in Canada is also said to be one of the most pressing matters.

The approach in 1917 of the 400th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation under Martin Luther, will occupy much attention. A movement is in progress to unite all sections of the Lutheran church in this country in a grand jubilee celebration and in fact, overtures have been made to have representatives of all protestant churches give special attention to this Quadracentennial Jubilee. A feature of the Lutheran church celebration is the planning for a large memorial fund to be used for all forms of church work. The proposal will be made to other sections of the church to unite in raising a $10,000,000 fund.

ALFONSO ABANDONS VISIT TO AMERICA

Says it is Impossible to Prophecy End of War—Strength Best Safeguard.

Paris, Sept. 8.—King Alfonso of Spain abandoned his plan to visit America because of the war, he told Senor Covillier, an Argentine journalist, during an audience at which the war was discussed.

"It is impossible to prophecy when the war will end," said the king. "After the conflict the work will be enormous. Nations will arm more than ever. When one sees Belgium, whose neutrality was agreed to by all nations, finding defense only in an armed force, it is easy to understand that countries realize the necessity in time of peace of surrounding themselves with the most positive of guarantees."

The king said that even pacifists recognize that after the war there is no better safeguard for rights than strength.

Visitor—Your church is a beauty that handsome house next door is the paragon. I presume?

Deacon de Good—"N-o. Fact is, the paragon is some distance uptown, but we intend to make an offer for one of these nearby residences soon."

Visitor—"The price will be high, no doubt."

Deacon de Good—"H'm! I think not. We shan't try to buy until after our new chimneys are put in."—New York Weekly.

Gentleman—"What would you do with a nickel if I gave you one?" "Trump (sarcastically)—Get a new rig, mister, a' some supper an', a night's lodgin' an' breakfast an' dinner tomorrow."

Gentleman—"My good fellow, take this quarter and support yourself for the rest of your life."—Boston Transcript.

Village Storekeeper (as pastor executes a masterly retreat from his store)—"Dinged old hypocrite! This is the same lead quarter I put in the collection last Sunday!"—Judge.

None Equal to Chamberlain's.

COTTON GINNED TO SEPT. FIRST

First Report of Season Shows 461,537 Bales Ginned Prior to First of This Month—Less Than Figures Same Date Last Year.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Cotton of the growth of 1915 ginned prior to September 1 amounted to 461,537 bales, counting round as half bales, according to the first ginning report of the season issued today by the bureau of the census. That compared with 480,317 bales or 3 per cent of the entire crop, ginned to September 1 last year, 799,099 bales, or 5.7 per cent of the entire crop, ginned to that date in 1913 and 730,884 bales, or 5.4 per cent of the entire crop, ginned to that date in 1912.

Ginnings prior to September 1, by states, with comparisons for the last three years, follow:

Table with columns: Year, Alabama, Bales. Rows for Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas.

The next ginning report will be issued Saturday, October 2, at 10 a. m. eastern time.

Murphy's Dilemma

"Shure, Pat," said Murphy, "betting's a shockin' bad habit." "Shure, Murphy," said Pat. "But why?" "Ye know Costigan?" "Troth I do." "Well," said Murphy, "he bet me a sixpence to a shilling that I couldn't swallow an egg without breaking the shell of it." "And did ye lose the bet?" asked Pat. "No, Pat, I won it," replied Murphy. "Then phawt's allin' ye?" "Shure, it's the egg that's allin' me," groaned Murphy. "If I jump about I'll break it and cut me stomach wid the shell an' if I kape quiet it'll hatch an' I'll have a Shanghai rooster scratchin' me inside."—Pearson's.

To the Public.

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Witherall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." For sale by all dealers.

Grandma Used Sage Tea To Darken Hair

She Mixed Sulphur With it to Restore Color, Gloss, Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of sandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, coating about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyoth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyoth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.
