

CLASSIFIED COLUMN

WANT ADVERTISING RATES
 Twenty-five words or less, One Time 25 cents, Three Times 50 cents, Six Times $1.00.
 All advertisement over twenty-five words prorate for each additional word. Rates on 1,000 words to be used in a month made on application.
 No advertisement taken for less than 25 cents, cash in advance.
 If your name appears in the telephone directory you can telephone your want ad to 321 and a bill will be mailed after its insertion for prompt payment.

WANTS

WANTED—Experienced salesman at once. Send reference with first letter. Apply or address Anderson Dry Goods Company. 9-16-15.

WANTED—A competent combination bookkeeper and stenographer. State experience and salary expected. Address X. Y. Z., care Intelligencer. 9-14-15.

WANTED—50 to 100 head of first class, sound mules, 4 to 8 years of age. We are not buying for the war. Want more class, and willing to pay better price. The Fretwell Company. 8-22-15.

WANTED—You to know that I am this season handling the Genuine Tennessee Blue Gem Coal, and not asking anymore for it than you have paid for inferior coals. I have a stock of the best wood in town on hand. Give me a trial. W. O. Ulmer, Phone 649.

WANTED—Every house keeper in Anderson to try a loaf of "Aunt Mary's Cream Bread." It's made at home and your grocer keeps it. Anderson Pure Food Co. 8-15-15

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Latest model No. 9. Oliver typewriter brand new. Never out of the box since received. Address C. C. care of Intelligencer. 9-15-15.

FOR SALE—Onion sets; White Pearl, Bermuda, Prize Taken, Silver, Skin, Yellow Danvers, and Multipliers. This is planting season. Furman Smith, Seedsmen.

FOR SALE—Nice five room Bungalow with every modern convenience, and located in a splendid neighborhood on Webb street. Will sacrifice for quick sale. J. F. McClure, Jr., 211 Webb St., Phone 843 9-12-15.

LOST

LOST—New street car hood of tickets in front of Hubbard's Jewelry store Wednesday afternoon about 7 o'clock. Finder will receive reward by returning to this office. 9-16-15.

LOST—On Tuesday afternoon about 6 o'clock one black watch fob with small white elephant attached, property of Clement C. Hall. Suitable reward if returned to this office. 9-15-15.

FOUND

FOUND—In North Anderson two cows, one bull and one heifer. Owner can have same by proving property and paying expenses. Julian A. Barber care Dr. Breedin's residence, North Anderson. 9-16-15.

FOUND—Baby's locket and chain. Owner can get same by applying to undersigned and paying for ad. J. S. McClellan at Townsend Lumber Co. 9-16-15.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR RENT—House and 2 acres of land and plenty of fruit in Townville. Price reasonable. See Mrs. J. E. Wooten, Townville or T. F. Wright care Davis Bros. Stable, Anderson. 9-15-15.

RENT COLLECTING a Specialty. List your houses with me. Houses and lots for sale on easy terms. I deal with all clients on a just and reliable basis. Office on the square. W. C. Broadwell. 9-15-15.

We have employed an expert PIANO TUNER, who will give prompt and careful attention to orders left with us. C. A. Reed, Piano & Organ Co., 314 S. Main St. 9-1-15.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO DAILY INTELLIGENCER AT REDUCED PRICE—During the Daily Intelligencer contest which closed March, 1914, in order to secure votes to win the capital prize, I purchased a number of subscriptions to the Daily Intelligencer at the rate of $5.00 a year. In order to get some of the money back which I put into the contest, I will sell a limited number of subscriptions to the Daily Intelligencer at the rate of $3.90 a year to anyone wishing to subscribe or renew their subscription to this paper, or at a rate of $1.25 a year to the Semi-weekly Intelligencer. If interested, address P. O. Box 347, Anderson, S. C. 6-17-15

WHEN YOU can not see right step in our Optical Department and get just the Glasses you need. Complete grinding plant. Eyes scientifically tested. Dr. M. R. Campbell, Louisa B. Hiltgenbocker, assistant, 113 W. Whitner St., Ground Floor.

DOCKET IS CLEARED; COURT IS ADJOURNED

THREE CASES DISPOSED OF DURING YESTERDAY

TWO NOT GUILTY

New Trial Refused in the Hubbard Case—Civil Court Will Convene October 4.

The court of general sessions adjourned yesterday afternoon shortly after 6 o'clock. The docket was cleared with the exception of two cases; one of these resulted in a mistrial and in the other Judge Moore ordered a new trial.

Yesterday morning the case of Henry Walker, charged with house-breaking and larceny, was resumed and the arguments on both sides made. A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury.

The next case taken up was that of George Link, indicted for house-breaking and larceny. A verdict of not guilty was returned in this case. The next case to occupy the attention of the court was that of J. P. McCann, also indicted for house-breaking and larceny. He was found guilty and was sentenced to 12 months hard labor in the state penitentiary or on the public works of Anderson county.

After this case was finished Mr. A. H. Dagnall, attorney, made an appeal for a new trial in the case of W. L. Hubbard, tried and found guilty of violation of the dispensary law. Judge Moore refused a new trial. The sentence of the court in this case was that the defendant pay a fine of $100 or serve three months. On October 4, civil court will convene with Judge Ernest Moore presiding. This is only a short time off, two weeks from next Monday.

THE BROKEN COIN UNIVERSAL AT THE BIJOU TODAY

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

The regular examination for teachers will be held in the court house on Friday, October 1st, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. Persons interested are asked to take notice.

J. B. Felton, Supt. of Education.

Charleston & Western Carolina Railway

Augusta, Ga.

To and From the NORTH, SOUTH, EAST, WEST Leaves:

No. 22 6:08 A. M.
 No. 6 3:37 P. M.

Arrives:
 No. 21 11:15 A. M.
 No. 5 3:07 P. M.

Information, Schedules, rates, etc., promptly given.

PIEDMONT & NORTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

ANDERSON:

Condensed Passenger Schedule. Effective June 6, 1915.

Arrivals
No. 21	7:35 A. M.
No. 33	9:35 A. M.
No. 35	11:40 A. M.
No. 37	1:10 P. M.
No. 39	3:40 P. M.
No. 41	6:00 P. M.
No. 43	6:50 P. M.
No. 45	10:20 P. M.
Departures
No. 36	6:25 A. M.
No. 32	8:25 A. M.
No. 34	10:30 A. M.
No. 38	12:10 P. M.
No. 38	2:30 P. M.
No. 40	4:50 P. M.
No. 42	5:40 P. M.
No. 44	8:15 P. M.

C. S. ALLEN, Traffic Manager.

COTTON 15 CENTS SCALES PREDICTS

Noted New York Speculator Foresees Great Demand in Case of Peace.

The cotton situation, apropos the war, the probable yield of this year's crop and the consumption, in the event that the struggle continues and also in the event that peace is declared, continues to be the uppermost topic in the minds of factors generally, at home and abroad. The most interesting development recently has been the practical solution of the financial problem designed to aid the Southern farmer in holding his staple or selling it gradually as the demands stated that it is distinctly up to the farmer himself as to whether he will of the situation require. It may be market his cotton gradually or dump upon the market as in former years. The developments abroad are coming in for their share of discussion and the speculators in New York are working early and late in trying to forecast developments.

The New York Times carries an interesting interview with Mr. Eugene G. Scales Saturday, which furnishes interesting reading. It follows:

"Eugene G. Scales, who operated with James A. Patten in the 1909 cotton pool as a member of the so-called 'Big Four,' and who was reputed to have made and lost a fortune of $10,000,000, is a bull in the present cotton market. Mr. Scales talked for publication yesterday. It was the second time in his life that he ever did such a thing, but as he put it, he felt he was justified. The first time was in 1909, when another big cotton operator tried to promote a plan for boarding cotton in the South. 'E. G.' as the street calls Mr. Scales thought such a plan would be ruinous and he told his Texas friends not to be foolish."

"Yesterday it was the European war that caused 'E. G.' to talk. There was such confusion in the minds of cotton growers and dealers as to the effect of the war on cotton, he said, that an 'old timer' might help to classify the situation."

"And don't think I'm going to give you an optimistic interview because of my market position, said the operator. 'Today I am long less than 5,000 bales of cotton. I have studied the cotton market intensely for 20 years, and am basing my calculations on the government's figures.'"

As to Short Sellers. "E. G." said short sellers of cotton had better "go into hibernation" before it was too late. Every sign indicated a general prosperity, he insisted, and cotton would share in that prosperity. The South was fortified with plenty of money, he said, and would prevent any repetition of last year's calamity in the cotton trade. The bears were all wrong, he said, and would soon find out that their arguments were not well founded.

"This is a time for optimists, the cotton speculator said, and the government's figures showing a 16 per cent reduction in acreage, should convince any one of that. While admitting that a sudden peace would unsettle the market temporarily, he gave it as his view that within a month after peace was declared there would be a great scrambling among nations for this country's cotton."

"I can see nothing but good business in America, at least for the next few years," said Mr. Scales. "The steel mills are busy, and that is the test. America has the stuff to sell, and big business must be the result."

"The cotton mills are not loaded up with cotton, and neither are the merchants, wholesalers, or retailers. They are all carrying the minimum of cotton in stock. These people must buy eventually. In addition, Europe will use a great deal more of cotton in the next few years than she used in the last few years. Things once made of silk in Europe will be made of cotton after the war is over. My idea is that the stocks of dry goods throughout the world are down to low ebb, other countries being worse off than America."

"So I maintain most strongly that there is an enormous short interest in cotton. America next season will consume between 6,500,000 and 7,000,000 bales of cotton. Europe takes 65 per cent of our cotton. The short interest in actual cotton is the most enormous in the history of the cotton trade."

"In this connection, Mr. Scales maintained that when the buying of the mill owners did begin in earnest they would find themselves in competition with the speculators. There would be a wave of speculation, he said, similar to that in the stock market when the war stocks adjusted themselves in new conditions."

Germany. "There's Germany," continued the cotton man. The other day she offered to buy 1,000,000 bales of cotton at 15 cents a pound, delivered in Bremen. Before this year's crop has passed away Germany will buy that cotton and store it in America awaiting peace for its shipments, and Germany will pay 15 cents for it here."

"Well, what do you think will happen to the price of cotton? a reporter asked."

"Now, I am not going to advise farmers what to do with their cotton, he replied. I can only give them my idea of the future price. I am firmly convinced that the present price is ridiculously low, and those farmers who are selling cotton at present prices are deceiving no one but themselves, and are robbing no one but their own wives and children."

"In my opinion, cotton during this season will sell very high—how

COTTON 15 CENTS SCALES PREDICTS

Noted New York Speculator Foresees Great Demand in Case of Peace.

The cotton situation, apropos the war, the probable yield of this year's crop and the consumption, in the event that the struggle continues and also in the event that peace is declared, continues to be the uppermost topic in the minds of factors generally, at home and abroad. The most interesting development recently has been the practical solution of the financial problem designed to aid the Southern farmer in holding his staple or selling it gradually as the demands stated that it is distinctly up to the farmer himself as to whether he will of the situation require. It may be market his cotton gradually or dump upon the market as in former years. The developments abroad are coming in for their share of discussion and the speculators in New York are working early and late in trying to forecast developments.

The New York Times carries an interesting interview with Mr. Eugene G. Scales Saturday, which furnishes interesting reading. It follows:

"Eugene G. Scales, who operated with James A. Patten in the 1909 cotton pool as a member of the so-called 'Big Four,' and who was reputed to have made and lost a fortune of $10,000,000, is a bull in the present cotton market. Mr. Scales talked for publication yesterday. It was the second time in his life that he ever did such a thing, but as he put it, he felt he was justified. The first time was in 1909, when another big cotton operator tried to promote a plan for boarding cotton in the South. 'E. G.' as the street calls Mr. Scales thought such a plan would be ruinous and he told his Texas friends not to be foolish."

"Yesterday it was the European war that caused 'E. G.' to talk. There was such confusion in the minds of cotton growers and dealers as to the effect of the war on cotton, he said, that an 'old timer' might help to classify the situation."

"And don't think I'm going to give you an optimistic interview because of my market position, said the operator. 'Today I am long less than 5,000 bales of cotton. I have studied the cotton market intensely for 20 years, and am basing my calculations on the government's figures.'"

As to Short Sellers. "E. G." said short sellers of cotton had better "go into hibernation" before it was too late. Every sign indicated a general prosperity, he insisted, and cotton would share in that prosperity. The South was fortified with plenty of money, he said, and would prevent any repetition of last year's calamity in the cotton trade. The bears were all wrong, he said, and would soon find out that their arguments were not well founded.

"This is a time for optimists, the cotton speculator said, and the government's figures showing a 16 per cent reduction in acreage, should convince any one of that. While admitting that a sudden peace would unsettle the market temporarily, he gave it as his view that within a month after peace was declared there would be a great scrambling among nations for this country's cotton."

"I can see nothing but good business in America, at least for the next few years," said Mr. Scales. "The steel mills are busy, and that is the test. America has the stuff to sell, and big business must be the result."

"The cotton mills are not loaded up with cotton, and neither are the merchants, wholesalers, or retailers. They are all carrying the minimum of cotton in stock. These people must buy eventually. In addition, Europe will use a great deal more of cotton in the next few years than she used in the last few years. Things once made of silk in Europe will be made of cotton after the war is over. My idea is that the stocks of dry goods throughout the world are down to low ebb, other countries being worse off than America."

"So I maintain most strongly that there is an enormous short interest in cotton. America next season will consume between 6,500,000 and 7,000,000 bales of cotton. Europe takes 65 per cent of our cotton. The short interest in actual cotton is the most enormous in the history of the cotton trade."

"In this connection, Mr. Scales maintained that when the buying of the mill owners did begin in earnest they would find themselves in competition with the speculators. There would be a wave of speculation, he said, similar to that in the stock market when the war stocks adjusted themselves in new conditions."

Germany. "There's Germany," continued the cotton man. The other day she offered to buy 1,000,000 bales of cotton at 15 cents a pound, delivered in Bremen. Before this year's crop has passed away Germany will buy that cotton and store it in America awaiting peace for its shipments, and Germany will pay 15 cents for it here."

"Well, what do you think will happen to the price of cotton? a reporter asked."

"Now, I am not going to advise farmers what to do with their cotton, he replied. I can only give them my idea of the future price. I am firmly convinced that the present price is ridiculously low, and those farmers who are selling cotton at present prices are deceiving no one but themselves, and are robbing no one but their own wives and children."

"In my opinion, cotton during this season will sell very high—how

First Year Values

The first year values of Mutual Benefit policies constitute an attractive feature for the protection of the insured. While most companies grant non-forfeiture values after three years' and some after two years' premiums have been paid, the Mutual Benefit is the only company whose policies provide for extended insurance when less than two annual premiums have been paid. Nearly all Mutual Benefit policies provide for extended insurance after the payment of only one annual premium and in some cases after the payment of a semi-annual or quarterly premium.

On May 13, 1913, the Mutual Benefit issued a policy on the life of Mr. Albert R. Cate, of Spring City, Tenn. It was on the 20 Payment Life Plan for $1,000, the age of the insured being twenty-one. Semi-annual premiums were paid for one and one-half years, but the premium due October 1, 1914 (policy having been dated back to the first of April originally), was not paid. Under the peculiarly attractive non-forfeiture system of the Mutual Benefit referred to above the insurance, however, was automatically extended in full for two years and 153 days until March 3, 1917, the final dividend of $3.31 being used to lengthen the extension term. On June 8, 1915, Mr. Cate was accidentally drowned. This was within the extension period during which the insurance was insured, so on the day after proofs of loss were received at the Home Office, July 1st, check for $1,000 was forwarded to the administrator.

This case not only illustrates the value of the Mutual Benefit's practical non-forfeiture system, but it also emphasizes the uncertainty of individual life even for a young man.

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

M. M. MATTISON, GENERAL AGENT.

C. W. Webb, District Agent.

J. J. Trowbridge, Special Agent.

C. E. Tribble, Special Agent.

Anderson, S. C.

Bleckley Building

FIRESTONE TIRES

Represent the utmost service, safety, mileage and pleasure obtainable from an Auto-Vacation trip.

TODD AUTO SHOP

Opposite The Palmetto N. Main.

high I do not believe any cotton man can guess within two cents a pound. It will go two cents a pound higher than the normal range of vision of even an optimist.

"What I say, of course, is on the assumption that the war will continue for another year or two. I do not believe there is a man living who would be willing to be short of cotton overnight at 13 cents a pound if he knew that peace would be declared. You can say for me, however, that I personally would not be short and guarantee to stay short one month after peace was declared, even if the price were 15 cents a pound. If peace were declared Germany and Austria would want 3,000,000 bales out of this crop, an amount too large to give them out of a crop of only 12,000,000 bales. Cotton would leap, not by points but by cents."

THE BROKEN COIN UNIVERSAL AT THE BIJOU TODAY

MADE DAILY

All Pork Sausage and Mixed Sausage

MADE DAILY

Since the first of the month we are making all pork and mixed sausage daily and it is as fine as we ever saw.

We also have all kinds of good, rich tender beef at prices that will tickle your palate.

Prompt Delivery.

Sanitary Market

Frank Dobbins, Mgr. Phone 755.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

FOR SACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

If it's good, dependable Casings and Tubes you want to buy the PULLMAN. All sizes and styles.

Sullivan Hardware Co.

31 OILS ANYTHING CLEANS, POLISHES EVERYTHING PREVENTS RUST EVERYWHERE

All this One has been for 18 years the Old Reliable, largest selling home and office oil. It is light enough to oil a watch; heavy enough to oil a lava lamp. On a soft cloth it becomes an excellent furniture polish. Makes a grade of shoe polish, the best and cheapest. And it is absolutely safe on all metal surfaces, indoors and out, in any climate. Free Sample. Write for free general catalogue and the Dictionary of uses—each worth 25¢. One will receive in 2 days. Address: The (L. & S. Co.), 250 E. 12th St., New York City. Also in patented Handy Oil Can, 25¢ each. 3-IN-ONE OIL COMPANY, INC. 42 E. 12th St. New York City

CHICORA BANK

Pelzer, S. C.

Capital and Surplus $125,000.00 Collections Given Careful Attention
 Ellison A. Smyth, W. E. Greer, President, Cashier.
 R. E. Tollison, Asst. Cashier.

BANK OF BELTON

Belton, S. C.

Capital and Surplus $100,000.00 Collections Given Prompt Attention
 Ellison A. Smyth, W. E. Greer, President, V. P. and Cashier.
 H. R. Campbell, Asst. Cashier.