 A beautiful party for Tuesday evening was given by Miss Elizabeth Van Wyck in honor of Miss Lucy Carpenter of Washington, D. C., the charming guest of Mrs. C. B. Earle. This is Miss Carpenter's old home, and her visits are always a source of pleasure to her many friends here. In spite of the rain the attractive Van Wyck home was bright and cozy, and it was a merry and congenial party of young people who were her guest on this occasion. Mrs. T. R. Shuford met the guest at the door, while Miss Van Wyck and Miss Carpenter received in the handsome parlor, which was filled with the fragrance of many lovely flowers. A charming red color scheme with red dahlias was used in the living room with pink dahlias in the dining room. Here an elegant two course menu was daintily served. About sixty guests were present, and the time pleasantly spent playing progressive rook.

RED ROSE COSTUMES DEMAND GENTLE TOUCH

Daintily Tinted Fineries of Big Musical Comedy Require Enormous Care.

There are difficulties associated with the tour of a big musical comedy which can be overcome only by everlastingly watching every detail and by keeping a rigid artistic censorship upon it at every angle.

In "The Red Rose," for instance, the rose tour has developed one problem, which although it never appeared during the New York run of a year at the Globe theatre, now keeps those in charge of the big production on edge day and night. This is the safe handling of a small mountain of fluffy wardrobe fineries, almost every item of which is a fragile creation in filmy textures and delicate, perishable tints. When New York and Paris costumes designed the wardrobe of "The Red Rose," they followed the orders of John C. Fisher, to match the costumes to the delicacy of tone and exquisite taste carried out so consistently in every phase of the action and all the melodic accompaniment of its musical score. These artists created beautiful and wondrous gowns and gaudes, but they did not calculate upon wear and tear of packing and unpacking as that must be endured by ordinary toilettes of attractions sent on tour.

In organizing this season for the tour that is to bring "The Rose" here tomorrow night, a man was appointed to do nothing else but watch every move in the handling of the wardrobe. He travels ahead of the show and sees that everything back stage is made spic and span before its arrival. All dressing room walls are covered with white sheeting. Hangers everywhere are provided with tissue covers and strips of white cotton are laid for "falls" from dressing rooms to stage entrances. This, it was found, is the only way in which the piece retains the appearance of freshness and charm all the time and creates stage pictures delightful to look upon.

The mistress of wardrobe and her vigilant assistant are constantly on watch during a performance. If there is the slightest suggestion of a rip in a gown it goes to the temporary workshop and is immediately restored to its original condition. If it is one of those grievous cases where the damage cannot be repaired, it is replaced with an identical substitute from a duplicate set of costumes kept on hand in New York.

All these details make up a trying and wearisome day with the big organization, but they are vital to the high standard that means success for modern day theatrical attractions. The John C. Fisher trademark in the show world is the best that may be had, for never has he permitted to be associated with anything but the highest quality established by him with his first great success "Florodora."

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.
