Were you at the great closing-out sale of the C. A. Reed Piano Co's stock yesterday? It was somewhat of a rush, was it not? Well, considering the way good pianos are selling at the sale, can you wonder at the throngs that crowd the store? When you consider that such pianos as the "Kranich & Bach," "Ivers & Bonds," "Chickering Bros," "Smith & Barnes," "Maxwell," "Krell-French" and others are selling at reductions of $150 to $225, do you wonder that the people are attending this sale by the hundreds?

Choice of two elegant $400 uprights, different makes, one a Colonial style, one with beautifully carved panels, only $208.
Choice of a number of the very best and highest grade uprights, in mahogany, rosewood, English oak cases the greatest bargains ever offered in pianos, regular prices $450, $475, $500 and $550, cut to $282, $297, $312, $337 to $378.

No matter what you may want in an instrument, whether it be a grand or upright, a used upright, square piano or an organ, we have it here for you, and at just about half the price you expected to pay some day.
Please do not overlook the fact that we have a large stock of organs suitable for home, church, school or lodge that we must close out before Saturday night. About half of these organs are now some slightly used or shop-worn, others are second-hand, and all priced accordingly. If you will get here this week you can secure one at any price you may want to pay from $8, $12, $17, $28, $37, to $57, for some of the very best styles and makes.

Yesterday was the banner day of this banner sale. If every day's selling is like Monday and Tuesday's then this entire stock will be gone by the end of the week.

Therefore it behooves you to get here at the earliest possible moment if you wish your favorite piano at the most remarkable saving ever known, and on terms to suit.

A thoroughly reliable upright, mahogany, latest style; other stores charge you $235 for this grade. Our sale price only $168.

Narrow Escape.

"Now, translate, please," said the professor, after the student had read aloud the passage from Demosthenes, relating The New York Post.
Impossible. That is the last part of it did not look so hard, but the first clause—hopless! The rhetoric of the great Athenian orator, a tangled wilderness of words, barred the way on all sides.
"Perhaps you'd better read the lines over to yourself once more," said the professor, peering through his big spectacle, and looking like a benevolent owl. "Meantime, we'll take up the next passage."
Reading over again will not help, thought the tortured young man, staring dully at the world-puzzle in front of him. And no more it did.
The next passage was disposed of. "Well," said the professor. "Grim silence. Then: 'Perhaps you are at loss for a word?' murmured the owl. "What word is it?"
"What word? What dozen words? And yet maybe the translation of ease of the host of unknowns might afford a gleam of light. Which word should a desperate gambler choose? Which?"
Cold beads of perspiration bedewed his brow and hands, when he woke with a gasp and a start. And he knew that he was saved, although a shell had burst not 50 steps from the shelter where he lay.

In His Machine.

(Everything.)
Senator Overman journeyed to Washington from Salisbury in his automobile. That was a delightful trip and was cheaper than going by train and paying $60 to send the machine up by freight. The roads are good and when senators and congressmen get to journeying to Washington over them we feel that we can some day count on great national highways built by the government. And we should have them.

Texas 700,000 Bales Short.

Texas is over 700,000 bales of cotton short of 1914 to October 18. When the crop is all in the shortage will be more than one and a half million still the value of the crop is about as large as last year. In 1914 the price is bound to be good again and the question is will the people in central and west Texas be able to get a fair share of the money that cotton will bring? The reporter would not be understood as advocating a one-crop policy. We think that would be as unwise as not to plant cotton at all, but a certain amount of cotton is necessary. The boll weevil must be reckoned with and the farmers of this part of Texas will be compelled to take all of the short cuts to beat the pest to the crop. Early planting, single stalk cotton, wide rows and constant cultivation will do the work, provided the old staks and a-1 vegetation around the fence corners are destroyed during the fall and winter by deep plowing or burning.

A Bachelor with $1,000,000.

"A bachelor with $1,000,000 has a hard time escaping matrimony in New York," Very probably. But a bachelor with a larger wad might buy one of the new style $18,000,000 battle-ships and anchor off Sandy Hook, Louisville Courier-Journal.

WINS CASH PRIZES FOR WINDOW DISPLAY

MR. GEORGE FANT SUCCESSFUL IN CURTIS PUBLISHING CO. CONTESTS

WON TEN PRIZES

Has Check for Amount of Four Prizes Taken in Latest Display Contest.

Mr. George Fant, of the Fant's Book Store has been the winner of ten cash prizes for the best window displays with the products of the Curtis Publishing company. Seven prizes were won by him in previous contests, and today he received a letter from the company telling him of the winning of four more prizes. In this lot, there was one prize of $15, and three others of $5 each. The following letter was received by Mr. Fant:

"Dear Sir: One of your displays in the recent Country Gentleman contest has been awarded twelfth prize of $15.00, and each of the other three displays has been awarded a $5.00 prize. A check for the full amount of $30.00 is inclosed. The judges in this contest were: Henry C. Brown, Advertising manager of The Victor Talking Machine company, manufacturers of Campbell's soup, and the editor of The News-Dealer. The complete list of the one hundred prize winners, also the winner of the special capital prize of $100.00 awarded to the dealer who made the three best displays in the three contests, will be published in the November issue of The News-Dealer, a copy of which will be sent to you."

Mr. Fant has entered the contests as they have been inaugurated by the publishing company and has been very successful in his part of the work. His decorating has been tasty and attractive and does credit to any experienced window dresser, as the results of nation-wide contests have shown.

SOCIETY

Miss Nellie Duncan of Barnwell is visiting Miss Mab Donham.

Mrs. W. Frank Bird of Atlanta is visiting Mrs. Hugh B. Fitzgerald.

Mission Study Class of St. John's Methodist church will meet this afternoon at four o'clock at the home of Mrs. Eamus Henderson on Marshall avenue.

Miss Bessie Daniels of Marion is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. C. O'Dell.

The Senior Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon at four o'clock with Mrs. Bluff Crayton and Mrs. Keith Prevost at the home of Mrs. Prevost.

Mrs. Lon Holeman and mother, Mrs. S. L. Smith of Tazewell were shopping in Anderson last Wednesday.

John D. Rockefeller left Cleveland for a two months' stay and went back to Pocahontas hills, his New York estate. His last act on the platform of the East One Hundred and Fifth Street was characteristic.

Solemnly shaking the hand of his 12-year-old grandnephew, little Edward Roberts, he drew out a handful of coins—the majority of which were bright new pennies—and gave the child a penny. As the boy dropped the coin and recovered it he added a smile to the gift.

"Goodbye, Edward," Rockefeller said. "Be a good little man and put the money in your savings bank."

Only the fourth. A clergyman has performed the marriage ceremony of a couple, under took to write out the usual certificate, says The Kansas City Independent, but being in doubt as to the day of the month he asked: "What is the month, is it not?" "Why, parson," said the blushing bride, "you do all my marrying and you ought to remember that this is only the fourth."

NO FURTHER TROUBLE AT BROGON YESTERDAY

Work of Loading Cars Continued Without Interference On Part of Strikers.

When the attempt to load goods on freight cars was made at Erogon mill Wednesday there was no sign of interference by the strikers, and the day passed very quietly. During the morning, two cars were loaded with goods and these are now ready to be shipped.

Shoriff Ashley visited the mill during the first part of the morning, and, anticipating no violence, went to Greenwood to attend federal court in session there.

The cars were loaded during the morning and two other cars were loaded during the afternoon. There was no act on the part of the strikers to prevent either loading or shipping, and things seem to have quieted down to normal.

ASKS BRYAN TO RETRACT

Navy League Invites His Inquiry to Probe Armor Plate Ring Desires to Subsidize It.

(Washington Dispatch.) The navy league of the United States through its secretary has sent a letter to ex-Secretary Bryan inviting him to call at the league's offices in the southern building here and make a thorough inspection of the league's accounts and subscription lists.

The navy league's letter was sent as a result of frequent charges which Mr. Bryan has made both in his paper. The Commerce and in his speeches, to the effect that the navy league was supported by a body of malefactors of great wealth allied with the alleged armor plate ring for the purpose of maintaining a clamor of war and improving business in armor plate. According to Secretary Arthur H. Daddman of the league the latter never has at any time received any contribution from the armor plate ring and does not know of the existence of any such body.

"The motives of the thousands who support the navy league are beyond question unselfish and patriotic," said Mr. Daddman. "A report now being prepared by Marwick, Mitchell, Pratt & Co., chartered accountants, who have just finished an exhaustive examination of our books and records covering the past—30 months," will prove this statement beyond dispute.

"We have nearly 12,000 members in the navy league proper and in the woman's section of the league there are about 30,000 representative American women. The books of the navy league are and always have been open to public inspection and we are at all times most pleased to render a financial account of ourselves to any one who may be sufficiently interested to ask for such an account.

"We most certainly feel that before Mr. Bryan made his charges of subsidy and corruption against the navy league he should have investigated the matter for himself. Mr. Bryan has unquestionably done us a great wrong and we feel that as an honorable man he cannot do less than avail himself positively of the truth or falsehood of his charges and make fitting reparation for the wrong he has done."

Among the members of the navy league are Admiral Dewey, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Cardinal Gibbons and Colonel Cassell. It is said that many of the members are indignant over the Bryan charges.

A Rockefeller Endowment. John D. Rockefeller left Cleveland for a two months' stay and went back to Pocahontas hills, his New York estate. His last act on the platform of the East One Hundred and Fifth Street was characteristic.

Solemnly shaking the hand of his 12-year-old grandnephew, little Edward Roberts, he drew out a handful of coins—the majority of which were bright new pennies—and gave the child a penny. As the boy dropped the coin and recovered it he added a smile to the gift.

Muldoon's Mistake. There was no doubt about it, Michael Muldoon had lost his five-pound note, says The Daily News, he was he to get back to Dublin. But, sure the London police would find it for him? This stationer marched Michael and told his sad story to the sergeant.

The officer was inclined to be sympathetic. "I suppose you wrote down the number of the note?" "And Ol did that, sorr!" said Mike, proudly. "And what is the number then?" "And isn't that just what I don't know myself?" "But you said you wrote it down?" exclaimed the officer, testily. "That's the worst of it. I wrote it on the back of the note!"

There's a lot of satisfaction in being satisfied. You don't have to worry about quality of fabric or character of workmanship if Ed. V. Price & Co. are your tailors, and these are the essentials of complete satisfaction. Let us take your measure.

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that No-body can tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 60 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Gardol, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Gardol, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Gardol, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.

I wish every suffering woman would give
