To Get Rid of the Poisonous Gases and Fermenting Food.

A good long fast will do this sometimes. A trip to the mountains. Tramping. Roughing it. Yes, very good remedies. But are you going to avail yourself of either one of these remedies. No? Then the next best thing is to try a bottle of P. M. Take it according to directions. You will have a natural appetite. All gas and fermentation in the stomach will disappear.

Read what Mrs. Emma Bell, Box 204, Fort Pierce, Florida, says: "I was taken suddenly with swelling of the stomach and bowels, and great distress. Very painful. Three doctors gave me no relief. Could not eat anything. Everything sour. I was starving to death. I began taking Peruna and was soon strong enough to do work. After taking five bottles I can truthfully say I am well. I gained twenty pounds."

SECRETARY REDFIELD ON MARKET PROTECTION AT CLOSE OF GREAT WAR

Washington, Dec. 16.—Legislation to protect the industrial and commercial markets of the United States from a "destructive type of struggle and unfair competition" at the close of the European war, is recommended to congress today by Secretary Redfield, in his annual report. Every strategy of industrial war, he says, will be used by powerful foreign agencies against American industries which may menace large markets heretofore controlled abroad.

To prevent "unfair competition" the secretary suggested that the machinery of the departments of justice and treasury be fixed and that congress supplement existing laws to give the federal government adequate means to protect American markets. "In my judgment," said the secretary, "the matter is one which may be more wisely treated as an accepted wrong to be forbidden than as an economic matter which needs to be restrained. I should prefer, therefore, to deal with it by a method other than tariffs, classing it as an offense similar to the unfair domestic competition we now forbid. It seems possible that by using the existing machinery of the treasury department and Department of Justice we may restrain this foreign 'unfair competition' on both sides of the sea."

I recommend, therefore, that such legislation be enacted as will give to the foreign representatives of the above-named departments such added powers and increased personnel as they may need for this purpose, and that it be enacted if possible, that merchandise sold in 'unfair competition' or under circumstances which tend to create a monopoly in behalf of the foreign producer in American markets shall be forfeited.

"I also recommend that legislation supplemental to the Clayton Antitrust act be enacted which shall make it unlawful to sell or purchase articles of foreign origin or manufacture where the prices to be paid are materially below the current rates for such articles in the country of production or from which shipment is made, in case such prices substantially lessen competition on the part of the American producers or tend to create a monopoly in American markets in favor of the foreign producer, and that it be made unlawful for any person to buy, sell, or contract for the sale of article of foreign origin, or to fix the price for same or to make a rebate upon such price, conditioned upon the purchaser's refusal to use or dealing in wares produced or sold by the competitors of the manufacturer or seller, where the effect is to substantially lessen competition in the production in the United States of such articles, or tends to create a monopoly in the sale of such articles in American markets in favor of a foreign producer.

"Unfair competition is forbidden by law in domestic trade, and the federal trade commission exists to determine the facts and take steps to abate the evil wherever found. The door, however, is still open to unfair competition from abroad which may seriously affect American industries for the worse. It is not normal competition of which I speak, but abnormal. It is a destructive type of the industrial struggle, intended to put out of being the forces opposed to it that the victor exploit the field at will. The methods used are not those of legitimate commerce, but those of commercial offense. They aim not at development, but at conquest.

"When the war shall close, the public control of railways in foreign lands, the semi-official chambers of commerce, the public fostered organizations which control great industries in some countries, will all exist and will all be used in an effort to recover lost commerce. The growth in the United of industries which may menace large markets heretofore controlled from abroad will not be permitted if public and semipublic forces acting together in foreign countries can prevent it. The existence of American industries, nay their very existence in our own land in some cases, will be raised to the full and every strategem of industrial war will be exerted against them. Expecting this, we must prepare for it. If it shall pass beyond fair competition and exert or seek to exert a monopolistic power over any part of our commerce, we ought to prevent it."

Cooperation of business concerns in foreign trade is suggested to permit admission of the smaller trader into that field of activity. "The present law plays into the hands of the larger concerns and shuts out small ones from important markets," the secretary said. "Provision should be made whereby such concerns may, with due safeguards against monopoly co-operate in the foreign field. To refuse this for fear of monopoly is to say that the large concerns shall alone hold the lucrative foreign markets and that the larger number of smaller houses shall be shut out. The whole matter should be placed under the supervision of the federal trade commission and should be subject to full publicity. It is not intended that this cooperation shall extend into the domestic field."

Mr. Redfield expressed the hope that American business be permitted to cooperate under supervision of the federal reserve board, in establishing foreign banks or in opening shops of banks operating in foreign countries.

The secretary also said, operating in the United States for large bodies of foreign goods, the American Government is a foreign body. It is not a citizen of the United States and it is not a resident of the United States. It is a foreign body and it is not a citizen of the United States and it is not a resident of the United States.

in the United States of less than major size, yet abundantly strong. These should be permitted, under proper safeguards, to act jointly in each matter. These should be permitted, under proper safeguards, to act jointly in each matter. These should be permitted, under proper safeguards, to act jointly in each matter.

The opening of the Panama canal and the agitation for an inland waterway along the Atlantic coast, as well as the increased volume of domestic commerce, the secretary pointed out, make it important that statistics on internal commerce be prepared by the government. "It is a surprising thing that we should require by law careful knowledge concerning our export trade and allow our domestic commerce to go on without any definite knowledge concerning it. Congress will be asked for an appropriation sufficient to permit the beginning of an effort to throw light upon a subject of such vast importance, but of which we know so little."

The secretary paid high tribute to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and to its commercial attaches abroad in securing contracts totaling millions of dollars for American business houses. At present, he says, there are no commercial attaches in Central America, India, the near east, South Africa or Canada. The placing of ten additional commercial attaches in those regions was recommended.

"It is not too much to say that the work of this service has been at the very center of a growing movement toward the creation of an American dyestuffs industry," the report says. "In this connection signs are not lacking that the growth of our native industry is hardly welcome to those who have heretofore had a substantial monopoly in supplying our markets from abroad."

In conclusion the secretary said it was intolerable that the United States should longer depend upon any one foreign source for necessities in the dyestuffs industry.

ANDERSON COLLEGE DOING GOOD WORK

BAPTIST COURIER HAS ACCOUNT IN CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

BRIGHT FUTURE

Is Before It and It Is Opinion That People of Anderson Will Stand By It.

The following taken from the Baptist Courier's account of the proceedings of the State Baptist convention, speaks well for Anderson college. The members of the convention expressed themselves as much pleased with the reports made in regard to the college and all believe it has a splendid future.

The following is taken from the Baptist Courier: "Anderson college has a brief record but it is a record. It has done splendid work, is on the hearts of the people, and is growing in patronage. There is a debt of $60,000.00 which must be paid. There is every reason that it shall be paid that there is that any debt should be paid. It will be paid largely by the people of Anderson. The college is there for purposes of culture and not commerce; and the people of Anderson will not suffer the impression to go abroad that they are only selfishly interested. The college is willing to forego the privilege of exclusive right to canvass the state for funds, that there may be no thought of unfair rivalry and that the welfare of all the schools may be brought home to the hearts of all the people."

"Dr. Kinnard, president of Anderson college, follows Dr. White. He thinks we have better state colleges because we have denominational colleges. The college itself may be responsible for the lack of support by drifting away from the denominational life and interests. The quickest way to fill a college with students is to fill it with thoroughly competent teachers and a fully adequate equipment. Anderson's greatest needs are endowment and scholarship. Dr. Kinnard would be glad to eliminate all rivalry and have the three women's colleges of the convention have equal rights and privileges. "It has been suggested that the territory of the state be divided among the three colleges. There is by no means agreement on this suggestion. There will not be agreement. Anderson proposes to raise the amount of her indebtedness among the people of Anderson. This suggestion will, if carried out, give general satisfaction, because it is exactly what the promoters of the college explicitly agreed to do when the college was offered to the convention at Laurens."

McAdams, deceased, hereby gives notice that he will on Jan. 1, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m. apply to the Judge of Probate for Anderson County for a final settlement of said estate and a discharge from his office of administrator. FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theodor's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theodor's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyetia's Sage and Sulphur Compound." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.
