THE MEMPHIS REUNION.

Orders From Gen. Gordon to the Veterans.

Gen. John B. Gordon has issued important special orders regarding the Confederate Reunion to be held at Memphis during the closing days of May.

In one of these he appoints Major General Geo. W. Gordon, chief marshal of the parade to be held during the Reunion. The second general order is a lengthy one, but as it is filled with matters of interest to old soldiers throughout this city it is given here in full:

Headquarters United Confederate Veterans, New Orleans, La., April 20, 1901.

General Orders No. 254.

I. The general commanding announces that the eleventh annual Meeting and Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held as stated in General Orders No. 249, current series, from these headquarters in the city of Memphis, Tenn., on May 28, 29 and 30, 1901, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, respectively.

All Confederate organizations and Confederate soldiers and sailors of all arms, grades and departments. Daughters of the Confederacy and Sons of Veterans are cordially invited to attend this eleventh General Reunion of the U. C. V's.

II. With pride and pleasure he also announces that thirteen hundred and thirty-one Camps are already enrolled in the U. C. V. organization, with applications in for over one hundred more. Ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors everywhere are urged to form themselves into local associations, where this has not already been done; and all associations, bivouacs, encampments and other bodies not members of the U. C. V. Association are earnestly requested to send in applications to these headquarters, without delay, so as to be organized in time to participate in this great Reunion, and thus unite with their comrades in carrying out the laudable and philanthropic objects of the United Confederate Veteran organization.

III. He heartily approves of the wisdom shown by the Veterans in their selection of the "Bluff City," the "Great Metropolis" of the proud old State of Tennessee, as a meeting place for this, their eleventh annual Reunion, as it is so situated, geographically, that it is accessible to a very large majority of the U. C. V. Camps.

In addition to this, Memphis and the entire State of Tennessee is famous all over the civilized world for boundless hospitality, and for the love and devotion her gold hearted sons and beautiful and accomplished daughters have always bestowed upon the survivors of that "Thin Grey Line" which stood so long and so heroically before such overwhelming odds.

Once before at Chattanooga in 1890, again at Nashville in 1897, and now for the third time in the beautiful and progressive city of Memphis, Tenn., through her noble and gallant sons, has invited the remnant of the survivors of the "Great War between the States," in which she bore such a conspicuous part, to which she furnished so many of her heroic sons, to assemble again upon her soil as her honored guest, not as of yore amidst war's wild alarm, but under the white banner of peace, to commune and mingle together, to rehearse old stories of trials and hardships, and to clasp hands once again in comradeship, before they reach that "Heaven of Rest" which they are now nearing so closely and rapidly, that they can hear the sound of the waves dashing upon the shore.

Besides the meeting in Memphis and in Tennessee will arouse many tender and sacred recollections and its pathos will touch the hearts of all who witness the remnant of the survivors of the Confederate armies assembled in the city which their beloved chieftain, Ex-President Jefferson Davis, once called his home; and in the State, upon the annals of which is writ in luminous letters the memorable and tragic stories of deathless valor at Shiloh, Forts Henry and Donaldson, Cumberland Gap, Fort Pillow, Murfreesboro or Stone's River, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge, Nashville and Franklin; and which State furnished to the Confederacy the hero, Sam Davis; the patriots, Isham G. Harris and John Overton; and the illustrious generals, Nathan Bedford Forrest, Alexander P. Stewart, B. F. Cheatham, W. B. Rate, John C. Brown, John P. McCown, D. S. Donelson, C. M. Wilcox, Bushrod R. Johnson, W. Y. C. Humes, Wm. H. Jackson, Geo. W. Gordon, John Adams, F. C. Armstrong, Geo. Maney, Preston Smith, O. F. Strahl, A. J. Vaughan, J. E. Rains, R. C. Tyler, Gild J. Pillow, Marcus J. Wright, G. G. Dibrell, T. H. Bell, W. H. Carroll, L. M. Walker, R. Hatton, Felix K. Zollicoffer, John C. Carter, W. A. Quarles, Samuel R. Anderson, A. W. Campbell, Henry V. Davidson, John W. Fraser, B. J.

Hill, A. E. Jackson, Jos. B. Palmer, T. B. Smith, John C. Vaughan and many other of our great Southern leaders, and over one-sixth of the heroic private soldiers of the Confederate arm.

IV. The general commanding therefore urges the officers and members of all camps to commence now, without delay, making preparations to attend this great Reunion. He especially urges all camps to commence now, without delay, preparing for delegates, alternates and as many members as possible to attend, so as to make it the largest and most representative Reunion ever held; as business of the greatest gravity affecting the welfare of the old Veterans will be transacted during this eleventh annual Reunion—such as the benevolent care, through State aid or otherwise, of disabled, destitute and aged Veterans and the widows and orphans of our fallen brothers-in-arms, which will be one of the most important matters for our consideration. In this connection the general commanding calls especial attention to the increasing age, multiplied sorrows and corroding cares of many of the gallant old soldiers, who risked their lives and fortunes for what they considered right during the eventful years of 1861-65. Through the mortuary reports received at these headquarters he is daily and almost hourly reminded that the lengthening shadows of time are fast settling over the old heroes—reaching out already beyond the allotted span of human life, many of whom had already passed the age of manhood when, forty years ago, they promptly and nobly responded to their country's call. It is our bounden duty and the chief mission of the U. C. V. Association that these unfortunate, sick, disabled and indigent comrades and brothers and their widows and orphans should have our attention, care and such help in their old age as their more fortunate comrades can procure and give, and as their infirmities and misfortunes require. This to him will be a labor of love, and to the carrying out of which he will devote his best efforts, and in the prosecution of which sacred work he appeals to all the members of the U. C. V. Association, who are able, for their earnest, prayerful, patriotic help.

We must take care of our old comrades, and in doing this he feels confident that appeals for employment for the old Confederate veterans, who are so rapidly passing away, and substantial aid for these old sick, wounded, indigent and unfortunate soldiers will not be made in vain to any State, municipal government or citizens of any Southern State, nor to the rising generation, themselves the worthy descendants of heroes, who are all alike participants in that heritage of glory so proudly emblazoned upon the history of each State by the unparalleled valor and endurance of these aged, wounded and disabled old warriors, as it would be ingratitude without parallel and degradation without precedent that any of these should turn their backs upon the old heroes and their ever-glorious records in their old age and dire distress.

V. Other business of the greatest importance will also demand careful consideration—such as the care of the graves of our known and unknown dead at Gettysburg, Fort Warren, Camps Morton, Chase, Douglas, Oakwood Cemetery, at Chicago; Rock Island, Johnson's Island, Cairo and at all other points. We must care for the graves of "our dead" and see that they are annually decorated, the headstones preserved and protected and complete lists of the names of our dead heroes, with the location of their last resting place, furnished to their friends and relatives through the medium of our camps, thus rescuing their names from oblivion and handing them down in history; the best method of securing impartial history, and to enlist each State in the compilation and preservation of the history of her citizen soldiery; the consideration of the different movements, plans and means to complete the monument to the memory of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, and to aid in building monuments to all of the other great leaders, soldiers and sailors of the South; to make such changes in the constitution and by-laws as experience may suggest, and other matters of general interest.

VI. Each camp now admitted into the United Confederate Veteran organization, and those admitted before the Reunion, are urged to at once elect accredited delegates and alternates to attend, as only accredited delegates can participate in the business part of the session. The representation of delegates at the Reunion will be as fixed in Section 1, Article 5, of the constitution, "one delegate for every twenty active members in good standing, and one additional for a fraction of ten members, provided every camp in good standing shall be entitled to at least two delegates." Each camp will elect the same number of alternates as delegates, who will attend in case of any failure on the part of the delegates.

VII. A programme to be observed at the Reunion and all the details will be furnished to the camps and to all Veterans in due time, and any further information can be obtained by applying to Col. R. A. Parker, secretary Confederate Reunion committee, Memphis, Tenn.

VIII. The commanding general respectfully requests the press, both daily and weekly, of the whole country, to aid the patriotic and benevolent objects of the United Confederate Veterans by publication of these orders, with editorial notices of the organization.

IX. The general commanding respectfully requests and trusts that railroad officials will also aid the old veterans by giving the very lowest rates of transportation so as to enable them to attend.

X. Officers of the general staff are directed to assist department, division and brigade commanders and others in organizing their respective States, and generally to aid in the complete federation of all the survivors in one grand organization under the constitution of the United Confederate Veterans.

By order of J. B. Gordon, General Commanding.
George Moorman,
Adjt. Gen. and Chief of Staff.

REFOREST OUR COUNTRY.

At the celebration of Arbor Day at Washington Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture gave expression to the following words:

"It is our privilege and our duty to take steps for the reforesting of our country. Educators throughout the centuries have paid no attention to this subject and only within the last few years have our educational institutions established schools for education along these lines. It is within our power to do something to right the great wrongs that have been perpetrated against the trees in the past. We have gathered into our department the most of the scientists of the country who have knowledge of trees. We have set about teaching our people how to propagate trees from the seeds. It is our intention to propagate every fine tree in America and furnish them, through congressional distribution and otherwise, to the localities where they are most at home, and it is also our intention to bring seeds and plants of valuable trees from foreign countries and introduce them into suitable localities in our own."

Night Was a Terror
"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gain 45 lbs. weight." It's absolute guarantee to cure Coughs, colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Mc-Master Co.'s drug store.

April the 22nd at Chatres, France, tramps killed five children and their father.

April the 21st near Blacksburg an engine on the Ohio River and Charleston Railroad went down into the swollen stream, Buffalo Creek. Engineer Metcalf, who had been warned by the section master of the unsafety of the trestle, gave up his life and Fireman Rhyne narrowly escaped the same fate by jumping into the raging waters to be borne on floating timbers till he finally reached a safe place.
