

THE COURTSHIP OF VANDYKE K. BROWN

London society experienced a remarkable thrill when Vandyke K. Brown, the young American multimillionaire, announced his intention of crossing the "herring pond" in search of an English bride.

and fell on the wavelets as they watched the red sun sink into the sea. "I think we understand each other well enough to speak without restraint, don't we?" he remarked casually as he drew in the oars.

adjourned to the drawing room, whither he found the pseudo Vandyke K. Brown and the mayor had already preceded him. Formal introductions followed, but Seymour played his game carefully, and it was not until the meal was half over that he had much to say to the guest of the evening.
