AWAY WITH STATE DISPENSARY.

Has Outlived Its Goodness, Let the Privilege of Dispensing Whiskey to Highest Bidder.

Mr. Editor: We have a full team of office seekers for state offices. I want to vote for a man firm on a local option platform, one that favors doing away with the state dispensary. After the question of local option is decided by the people of each county if they favor dispensing whiskey in any county, the right to dispense whiskey shall be let to the first Monday of some month to the highest bidder for the privilege of dispensing whiskey under a full guarantee that the dispensary law will be obeyed in full, giving a guarantee bond for several thousand dollars as to good faith in carrying out said dispensary law. Let the revenue so derived be divided as follows: the town in which such dispensary is located to receive one-third, roads and bridges one-third, the state one-third.

This is only an outline of my views. I feel that any thinking man can see that the state dispensary has outlived its goodness if it had any. This thing of everybody selling whiskey is not only destroying the revenue that state and county is entitled to, but is ruining the prospects of peace and good will between the rising generation. Give a fool whiskey and he is ready to do any crime. While I know that we can not prohibit, yet we can restrain to a great extent. Enforce the dispensary law, prosecute the blind tigers as the owner of the privilege to dispensary whiskey would do, and we restrain to some extent.

ALCOHOL FROM POTATOES.

New Industry Opening for the Southern Oil Mills.

There was a meeting of the cotton seed oil mill men of South Carolina here Thursday that mean much not only for the oil mills but also for the farmers. Those who have kept up with such matters will recall that several weeks ago a chemist in Arkansas, J. C. Sprull, discovered that denatured alcohol could be extracted in large quantities from the potato by the use of the present oil mill machinery. The matter was noticed especially by the oil mill men and Thursday at the meeting the whole suggestion was gone over and its practicability discussed.

If the scheme is worked out successfully it will be of mutual advantage. The oil mills now shut down in summer and just about the time the potato crops are coming in. The farmers often have to throw away hundreds of bushels of potatoes because of a glut in the market or the fact that they have sprouted too soon. These could be sold to the oil mills at slightly reduced prices and used by them for making of denatured alcohol.

The government now proposes to remove the tax from this product and it can then be produced very cheaply. The fact that it will keep labor organized during the entire year is also of considerable advantage to the oil mills. After much discussion it was decided to obtain further information about the project and then take some definite action. The tax is not removed by the government until next May.

The meeting of the oil mill men was primarily for the purpose of effecting an organization to be known as the South Carolina Cotton Seed Crushers' Association of the same enterprises. There was a very large attendance and F. D. Hunter of Darlington was elected president, J. T. Stephens vice-president and B. F. Taylor of this city was elected secretary and treasurer.—Columbia State.

Love and Life.

Most men know love but as a part of life; They hide it in some corner of the breast,

Even from themselves; and only when they rest In the brief pauses of the daily strife

Wherein the world might else be not so rife,

They draw it forth (as one draws forth a toy,

To soothe some ardent, kiss-exacting boy),

And hold it up to sister, child or wife.

Ah! why may not love and life be one?

Why walk we thus alone, when by our side,

Love, like a visible god, might be our guide?

How would the marts grow noble! and the street,

Worn like a dungeon floor by weary feet,

Seem then a golden courtway of the sun!

—Henry Timrod.

Marriage of Miss Jean Pressly and Rev. B. G. Pressly.

This happy occasion was solemnized on last Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at Prof. J. L. Pressly's, the home of the bride. The marriage ceremony was beautiful performed by Dr. F. Y. Pressly assisted by Rev. O. Y. Bonner. The groomsmen were: Messrs. J. P. Pressly, J. E. Pressly, H. E. Pressly and Lowry Pressly. The bridesmaids, Misses Agnes Grier, Jennie Roseborough, Bessie Boyca and Edna Ramsey, Miss Louise Brownlee presided at the piano.

The happy couple left immediately for the mountains of North Carolina. The array of presents was handsome and costly. One of the presents was a much prized family heirloom that had been handed down for eighty years—a solid piece of silver.

Miss Jean is the accomplished daughter of Prof. and Mrs. J. L. Pressly. She was a social favorite in Due West. Rev. Grier Pressly is the son of Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Pressly of Mexico, a graduate of Erskine College and of the Erskine Seminary.

As the parties entered the parlor on the morning of the pretty wedding they did so with no undue haste, yet without that slow pace that gives you a creepy and tired feeling. We felt thankful that Miss Jean's attendants delivered us from this misery and we are pleased to have the opportunity to say so. Many friends and relatives will join in throwing bouquets of love and affection at this happy young couple.—A. R. P. Presbyterian.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by Obeur Drug Co. and all medicine dealers.

"An Editor" Defined.

The definition of an editor, given by the Spectator in a review of the new edition of Blake's poems, is worthy of quotation:

"A good editor is an immortal benefactor. His work, unlike the work of the critic, can never pass away. He loses himself, subordinates his personal predilections and aims to the meaning of his author, and his reward is perpetuity for his work and oblivion, it may be, for himself. He helps readers to their destination, and like the engine driver of a train, is forgotten as soon as they have arrived in safety. He is like a perfectly transparent window through which the light of his author streams without diminution or distortion; while the aesthetic and original critics resemble a window or colored glass which permits the passage of only so much light as will serve to set off the pride of the artist."

Twenty Year Battle.

"I was a loser in a twenty year battle with chronic piles and rackling sores, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; which turned the tide, by curing both, till not a trace remains," writes A. M. Bruce, of Farmville, Va. Best for old Ulcers, Cuts, Burns and Wounds. 25c at Jno. H. McMaster & Co.'s, druggists.
