Clemson Annual Report.

The report of the board of trustees of Clemson college has been given to the public. The following is a condensed statement of the financial affairs of the college for the year ending July 1st, 1906:

The income of the college from all sources, except from the privilege tax, amounted to $33,207.16. The inspection tax amounted to $164,996.82, and from this was deducted for unused tags redeemed $6,643.79, leaving a net amount received from the inspection tax of $158,354.03 which, added to the balance on hand, together with the income from all other sources, amount to $224,093.07. From this amount must be deducted the cost of the inspection and analyses, the amount paid out for beneficiary scholarships, for coast experiment station for veterinary and entomological inspections, farmers' institutes, and for printing popular bulletins, a sum of $36,324.23, which leaves a balance available for college expenses of $187,768.84. Of this amount there was expended during the current year for current expenses, equipment, repairs etc., the sum of $125,434.81, leaving a balance on hand July 1, 1906, of $62,334.03, which amount is necessary to run the college until January, 1907, and pay for the additional barracks and the power plant. It will be observed by reference to the summing up, found on the last page of the treasurer's condensed report, that of this $125,434.81, there was expended $22,866.37 for permanent improvements. That is, for repairs to buildings, equipment, and buildings. This being deducted from the whole amount leaves $102,568.44, covering the entire expenses of the college proper during the year.

Beside the above amount the college receives $15,000 annually from the national government for the maintenance of a scientific experiment station under the direction of the secretary of the treasury. Congress at its last session voted to increase this amount to $30,000. This increase, however is to be made gradually. This sum was not included in the financial report of the college as it does not go in any way to the support of the school. Congress requires a report to be rendered every year to the secretary of the treasury and to the governor of the State in regard to the expenditure of this Hatch or experiment station fund.

Schoolboy Blunders.

(School Board Journal.)

Here are a few mistakes made by English school boys in their examination papers:

Teacher's dictation: "His cholera rose to such a height that passion well-nigh choked him."

Pupil's reproduction: "His collar rose to such a height that fashion well-nigh choked him."

"Political economy is the science which teaches us to get the greatest benefit with the least possible amount of honest labor."

"The sun never sets on British possessions because the sun sets in the west and our colonies are in the north and east."

"Blood consists of two sorts of corkscrews--red corkscrews and white corkscrews."

"A Job's comforter is a thing you give babies to soothe them."

"In the United States people are put to death by elocution."

Question--"Define the first person." Answer--"Adam."

If an article is imitated, the original is always best. Think it over, and when you go to buy that box of salve to keep around the house, get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the original and the name is stamped on every box. Good for eczema, tetter, boils, cuts and bruises, and especially recommended for piles. Sold by all druggists.

Commerce and the South.

"Following the lines of least resistance, the down-hill haul to the sea," the ever growing commerce of the country is more and more seeking an outlet through Southern ports. Our foreign commerce, now $3,000,000,000 a year, will double and quadruple, as will our coastwise trade, but the number of our ports can be very slightly increased, even if millions should be expended. Nature has fixed the location of our available ports and forever set the limit upon their number. As commerce expands Southern ports must grow in opulence and population. Great financial centers must naturally follow and the vast commerce, of which we have seen only the beginning, which will soon flow through the South, will be a mighty factor in the building of railroads, the growth of cities, the immigration of people from other countries and sections. There are few countries on earth which have such a geographical relation to the centers of productive energies on the one side and the world's commerce on the other as the South. The human mind cannot fully grasp the wonder of the coming years in this Heaven-favored section.--Manufacturers Record Baltimore.
