Label teachers and scholars are busy making preparations for their entertainment on the 19th and 20th.

Mr. Floyd Mann has made more preparation for his farm this year than almost any one else. His improvements are quite noticeable. He has also built a modern barn that can be seen almost as far as Camak's pines.

Mr. W. J. Leitner has the prize to date on corn. He is now having it cultivated with a sulky disk.

The odor from G. A. Robinson's wheat along the road is refreshing.

HILL CREST.

Hill Crest school closed Thursday, May 5th. A picnic was given in the woods at Mrs. L. Hawes. Although the crowd was small and the weather threatening, a very enjoyable day was spent. The children played games and indeed some of the older members came back to their childhood days and ran and played with the little ones. A good dinner was served by the ladies; fried chicken was the only thing lacking, and everyone likes their fried chicken at a picnic.

NEWS FROM THE WINNSBORO MILLS

Mrs. J. M. Williams returned Tuesday from Kings Mountain, N. C., where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. G. Watterson.

Miss Cora M. Johnson arrived in our village Sunday morning. She has taken up her duties as village nurse. We welcome Miss Johnson to our village.

Mr. J. S. Brogson and family have moved from Great Falls to make this village their home. We are always glad when people come back. It proves that they like the place. We are willing to be compared with any mill or any mill community anywhere. A rolling stone gathers no moss. Permanency makes for business. No man or woman can be contented or happy when he or she is always wearing a chip on their shoulder. We can always find some one to take our place if we quit. But moving is expensive and a roving spirit never lets anyone be happy. We wish that more of our people would settle down and take their share of life's knocks and build their lives and characters into the splendid community, which we are determined to have. We don't care where one goes he is going to have to bear his part of the unpleasant things of life. The more settled and stable a man makes his life the fewer and lighter will be his knocks rather he will have more reserve character with which to stand the strain. Think it over and see if we are not right. Would it not be better for us and show more courage and manliness to face our difficulties and get them straightened out by better understanding than for us to go away with a grudge in our bosoms against someone. A grudge or get-even spirit eats like a cancer at the souls of men. Did you ever stop to think that no man ever came to any thing but regret that has given away to those temptations which bid him—get even. Forget it. A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong. It is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than yesterday. Anyhow, don't forget to forget yourself and remember the other person. There is more happiness in it if you are man enough to try.

Quite a number from our village attended the memorial exercises in the Community House in Winnsboro Tuesday. The school children attended in a body.

On Thursday afternoon of this week Mr. Gordon A. Johnstone, Mr. G. H. Lokey, Mr. Ben Wilson and Mr. W. E. Rambow will leave for Atlanta to attend the meeting of the Southern Textile Association on Friday and Saturday.

Monday is girls' night in the gymnasium room. On this evening no boy or man will be allowed in the building. Let us give the ladies an unmolested evening.

The men's club held its regular monthly meeting in the hall Monday evening. After a business session the audience was delighted with a snappy, life-giving address by Mr. T. B. Lanham of Columbia. Mr. Lanham is executive secretary of the South Carolina Y. M. C. A. The subject of Mr. Lanham's address was "Community Co-operation."

Each day at the hospital four operatives of the mill are taking the free physical examination. Dr. Samuel Lindsay is making the examinations, assisted by Miss Johnson, our new nurse. Every man and woman in the mill ought to take the examination. "A stitch in time saves nine" may be the outcome in your case. There is nothing to dread at all. It may mean the considerable lengthening of your life. When your turn comes don't falter. You owe it to yourself.

On Tuesday afternoon of this week an exciting game of ball was played between Winnsboro and the mill. The mill team returned victor by a 5-3 count. Clowney was on the mound for Winnsboro, while Enloe pitched for the mill. When hits might have meant runs Enloe was as scarce with them as hen's teeth.

On next Saturday at 3:30 Waterree Mills from Camden will play the mill

HAPPENINGS OVER THE WHOLE STATE

Gaffney.—D. C. Ross, of the American State bank, and Dr. W. K. Gunter, manager of the Palmetto Mills, of Gaffney, made a proposition to the town council recently that if they would pave East Jeffries street between Limestone and Petty, that they would not only pay their individual share of the cost of the work, but that they would advance the money to pay for the town's share, of course taking the town's obligation for its share of the work. The matter will be acted upon at the next meeting of the council.

The ladies of Gaffney and Blacksburg are making plans for beautifying the National highway from the North Carolina line to the Spartanburg line, and they are anxious to secure all the help possible in this most laudable undertaking. The idea is to plant flowers, trees and shrubs thus making the road attractive to those who pass this way. The suggestion has been made—and has been received with favor—that fruit trees be planted on the road along with flowers and shrubs. Cherokee county may be depended upon to do its full duty.

Columbia.—Albert Wilson, negro, who shot to death Bryan E. Butler, a young mill employe, here on the night of March 26, 1920, in a crowded street car, paid the death penalty. Butler, who was accompanied by his wife at the time of the tragedy, resented an insult from the negro and knocked him to the floor of the car. The negro shot from a reclining position and Butler dropped dead at the feet of his wife.

Greenville.—Organization of the Women's Carolina Golf association, comprising clubs of North and South Carolina, was perfected here at the opening of the women's spring invitation tournament at Sans Souci country club. Columbia.—C. C. Campbell, a prominent business man of Columbia, said that a new republican party for South Carolina, composed of the better element of the white population of the state, is in course of formation. Mr. Campbell, who is being urged for collector of internal revenue, is one of the leaders.

Chester.—W. S. Stevenson, congressman from the 8th congressional district, has accepted the invitation to speak at the big independence day celebration to be held at Chester on July 4.

Notice to Potato Shippers. Clemson College.—For the information of South Carolina growers of sweet potato plants the South Carolina state crop pest commission calls attention to the fact that the state of Tennessee required an inspection of all sweet potato slips sent into that state. All shipments of such plants into Tennessee must be accompanied by a special sweet potato certificate indicating that the plants have been inspected and found free from black rot and stem rot, and that no sweet potato borer has been found.

Child Dies in Automobile. Newberry.—A very distressing incident took place at the home of Mrs. B. M. Dennis in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Raser and Mrs. Hale Sherard of Ninety-Six and her little son, Hale, Jr., two and a half years old, were on their way to Columbia in an automobile, and stopped at Mrs. Dennis' to ask her to go with them. As they were getting out of the car Mrs. Sherard noticed that something was wrong with the baby, and looking in its face, found that it was dead, probably of heart failure.

LAST STORY ABOUT COMMUNITY HOUSE

"A Community Effort."

No people are great or good except in character. Character is the product of thought. "Tell me what you think and I will tell you what you are," says a writer, and a greater authority than man has said, "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." It is ideas and ideals that really govern the world. When they are operative character is the result. It is but one half of religion to live in secret with God. The true man owes to himself to give out to his fellows the best that is within him. The end of our effort is to bring to the minds of our community the best ideas and ideals of the day. The channels adopted are those through which these are coming.

The moving pictures are catching the eye of the multitude. Ten millions of our people daily attend the picture show. The making and showing of pictures has become the fifth largest business in our country. They have come and apparently to stay. In them there is a chance of untold harm and an opportunity for much good. Where these shows are run for financial profit there is a temptation to yield to the popular demand whether that demand be for the best or not. The moral sense of the country is being aroused to the peril from this source. What shall we do? Ban them or convert them? We believe the latter can be done, is going to be done and should be done. There are difficulties to be overcome. Chief among these is the lack of a censorship over the making of the films. The only censorship that can really be effective is the moral sentiment of the community. It is the only censorship that should be with a free people. The molders of sentiment are the rulers in a democracy. It is encouraging to know that the moral sentiment of the country is beginning to have effect upon some of the largest film producers and they are cutting out the objectionable things. Voluntary organizations are springing up in different places for the purpose of banning the wrong and advertising the right kind of pictures.

MRS. ROSA BOYD TENNANT

Mrs. Rosa Boyd Tennant died at her home at eight o'clock last night, after a lingering illness of six months. She was born at Cornwell, Chester county, February 22, 1855. She was married to Benjamin Greene Tennant July 17, 1879. He preceded her to the grave eight years ago. She is survived by the following children: W. D. Tennant, of Asheville, N. C., Chalmers and Boyd Tennant, of Winnsboro; Mrs. John J. Stover; Mrs. D. J. Hollis, Mrs. O. V. Ray, Mrs. C. E. Cathcart, Jr., all of Winnsboro, and twenty-two grand children. She also has three living sisters, Misses Elizabeth and Mary Boyd and Mrs. Lucinda McKeown, and one brother, J. Allen Boyd, all of Cornwell.

The next picture at the Community House will be on Tuesday when Charles Ray in "Alarm Clock Andy" will be shown. Also Fox News.
