DEATH OF CAPT. C. S. DWIGHT.

Capt. Charles Stevens Dwight, for many years a resident of Columbia, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of his son-in-law, G. F. Patton, in Winnsboro. His many friends here and throughout the State will keenly regret to hear of his passing; for, though in his 88th year, it was difficult to associate the idea of death with one of such buoyant and patriotic spirit, with mental faculty undimmed by years, and ardent interest in all great happenings of the world over.

Born at his father's plantation in St. John's Berkley, July 11, 1834; the son of Isaac Marion and Martha (Porchet) Dwight, he was nurtured in the best traditions of his Puritan and Huguenot forbears—and so his character and career was clean and brave and sweet his whole life long. Charleston, and at historic Mount Zion, Winnsboro, he entered the College of Charleston from which he was graduated in 1854. With his two brothers, kindred spirits in heart and soul, he volunteered at the first call in the state and Confederate service and served with conspicuous devotion for more than a year as private, and eventually as captain of engineers on the staff of Gen. J. B. Kershaw.

The commencement exercises of the College of Charleston last May were the following references to Captain Dwight:

"I would like to be the oldest living alumnus of the college, saying that he knew of the war experience and the service of the college."

Taking advantage of his absence from the city tonight I am going to read a paragraph from a personal letter in which he says he can give but little information—and for good reason. He writes:

"I served in the Palmetto Guard from December 30, 1860, on Morris Island until we took Sumter—and then with 120 of the guard volunteered in Kershaw's regiment and went to Virginia for the war. I never saw South Carolina but once during the war and then for three days. Did not see Charleston at all—so you see I had little opportunity to note the movements of my college comrades."

"There speaks a man, my brother, alumni, of whom we should be supremely proud. No 'holiday soldier' that! He volunteered for the war, and during four years of arduous services he came home for three days only."

"All honor to Charles Stevens Dwight of the class of 1854, captain of engineers, staff of Maj. Gen. J. B. Kershaw."

Although the ardent young Carolinian served in 14 or 15 battles he was never wounded. He recalled two meetings with Gen. Robert E. Lee, and treasured an autograph letter from the great commander complimenting him for a survey. His work was also warmly commended by Gen. Lafayette McLaws, C. S. A.

After the surrender he emigrated to Honduras where he followed the profession of civil engineer, but, before long, returned to the states. His last public work was as engineer of roadway of the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens railroad and nine years ago, at the age of 79, he built that road's bridge over Broad river at Columbia.

Captain Dwight was a staunch Episcopalian, a devoted churchman, and during his residence of 20 years in Columbia was closely identified with Trinity.

Captain Dwight married Miss Maria Gaillard, of Fairfield, who survives him. He leaves a sister, Mrs. H. N. Spencer of Winnsboro, formerly of St. Louis; a son, Charles S. Dwight, of Charleston, and daughters, Miss Marie G. Dwight, Charleston; Miss Martha P. Dwight, and Mrs. Eugene C. Cathcart, of Columbia, and Mrs. G. F. Patton, of Winnsboro.

Funeral services were conducted at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. John's Episcopal church, Winnsboro.

MRS. CLOWNEY RESIGNS.

Mrs. George Clowney, for several years county home demonstration agent for Fairfield county, has resigned her position, the resignation to take effect September 15.

Home demonstration work has grown under Mrs. Clowney's direction in Fairfield county and since the establishment and successful operation of the community market in Winnsboro the farm women are loath to give up the home demonstration work in Fairfield county.

A committee, composed of the following women, has been appointed by the farm women to use their influence with the county delegation in getting money to continue this work in the county: Mrs. J. D. Blair, of Strother, representing the Blair community; Mrs. Archie Young, of Winnsboro, representing the Hickory Ridge community; Mrs. J. L. Ratteree, of White Oak, representing White Oak; Mrs. M. B. Martin, of Strother, representing Salem; Mrs. T. H. Wilds, of Longtown, representing that community; Mrs. McIlroy, representing Avon; Miss J. R. Turner, of Winnsboro representing Lebanon.

MRS. KEEHAN GIVES CARD PARTY.

Mrs. William Keehan entertained at cards Friday afternoon. Six tables were set for bridge. The first prize, a pair of silk hose, was won by Miss Florida Martin; the consolation, a pin cushion made from a small doll attractively dressed, was cut by Miss Elizabeth Sloan. Block cream and cake were served. The favors were pink tissue paper roses filled with mints.

Camp Hampton, No. 389, United Confederate Veterans, of Columbia, sent a delegation to act as body guard at the funeral of the late Comrade, Capt. Chas. S. Dwight.

The delegation consisted of the following members of Camp Hampton: W. A. Clark, Commander; D. R. Flenniken, Adjutant; J. W. McCreight and Chas. S. Goodwin, members of Camp Hampton. The Camp also sent a very handsome floral design to be placed upon the grave of their late comrade. Mr. Clark, the commander of Camp Hampton, is probably, since the death of Capt. Dwight, the oldest living alumnus of Mt. Zion College. He attended as student at Mt. Zion under Professor Hudson in 1857 and spent three consecutive years as a student. In 1858 under Gen. Alston and in 1859 under Professor Muller.

Report of Gooding Audit Company.
Hon. J. E. McDonald, Chairman,
Board of Public Works,
Winnsboro, S. C.

Dear Sir:
We hand you herewith report showing the cash receipts of the board and the disposition of same for the year ending April 30, 1921, as shown by your records.

While, in some respects, these records are not as complete as they might be, we are of the opinion that these figures present the actual facts in the case.

In view of the fact that the board has borrowed no money for operating during the current year, and has made considerable headway in liquidating old liabilities, we would consider the net results for the year to be decidedly satisfactory.

Respectfully,
Gooding Audit Company,
By H. E. Gooding, C. P. A.

ATHLETICS AT MT. ZION.

The high schools of the state have learned that to get good work out of school pupils they must make high schools a greater attraction by offering good games as well as good studies. Also they realize a good citizen is best made by learning team work, loyalty, honesty of effort while in high school.

The extension department of South Carolina organized a two weeks' athletic school for, athletic coaches so as to train them how to conduct all games. They have as coaches, Sol. Metzger, in football, Coach Bean, of Atlanta Athletic Club and Georgia Tech, and others, all noted men each at the head of their department.

Coach M. M. Stewart, of Mt. Zion, is taking the course and reports much work. He has his uniform with him and is getting in great shape by eight hours work each day, learning much of the inside part of the game and expects to put out a good team this fall.

As school begins next week the familiar sound of "signals" and "hit him hard" will soon be floating over the college green.

THOMAS P. BRYSON.

Thomas P. Bryson died at his home here last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was buried Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by Dr. Oliver Johnson, his pastor, at the A. R. P. church and burial took place at the A. R. P. church immediately after. Mr. Bryson was born at Ora, Laurens county, April 22, 1852. Forty-one years ago he came to Fairfield county where he made his home up to the time of his death. He was a large planter, and lived on his farm until four years ago, when his health failed. He sold his farm and moved to town. He had been an invalid for the past six months, not being able to be out of the house. He had a stroke of paralysis August 29, from which he never rallied. He was patient and submissive during all his long sickness. He was twice married, the second time, June 28, 1899, to Miss Mattie Mills, of Chester county, who survives him. He is survived by the following sisters: Mrs. John Woodruff, Hattiesburg, Miss; Mrs. C. M. Wright, Spartanburg; Mrs. E. A. Wright, Fountain Inn, and Mrs. Frank Pearson, Woodruff.

TWO DAYS' CLINIC HELD IN WINNSBORO.

Dr. R. G. Hamilton, health officer of Fairfield county, held a tuberculosis clinic in Winnsboro in the county health offices last Thursday and Friday. He was assisted by Dr. Ernest Cooper, who is in charge of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at State Park, and Dr. B. E. Kneese, who until recently was connected with two of the largest hospitals in the United States and Canada. Dr. Kneese returned to South Carolina to enter the public health service, and is the health officer of Newberry county. Miss Helen Senton of the bureau of child hygiene, also assisted Dr. Hamilton. A great deal of interest was shown in the clinic. There was an attendance of 75 with 61 examinations.

Dr. Hamilton and Miss Clements, the county health nurse, are in their second year's work in this county. They are a very wideawake unit and have been very successful in building up this department in Fairfield, which we have both charged and credited, nor does it allow any credit for increase in the inventory of supplies on hand for the year.
