The Mitford teachers have come and I think all the people will like them.

The Junior Missionary Society gave an open meeting at the M. E. church Sunday evening.

The people around Mitford are very busy picking cotton.

"they take all and then go 'halvers."

A few will plant enough cotton to keep seed in the land, so that our posterity in years to come can see the Jack-o-lantern that their forefathers followed for sixty years in an unsuccessful effort to make money. Our children will never know of the rich and varied experiences of their daddies for the past sixty years with ex-slaves and cotton.

Some claim that when we turn our fields to weeds and grass we will soon have Mollie cotton tails in abundance, but I would not be surprised if the weevil would take to the cotton tails. Nothing that looks like cotton can escape them.

We are sorry to note that Rev. Mr. Sharp is at the hospital in Rock Hill for treatment. Appendicitis is thought to be his trouble.

CAPTURED TWO STILLS.

Magistrate C. A. Dye and Constable W. H. Davis, of Shelton, captured two stills in their neighborhood Saturday afternoon and night. They were of small capacity and were not in operation. The owners were not known, and as they have not come in to claim their property, no arrests have been made.

REVIVAL MEETING CLOSED SUNDAY.

The union revival meeting, which has been in progress in the Community building for the past week, closed Sunday night. Large crowds attended the meetings at both the morning and evening services, the attendance at the morning services being greatly augmented by the stores of the town, without exception, closing during the preaching hour. The services were in charge of the Rev. John A. May, of Alabama, and the music was conducted by Mr. Walton, of Atlanta, with Miss Rebecca Jennings at the piano.

There were several conversions and others reconsecrated their lives to Christian service, as a result of the meeting. However, the full beneficial effect of the meeting on the spiritual life of the community cannot be readily estimated. Preaching a true Gospel, and sound logical doctrines, Mr. May's presentations were clear and forceful. The seed which he planted here will be bearing fruit in the community for a long time to come.

As Rev. Mr. May had several days, with no engagement before going to another meeting, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, he held special services in the Methodist church. His subject for Monday morning was "The Intermediate State;" Tuesday morning, "The Final Resurrection;" and Wednesday morning, "Mother, Home and Heaven." The evening services were of evangelistic character.

THE U. S. VETERANS' BUREAU AGENTS ARE COMING TO COLUMBIA.

The Clean-up Squad will establish headquarters in Columbia, at Craven Hall (Red Cross) for the purpose of picking up any and all claims that are due to ex-service men in the counties of Fairfield, Richland and Lexington.

There are many ex-service men in Fairfield county that are entitled to compensation and many that need medical treatment. This is the best opportunity that ex-service men of the county have had since being discharged from the army, to get first hand information from the government.

The clean-up squad is composed of medical doctors, vocational men, and compensation claims men. Now is the time for you to take up with the government your claims, boys. If you were wounded in the service, or became disabled from serving in the military service, take your discharge and all communications that you have had from the government and go before the clean-up squad in Columbia between September 23rd and 27th.

Remember that you will be given your meals while meeting the squad and after you have completed your claim you will be given railroad fare back home by the government.

This squad has already taken up 2,000 claims with ex-service men in South Carolina. They have straightened out many claims, and filed over 800 new claims. Out of the 2,000 men that have visited the squad over 200 were sent to the hospital. These men needed hospital treatment and did not understand how to get it.

The big idea is the government is coming to you, instead of you having to write to the government trying to get satisfaction through the mail. Every man, woman or child should tell others about this campaign and take it upon yourself to see that all ex-service men who are disabled avail themselves of the opportunity to meet the clean-up squad.

MISS BARUCH HONORED.

Amos Carlisle Johnstone entertained at cards Saturday evening in honor of Miss Simona Baruch, of New York. Seven tables were set for bridge. The score prize, a box of candy, was won by Miss Marian Seiger, the consolation, a deck of cards, was cut by Miss Mayme Peoples. The guest of honor was presented with a book. The last hour of the evening was spent in dancing. Ices and cake were served.

MT. ZION INSTITUTE OPENED MONDAY.

Mt. Zion Institute began its one hundred and thirty-seventh year Monday, with a larger enrollment than ever before. Long before the time for the opening exercises a large crowd of pupils, former students and patrons assembled on the grounds; and the pupils showed a spirit of enthusiasm in taking up their work for the year.

Promptly at nine o'clock the students, teachers and visitors gathered in the chapel. Just before Superintendent Patton took charge of affairs a group of last year's students crowded together and gave a roof-raising yell for Mt. Zion, which seems to indicate the spirit which all the students of this year might adopt toward their work. In his usual impressive manner, Mr. Patton then welcomed the pupils and visitors and outlined the policy of the school for the year. Among other things he stressed this, "if the pupil in the higher grades—those approaching young manhood and womanhood—do not intend to work this year it will be far better for them not to come to school. Such a course will not only waste time for both the teachers and indifferent scholars, but will hinder those who want to study and make progress." After devotional exercises and prayer by the Rev. M. Mayes, of the Presbyterian church, Mr. Patton asked Mr. Mayes to address the audience, who spoke of the opportunities before the students and the utmost necessity of their taking advantage of them, if they would succeed in later life. He also emphasized the necessity of discipline, and told how its enforcement, now would exert an influence for good later.

Prof. M. M. Stewart, principal, spoke of athletics this year, especially of football. As he has just returned from the coaches' school at the University of South Carolina, he stated that football this year would be on a higher plane than heretofore. Resourcefulness and strategy would be called on to win more than weight and strength. Although Mt. Zion will have a lighter team than last year, by using head-work it is expected that she will put out a team with as many successes to her credit as heretofore.

The faculty of the school this year is as follows:

Miss Priscilla Ketchin, first grade; Mrs. John Fayssoux, second grade; Miss Maggie B. Turner, third grade; Mrs. P. M. Dees, fourth grade; Miss Eliza Belle Curlee, fifth grade; Miss Elizabeth Doty, sixth grade; Miss Cooper Walkup, seventh grade. High school: Superintendent, G. F. Patton; principal, M. M. Stewart; Miss Carrie Elliott, Mrs. George Clowney and Miss Bessie Chalmers, of Charlotte, N. C.

The Winnsboro mills school also opened Monday morning, with the following corps of teachers: Miss Lida Neil, first grade; Miss Nan Neil, second grade; Miss Elizabeth Sloan, third grade; Miss Emelyn Macfie fourth and fifth grades; Miss Mayme Douglass, sixth and seventh grades.

NEWS FROM THE WINNSBORO MILLS

School opened Monday with a record attendance. There are about 150 in attendance. The teaching staff consists of Misses Mayme Douglass, Emelyn Macfie, Lida Neil, Nan Neil and Elizabeth Sloan.

Mr. W. E. Sentell and son, Willie, motored to Hartsville Wednesday to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

Mr. W. E. Rambow has been confined to his bed for several days this week. He is at his post of duty again.

Those from the village attending Mt. Zion school are Tom Sentell, Ralph Sentell, Mary Lokey, Annie, Pauline and Paul Wilson, Marjorie and Ioma Wilson, Marjorie and Sibyl Pritchard, Lillian Stewart, Clarence, Nell and Emma Jayne Reese.

On Monday evening of last week the Booster's Club met in the hall and enjoyed a rousing get-together meeting to begin in earnest the fall and winter work. Every member was present. Covers were laid for seventy and the good women of the Women's Club served a delicious meal. After the meal addresses were delivered by Mr. Gordon A. Johnstone's agent, Mayor G. H. Lokey, Superintendent J. M. Williams, Service Manager F. L. Candee, and Rev. Geo. C. Gibson. Bright, snappy music was furnished by the orchestra. Everyone was agreeably surprised that we had such a splendid orchestra in our midst. These artists can be had for entertainment and dances for a reasonable rate. Those who heard them can vouch for their ability to please.

The club closed the meeting by songs and cutting a few shins. Honest we did not get any legs and light feet in our community. We are expecting great results from the Booster's Club.

Born several days ago to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Yandle, a bouncing baby girl. Both mother and the young lady are doing splendidly.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Lokey had as their week-end guest Mrs. Lokey's brother, Mr. Bert Simpson, and a friend, Mr. Herbert Flanning, of Belton. They came from Belton to Winnsboro on a motorcycle.

A wonderful enthusiasm has broken out among the men at the Baptist church. Numbers have joined the choir and are present each Sunday at the men's class. The singing has livened up and things are going a little more push and pep, men, and we will make the work worth while.

The Wednesday evening prayer services are also largely attended. The pastor has made these meetings very interesting by holding open forum for discussions and by blackboard illustrations. Last Wednesday the subject was "Degrees of Reward in Heaven." This Wednesday the subject was "Where do we go After Death?" Next Sunday evening the preaching service subject will be "The Hand writing on the Wall," or "Weighed in the Balance." All are welcomed to this church and all of its services. Make it your church home.

Rev. Geo. C. Gibson last week conducted a B. Y. P. U. study course each evening at the church. Quite a number of young people took the course. The examinations will be taken this week and a B. P. Y. U. organized next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. All the young people of the community, 13 years old and up are cordially invited to join, especially is every Baptist urged to engage in this work. It is your duty as a young Christian to fit yourselves for service.

Deputy Sheriff Ferry is becoming a terror to law-breakers in our community. There are but few in our immediate vicinity, but occasionally one slips in and seeks to prey upon our long-suffering patience, and Terry is quick to smell the odor of lawlessness and lands the offender where he belongs.
