

wood Fall Tennis Tournament in 1907, the championship cups in both singles and doubles were won by members of the Association, while our former Secretary, Mr. Reed Smith, of this city, was one of the doubles team that carried off the championship of the Carolinas at Greenville last June.

The three courts under the control of the Association have been recently placed in excellent order and on these beautiful October afternoons they may be seen well filled with eager followers of the sport, attempting some new wrinkle in serves or perfecting the "Lawford," that terror to unsuspecting opponents.

A tournament to decide the inter-collegiate championship of South Carolina will be held on the courts of Furman University in the next few weeks, and when the referee calls "Play" Carolina will be well represented in both singles and doubles.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

M. A. MILLER.

Among the many branches of college life, the Y. M. C. A. is one of the most important. Those who come to college in order to develop themselves into stronger and more perfect men cannot afford to neglect those things that greatly enrich college life. That much strength intellectually and spiritually is gained by connecting themselves with a literary society and also with the Y. M. C. A. cannot be denied. This being true, then, why not come along and join the Y. M. C. A.?

The Y. M. C. A. is here for active work. It is here that we have the opportunity of meeting together for real, pure worship. All denominational creeds are ignored and the fellows help to arouse in each other those qualities that count for much in Christian manhood.

The courses in Bible study are being organized. It is needless to try to estimate the value and good received from this study. There is no book from which so much of real knowledge, regardless of the religious aspect, can be derived as from a study of the Bible.

Prof. Gee told the Association last Sunday afternoon of his active work for four years at Clemson in the Y. M. C. A. His remarks were very instructive and helpful. It helps to cheer us on to know that we have a professor who is ready and willing to give his help in every way possible to this cause. Prof. Gee gave an excellent plan that he says was successful at Clemson, that would work well here if used. Every member try to get every other student interested in the Y. M. C. A., and bring him out to the services. Show your interest in the work and others will be sure to follow.

Let us not impede the progress of the University by staying away from the Y. M. C. A., but come out and do your duty. Let us go to work and make this the most flourishing branch of college life. Show to the Legislature your earnestness in wanting a student secretary. This will surely be an urgent and forceful plea and power towards the desired end.

LOCALS

On the afternoon of October the ninth, the chapel doors were flung wide for the purpose of organizing a Freshman Class from the rawest and freshest material that the organizers have had to contend with for many a year.

Every seat in the chapel was occupied, and amid the thrilling discord of brassy freshman, tin buckets and brickbats, the faint voice of Fresh Green (chaplain-elect) could occasionally be heard to say something like this, had his words not been interrupted, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, in the name of the pledge—Amen."

At length one man was found who agreed to preside over such a body—Pres. A. C. Moore. After appointing Fresh Green (J. M.) Secretary, nominations were in order for the freshest man. In the political contest which followed, there were no less than thirty candidates. After warm discussion, the five freshest of this number were voted on and it resulted in a survival of the freshest.

President—"Fresh" McIntyre.

Vice-President—"Fresh". Haynesworth.

Secretary and Treasurer—"Fresh" Sligh.

Last Monday morning Mr. Geo. H. Atkinson, an alumnus of Carolina, delivered an interesting and instructive talk to the student body. His subject was "Why a Man Fails in Life."

LAWN PARTY AT UNIVERSITY.

From The State.

Just at this season, with the campus at the University in the height of its beauty, the green carpet underfoot, green and fresh, and the fine old elms colored with the first tints of autumn, a more ideal setting could scarcely be imagined for a lawn party such as the one Prof. and Mrs. Andrew C. Moore gave for the student body on last Thursday afternoon. Fully 300 young people were there—the college boys, the girls of the two colleges, and the "town girls," and mingling with them during the afternoon were the members of the faculty and their charming wives, the ladies assisting Mrs. Moore in her duties as hostess to her great assembly of guests. Numbers of pretty young girls flitted about, serving ices, cakes and bonbons and bestowing on each guest a tiny bunch of the garnet and black, colors of the University.

Mr. Henry T. Bouchier, '08, of Marlboro, now of Wofford College, was on the campus several days last week.

The many friends of Mr. Douglas McKay, '06, are delighted to see him on the campus once more.

Fresh Clark—"Belser, are you in my section of I Math?"

Junior Belser—"I swing — boy."

At the opening german on last Tuesday evening Junior Finley was all rigged out in a new Tuxedo—in typical bellboy fashion—and seemed surprised when Prof. Keith said: "Say, waiter, bring me a glass of water, please."

Doctor Burney has recently had a burglar alarm put in, but Senior Lee very emphatically declares that it is a telephone.
