

University of South Carolina

Columbia, South Carolina

104th Session Begins September 23rd, 1908. Second Term Begins Middle of February, 1909.

Graduate School and Schools of Arts, Sciences, Law and Education.

Degrees Conferred. A. M., A. B., B. S., L. I., LL. B., C. E. and E. E.

The Law Department Offers Exceptionally Fine Advantages to Students of Law.

Carolina 4; Charleston A. C. 15

The team from the Charleston Athletic Club defeated Carolina on Davis Field on October 22 by the score of 15 to 4. The Athletics' team was composed of former college "stars," and all the men were fully experienced. In addition to this, they outweighed Carolina 13 pounds to the man, and made many gains by brute force. They played the "old-time" game, running line bucks and tackle out of tackle plays for the most part. The Carolina team showed great improvement in executing the forward pass, but a great deal more practice is needed. In the handling of punts Carolina is still deficient, and the men are not fast enough in getting down under them.

A drizzling rain fell throughout the game and was accountable for many of the fumbles. The ball was wet and slippery, and, consequently, not easily handled. On two occasions Charleston lost considerably on account of poor passing back of the ball for kicks. The attendance was greatly cut down by the unfavorable weather, but those who braved the elements were quite enthusiastic, the sidelines continually cheering.

The entire Charleston team played with ginger and spirit during the entire game, and several of her men showed up in the limelight. McFadden, a former Clemson "star," played brilliantly throughout. He used good headwork in the management of his team, and himself made the most spectacular runs of the game. Once, on a quarterback run, he eluded almost the entire Carolina team and went for 55 yards. Again, on a missed punt, he snatched up the ball and dashed 50 yards, being thrown only two yards from the goal. He also kicked well, and it was seldom that a punt or on-side kick did not fall in his hands. Von Gemmingen, the big tackle, was a tower of strength, both on offensive and defensive play. He made several good gains through the line. Boyd, Johnson and Wyndham also played a hard, aggressive game.

For Carolina, Herbert and Dargan, at ends, played the best game, particularly Herbert, who was in his first game. Both of them tackled hard and smashed many of Charleston's strongest plays. In executing the forward pass, they were quick and aggressive, netting some of the longest gains for Carolina. Hammond played well in the backfield, as did Belser, when he got in the game in the second half. Mobley never let up in his playing.

Carolina was decidedly "up against it"—to use a slang expression—but were game and gritty to the last down, playing with true "Carolina spirit."

ALUMNI NOTES

Special to The State.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—J. Rion McKissick, a law student from Greenwood, S. C., has been chosen vice-president of the Harvard Bryan organization that is planning to outdo their representative rivals. Already they have laid plans to start a newspaper—The Harvard Democrat—advocating tariff reform. Parades are being arranged by young Mr. McKissick and the other leaders in the movement. Lively political doings will fill the air in Cambridge until election day.

Mr. McKissick graduated at the University of South Carolina in 1905 with the degree of A. B. He was the recipient of many honors during his college career. His friends extend to him their congratulations and best wishes for success in his latest undertaking. Mr. McKissick will receive his L.L. B. degree at Harvard in June next.

While the teacher was absent from the schoolroom, Willie Jones wrote on the blackboard: "Willie Jones can hug the girls better than any boy in school."

"William, did you write that?" asked the teacher upon her return.

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, you may stay after school as punishment."

"Got a licking, didn't you?" asked a boy when Willie came out.

"Nope."

"Got jawed?" asked another.

"Nope."

"What did she do?"

"Shan't tell; but it pays to advertise."—Scrap Book.