Social Workers Hold Conclave

Last Friday Afternoon
South Carolina Conference Of Social Workers Hold Meeting In House Of Representatives

The South Carolina Conference of Social Work, of which Dr. G. Croft Williams, head of the University sociology department, is an executive committee member, began a series of meetings here yesterday, in the House of Representatives.

The program this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock will be presided over by Miss Mary Wheeler, associate professor of social work here. "Work Relief, A National Measure" will be considered with Miss Joanna Colcord of the Russell Sage Foundation, New York City, as speaker and the following discussants: Miss Laura Ebaugh, Greenville, and Mr. D. McL. McDonald, Columbia.

Of particular interest to the legal-minded will be an address tonight at 8:15 by Dr. John Bradway, outstanding professor of law at Duke University, on "Legal Aid Associations." It is hoped that Dean J. Nelson Friereson of the University law school will make an extemporaneous talk in this connection. Miss Joanna Colcord will also speak on "Merit System in Government."

Papers Given By Students

For Marine Corp Work
Capehart, Gettys, Hopkins, Martin, And Parrott Receive Commissions In Marines

The following students have received commissions in the United States Marine Corps effective upon graduation from the University, according to an announcement by Dean Francis W. Bradley: William C. Capehart, Boykin; William R. Gettys, Camden; Porcher Hopkins, Hopkins; Albert G. Martin, Hardeeville; and Meuburn B. Parrott, Columbia.

Five students successfully completed training in the Marine Corps Reserve for attendance with the Junior Division of the Platoon Leaders' Class. They are: William McNulty, Robert H. Morrell, James C. Thomas, John L. Wiggins, Jr., and Rex C. Williams, Jr. Capehart and Morrell were selected during the training period to represent the Marine Corps on the campus and to interest desirable students in future training.

Six principals and three alternates have been allotted the University for the Junior Division of the 1937 training period. Seventeen students from Carolina attended the marine camp the past summer and five boys passed their tests for commissions into the Marine Corps. The same type camp will be held this summer.

The Pass That Won!

Tuition Fees Are Moderate

The average cost of securing a college education at the University of South Carolina is from $340 to $390 yearly, according to an estimate by Frank F. Welbourne, treasurer of the University. Fees for out-of-state students are slightly higher, an additional $90 being charged per year. Fees, board, room, books, laundry, and incidentals are included in this estimate. Board can be obtained for $18 a month. The fees charged by the University total $146. A second-hand bookstore and pressing club are maintained in order to give students more reasonable prices. Laundry rates are also cheaper than in the city.

Fees for resident academic students for a year are: tuition, $60; semester, $10; library, $5; room, $40; contingent, $10; student activities, 15; total, $140.

Survey Shows Grades Count

The old statement that a good scholarship record counts for nothing while extra-curricular activities and "contacts" are all-important has been disproved, according to Dr. C. H. Waterfall, of the University school of economics. Doctor Waterfall's conclusions were based on his study of a survey conducted by the Bell Telephone system in which the records of 3,806 employees were examined. Men in the first tenth of their class, 20 years after graduation, draw a salary 20 per cent higher than those of the substantial campus achievement group.

This does not mean that students should confine themselves strictly to studies, but they should participate more in the literary, editorial, and managerial fields than in athletic, social, musical, or dramatic endeavors.

Students May Go To Furman Game

Girls Chosen For Sponsors
Cuts Will Be Excused

Special Buses Will Run To Greenville If Demand Warrants; Sign In Canteen

University students will be admitted free of charge to the Carolina-Furman game next Saturday, November 14 and special buses will be run to Greenville if a sufficient number signify their intentions of traveling to Greenville by bus. A slip of paper has been left in the canteen for students to sign if they wish the special buses, however this must be done before Monday afternoon at five o'clock.

Those students who attend the game will be excused from classes, according to John A. Chase, dean of administration. The names of the students who attend will be put on a list and presented to the registrar in order that only those attending the game will be excused.

A special reserved section will be provided for Carolina students and the University band.

A special invitation to the Carolina student body and faculty has been received from President B. E. Geer, of Furman, to attend the Carolina-Furman game and the dedicatory exercises of the institution's new Sirrine stadium which will be held on the football field prior to the game.

There will be ten sponsors for the Carolina-Furman game next Saturday, according to Bill Bochman, chairman of the social cabinet of the University. Five of these sponsors will be for members of the Carolina football squad and five for Furman.

Carolina's sponsors who have been selected for the affair are, Mary Pierce, of Columbia, for Capt. Bob Johnson; Helen Sotille, of Columbia, for alternate-captain Paul Gaffney; Crystal Taylor, of Columbia, for John Burns; Lucille Bramlett, of Greenville, for Osgood Bramlett.

The four Columbia girls will go to Greenville Friday afternoon in a special car, Mr. Bochman said.

Dec. 1 Made Deadline For Degree Seekers

All candidates for degrees and certificates are requested to file their applications with the registrar on or before December 1, John A. Chase, Jr., registrar has announced. A late fee of $2.00 will be charged candidates for undergraduate degrees after that date, and for graduate degrees after March 1.

Applicants have the choice of purchasing a $1.00 diploma printed on parchment paper with an imitation leather case or a $2.50 diploma engraved on genuine sheepskin with genuine leather case. Samples of both may be seen at the treasurer's office.

Before filing applications, candidates for all degrees are requested to make payment of the diploma fee to the treasurer and present a receipt to the registrar when the application is filed.

Alumni News

Dr. J. Rion McKissick, president of the University, has invited members of the Alumni Council to be guests in the president's box at the Villanova game. The Alumni Council is holding a meeting in the Moot Courtroom of the Law Library at ten o'clock on Saturday morning, November 7th.

Marion A. Wright, president of the Alumni Association, expects representatives of various committees appointed to make reports as to progress of various undertakings. He has written John H. Martin asking that he give a summary of the activities of the committee charged with the duty of re-establishing the Extension department; Irvine F. Belsler, whose committee is charged with the duty of assisting in securing the establishment of a department of political science; and Prof. T. F. Ball, who is asked to present ideas on the feasibility of sending to a few high schools throughout the State certain scientific exhibits which were shown to the alumni about two years ago.

A motion was passed at the last meeting of the Council to the effect

FOOTBALL TEAM'S SPONSORS NAMED

For Game Tomorrow
Color Will Be Added By Naming Of Honorary Captain By Squad

Four Carolina co-eds will serve as sponsors for the Carolina-Villanova game to-morrow which will be played at three o'clock at the University stadium, according to W. C. Bochman, chairman of the social cabinet.

The sponsors as named by the local committee are, Betsy Yeaton, of Sumter; Jean Campbell, of Florence; Harriet Lever, of Columbia; and Caroline Monteith, of Columbia.

These sponsors are to be driven to the stadium in a special car with a police escort and upon arrival will proceed to the front for the president's box. The Carolina football squad will form a huddle in front of the box and select some prominent Carolina booster as honorary captain for the game.

The four sponsors will enter the stands and invite the honorary captain to the president's box where he will be presented with a sweater bearing a Carolina athletic "C." This Carolina booster will then go with Captain Bob Johnson to the center of the field where he will toss a coin to decide which team will kick off and who will defend the most desirable end of the field. He will then return to the sidelines and sit with the sponsors and their escorts.

The local committee in charge of arrangements for the gala affair is composed of Dr. Frank Owens, president of the Carolina Booster's Club, William H. Harth, athletic director at the University, and William C. Bochman, chairman of the social cabinet.

This colorful clash between the Carolina Gamecocks and the Wildcats of Villanova will bring together two powerful elevens.

Villanova has suffered only one loss, that to Bucknell last week in a major upset. The Wildcats are regarded as one of the strongest teams of the East.

DRAMATIC GROUP PRESENTS COMEDY

Lewis And Webb Star
University Players Will Present "Enter Uncle Hal" On November 18 and 19

The University Players, Carolina dramatic organization, will present "Enter Uncle Hal," a drawing room comedy, in Drayton hall on the nights of November 18 and 19, according to Dorothy Scott, president of the organization. The price will be twenty-five cents to all.

The roles of the bride and groom will be played by Lucy Lewis and David Webb, respectively. Sam Cartledge will be the venerable Uncle Hal; Jane Crout, the mother-in-law; Rosa Wilder, the old negro "mammy" who foresees trouble; and Louis Searson, the perky reporter, who has the habit of being thrown out.

The story of this drawing room comedy treats the perplexing problems of a young married couple who are interrupted on their honeymoon by their stodgy and unwelcomed Uncle Hal.

This comedy was written by Mrs. Ed Cardwell, a native Columbian, and the aunt of Elizabeth Cardwell, University student. The play has never been produced by any other group and it represents an effort on the part of the University Players to stage a production of peculiar interest to Columbians and South Carolinians.

The production is being directed by Prof. Maurice Stephan, head of the Romance Language department.

Professor Stephan will be remembered for his capable directing of "The Ninth Guest," and Count Leo Tolstoy's, "Redemption," which was presented by the dramatic group last year.

The director is being assisted with the technicalities of the production by William S. Woods, associate professor of Romance Languages.

WPA Repairs Dormitories

Buildings Being Painted
Government Appropriates $15,000 To Renovate Quarters Of Students On Campus

Painting and other repairs are being made in the men's dormitories with a W. P. A. appropriation of around $15,000 for labor and materials, according to J. M. Cantey, marshal.

Washable gray and ivory paint is being applied to the walls and ceilings, respectively. The plastering will be patched and woodwork washed.

Students with padlocks on their doors are requested to leave them open when the workers are expected, and to put all valuables in closets or trunks to prevent loss.

Upon special request, the workers are now in tenement 22, but will return to tenement 1 as soon as that job is completed unless another such request is received, Mr. Cantey said.

The installation of oak floors in the Woman's building is almost completed, and the work will soon be begun in halls of the men's dormitories. A like sum was appropriated by the W. P. A. for this project.

These much needed improvements have been made possible by loans from the Federal government supplemented by state funds, through the New Deal agency.

A. S. U. Group Formed Here

Sixteen Students Join
Organizer Spoke In Freshmen Chapel Monday; Belongs To No Political Party

A chapter of the American Student Union was formed at the University Monday night by Francis Franklin of the University of Virginia. Sixteen Carolina students signed up for membership in the organization.

At the inaugural meeting Mr. Franklin pointed out that the A. S. U. belonged to no political party as has often been misconceived. He stated that the Union stood for "the abolition of the R. O. T. C., for the hindrance of preparation for war, academic freedom, and the support of the move to stop the war aggressor."

Two years ago an anti-war demonstration was staged by the student body. Classes were suspended for the hour and several hundred students participated.

Chapters of the Union have been installed at practically all of the leading colleges and universities of the United States. Chapters have been recently formed at Duke university and the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Franklin addressed the freshmen chapel Monday and stated that the American Student Union was able to function because, "American students

Gamecock Editor Talks About Trip

N. Y. A. Pays High Wages

Checks totaling $2,585 were paid to University students employed by the National Youth Administration during the month of Sept. 15-Oct. 15 through Frank Welborne, treasurer of the University.

Checks delivered to students numbered 218, and all those students are undergraduates, with the exception of six, Mr. Welborne stated. The undergraduates worked 8,373 hours while the six graduate students worked 146 hours.

Employees of the Administration were selected from many applications before the opening of school in September, on the basis of need and scholarship. They are paid on a scale varying from five to twenty-five dollars monthly, by the National Youth Administration, which is a part of President Roosevelt's "new deal policy."

Graham Goes To Louisville For Press Convention

Interesting Tale Narrated By Hunt In Chapel Exercises Tuesday Morning

Giving a few highlights of the national associated collegiate press convention held in Louisville, Kentucky, last week, Hunt Graham, editor of The Gamecock spoke to approximately 500 students in chapel Tuesday morning.

The speech in full, is as follows: "Last week, Ray Bergeron, business manager of The Gamecock, and I went to the national associated collegiate press convention in Louisville, Kentucky. Approximately 400 students, representing 176 universities and colleges from 33 states were present.

Going Up
"The trip to the convention was lovely. At Asheville, we met delegates from Duke, N. C. State, North Carolina Woman's college and Davidson. Of this number four were young men and fifteen were young ladies. That was entirely too much for me. We discussed our papers in detail on the way up."

"Next morning we registered for the convention at the Brown hotel.

"Just as I was registering a photographer of the Louisville Herald-Post snapped my picture. That afternoon the paper ran the picture, and the next day the paper went in bankruptcy—I've heard of people being so ugly that they broke cameras but never before have I heard of a person being so ugly as to break a newspaper.

I will not attempt to give you an account of the convention, for none of you are interested, but I will try to tell you a few things we saw and heard while in Louisville.

Met Purdue Man
"First of all we met a fast talking, smoothie representative from Purdue, named Hugh Morris, who offered to take us around the city. Of course, we took him up. Morris said he had been in college so long that when he entered, the word "neck" was a noun.

"He asked what we would like to do first, and Ray Bergeron said we would like to see some of the blue grass for

Odds And Ends

DEPUTATION
The University Y.M.C.A. will send a deputation team to Clemson college Sunday, November 15, according to Wilds Gillespie, chairman of the deputation committee.

Mr. Gillespie will be assisted by Josephine Philson, Harry Spann and Harper Welborn and will make several stops on the return trip at various high schools.

PULLING
An old-fashioned candy pulling will be pulled by the college department of the First Baptist church tonight at 7:30 in the kitchen of the Sunday School building. Students from other colleges in the city are invited also.

Those attending are advised not to wear anything they mind getting sticky, as a sticky time will be had by all.

APPLE
Apple butter for Southerners and spaghetti for Yankees are the two favorite foods of students dining at the University mess hall.

To decide the favorite of these two
