Tips Hat to Judge.

Last Monday a negro plead guilty to housebreaking and larceny before Judge Aldrich. The judge gave him two years. The same day a white man plead guilty to the same offense. The judge gave him five years, at the same time saying in effect: "The negro is ignorant; you are a white man and your opportunities have been greater than the negro and you should know better." And we are inclined to tip our hat to the judge. —[Gaffney Ledger.]

Women Outlive Men.

Once more woman has demonstrated her superior vitality, to the discomfort of more man, says the Westminster Gazette. Of the centenarians who died in the United Kingdom during the last year 42 were women and only a paltry 6 were men; in 1905 the numbers were 36 and 22 respectively, and in 1904, 41 and 22. During the last ten years the women who died after completing 100 years, at least, of life exceeded the male centenarians by 327 to 177—an advantage of nearly 85 per cent.

Feted by length of life woman can equal y claim the superiority. Bridget Danahar, who died last March in Limerick, was said to be 112 years old; Mary O'Hara, another daughter of Erin, was only two years younger, and Mrs. Sarah Egan, of Kings county, was credited with 107 years, while Bridget Somers, who ended her days in Sligo workhouse in 1904, had reached the ripe old age of 114. So healthy is Ireland that it is said she has at present more than 500 centenarians, while England, Scotland and Wales can only muster 192 among them.

Graft by Another Name.

They call some things by pleasant names in New York. For example, their "anti-tipping" law would be known here as an anti-grafting law. A civil case that should have some interest in this dispensary state is on trial in a New York city court before Justice Hascall. Samuel Sirkin, a manufacturer, is suing a department store for the payment of $1,555.81 with interest since last December for goods delivered. The department store refused payment on the ground that Sirkin had violated a section of the penal code in paying to the store's buyer a commission of $75.

In other words, the buying agent for the store received about 5 per cent. from the manufacturer for taking the manufacturer's goods, and that 5 per cent. was, of course, added to the bill to the department store. Under the New York law the manufacturer that "influences" the sale in this improper manner forfeits the value of the goods sold. It is popularly believed that a somewhat similar system, carried to extremes, is responsible for the final downfall of the state dispensary. The rake offs were, we presume, too magnificent to be designated as "tips."—[Columbia State.]

A Mixed School.

In one of the schools down on New York's East Side, where all nationalities are housed, there is a class of girls in which are to be found representatives of seventeen different countries. New York is noted as the gathering place of people from all over the world, and it is not surprising to find that in some schools New Yorkers may predominate, but they do not reign exclusively. In the majority, however, the classes have at least one child of foreign parents and in many of those in the neighborhood of the East Side the foreign element predominates.

The countries represented are: America, Germany, France, Russia, Italy, Spain, Brazil, China, Japan, Ireland, Arabia, Cuba, Turkey, Mexico, Canada, Denmark and Australia. Each girl is an excellent type of her country. It is most unusual, of course, to find Japanese and Chinese students in our public schools, but they make bright pupils. Fancy what a time the teacher of the class must have in training minds so much at variance with one another, and in handling children whose dispositions are so different, to say nothing of teaching them to master the language of the land in which they live.

In reply to an advertisement for a woman typist at a salary of $3.75 a week, a London firm on March 7 received no fewer than 397 replies.

Light and Shadow.

The recent drama of a pretty liner, of a preacher gone wrong, and of a community which heard him preach Sunday and wanted to mob him Monday is a sad affair, but one of the nice things a star—the preacher's wife. She denied that he beat her, put up bail for him to keep him out of jail, and even affected to be on good terms with the other woman, in order to make it appear that the story of his wrongdoing was all a mistake. How bad a bad man can be, and how good a good woman can be!—[Augusta Chronicle.]

FROM RICHES TO PENURY

After having lived in poverty in Yonkers, N. Y., for the past eight years George E. Ward, formerly of Philadelphia, who was the chief financial backer in the famous enterprise of improving the Savannah harbor, was located lately by his wife, who obtained a clew to his whereabouts through a pension agency.

Ward was a wealthy contractor in the early eighties, with his home in Philadelphia. In 1889 he secured the contract to dig up the channel of the Rappahannock River at Fredericksburg. At that time John Gaynor and Benjamin D. Green secured from Ward $75,000 to help finance the scheme of improving the Savannah harbor. The Savannah harbor improvements turned out to be a swindle, and Ward's fortune was swept away. His contract at Fredericksburg also proved a failure and it was this time that the wealthy contractor deserted his wife, and since then has been wandering about the country under an assumed name.

He is sixty-eight years old, gray haired, and a nervous wreck. Recently he applied for a pension, having served in the civil war, and it was through this agency that Mrs. Ward obtained a clew as to his whereabouts.

FORMER MARSHAL IN JAIL.

B. L. Toland, formerly a state constable and ex-United States deputy marshal, was lodged in jail at Spartanburg, S. C. by Assistant Deputy Sheriff Becknell, who went to Atlanta for Toland. At the last term of the criminal court Toland was convicted on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve a term on the chain gang. At the time of the trial he was out on bond and he failed to present himself to the officers to enter sentence or pay the fine. Several weeks ago he went to Atlanta and his bondsmen requested that he be brought back to that city and be required to pay his fine.

C. to the Diocesan Council in Columbia next month are instructed to urge the council to change the law concerning the voting of women in all of the Episcopal parish affairs. NEGROES KNOCKED WHITES

FROM THE SIDEWALKS

A small riot occurred at 10:30 o'clock at Lynchburg, Va., at Fifth and Main streets in which two white men and two negroes were shot, the negroes' wounds probably being fatal. All have been removed to the city hospital.

Three white men were walking on Fifth streets and they were jostled off the sidewalk by four negroes, one of the white men being knocked down in the gutter. A quarrel ensued and general shooting occurred, ten or a dozen shots being exchanged. A street car approaching was struck a number of times, the glass in the vestibule being shattered. How Motorman Brally, who was operating the car escaped being struck is a mystery, as glass on both sides and in front of him were shattered. The wounded white men are A. L. Weir, who was shot in the hip and left leg, and S. C. Crawford, who was struck in the hip. The wounded negro is John Haskins, who was struck in the abdomen. An unknown negro, who escaped was shot through the wrist.

SHOOTING AT ENOREE.

At Enoree Monday afternoon a young white man named Lawson, shot Bob Killets in the right breast, inflicting a wound that may result in his death. The ball passed through Killets' lung and lodged under the skin in the back.

It appears that Killets and several of his friends were at Enoree late Monday afternoon and were the worse from liquor. They met Lawson, whom they had never seen before, and Killets begged him to take a drink with him, which Lawson declined to do. He then walked away towards a drug store at Enoree. Killets followed and after talking to him gave young Lawson a sound thrashing. When Lawson arose from the ground he had his pistol in his hand and fired at Killets the ball striking him just below the right nipple. Killets is in a serious condition. He is about 25 years of age and married. Lawson is 18 years of age.

HELD ON WIFE'S CHARGE

W. E. Chatten, private secretary to an official of the Jamestown Company, stationed at the Tercentennial grounds who surrendered himself to the Norfolk police on a warrant for wife desertion, appeared before police Justice Simmons in Norfolk, but owing to his residence at the exposition grounds Justice Simmons did not have jurisdiction. He was held for the Norfolk county authorities in $500 bond.

Mrs. Chatten alleges that she was deserted in Los Angeles, with five small children. Chatten was employed in Los Angeles as a book keeper and received a salary of $125 a month, but left to come to work at the Exposition grounds, where he is now, it is alleged receiving a salary of $150 a month. Mrs. Chatten alleges that she has only received $25 from him since he left her seven months ago.

MEN NOT WANTED

Captain Groom, of Philadelphia, commander of the state constabulary, has issued orders that any private who gets married shall receive an honorable discharge, while no married men shall be enlisted. This order was necessary, says Captain Groom, because married troopers live outside the barracks and are not readily available in case of sudden call for duty, making most of the work of this kind fall upon the unmarried troopers in the barracks. Fully a dozen of the members of Troop B, stationed here, have been married recently, and several are engaged to wed young women of the vicinity.

BRIDE AND GROOM DIE IN FIRE

EN ROUTE TO WEDDING SUPPER

Dr. and Mrs. Loyd Gare were burned to death, and John Martin, of Fairmont, W. Va., narrowly escaped a similar death at Sutton, W. Va. when the Riverview hotel was destroyed by fire causing monetary loss of $13,000. Dr. and Mrs. Gare were married yesterday in Moundsville, W. Va. and were en route to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Gare, where a wedding supper awaited their coming. Mrs. Gare was Miss Elizabeth Wingrove, of Moundsville. Dr. Gare was 28 years of age, had just finished his medical education.

The fire originated in the laundry of the hotel and within a few minutes the building was enveloped in flames. John Martin had an interior room and when he heard the cry of fire he made his way into the room occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Gare and leaped from the window. He says the bodies were lying on the floor.

OVER HUSBAND'S DEAD BODY

WIFE HELD SHERIFF AT BAY

Armed with a rifle and standing guard over her dead husband's body, Mrs. L. C. Drew held a sheriff and four deputies at bay for over 20 hours yesterday at Water Valley, La., according to dispatches received from there. It is charged that Mrs. Drew shot her husband. When the sheriff's posse arrived to arrest the woman she opened fire, shooting whenever one of the officers showed himself. She was not captured until her ammunition was exhausted. Another woman whose name has not been made public, was found with Mrs. Drew but so far as known she did not take part in the shooting. No cause for the shooting of her husband is known. He was 48 years old.

"CIVILIZED" BACKWARD.

Despite the boasted beauty of England, that country's civilization, so far as the administration of its landed heritage is concerned, has drifted backward since the day of Elizabeth. At that time, and long thereafter, the desirability of an extensive subdivision of land, and of giving every family at least so much attachment to the soil as grow out of the use of the village commons, was fully recognized. It was required that the cottage of every peasant should have at least four acres of land attached. Under this system of land division a splendid yeomanry grew up, the "backbone of the nation" in peace and war. Its decadence, the enclosure of the commons, and drift of the rural population to the cities has reduced the backbone to punk. No triumph of commerce or war or diplomacy abroad can compensate for decay in manhood, and less of numbers in its independent agricultural population at home. The conscience of the nation, represented by the party now in power, recognizes this, and strenuous efforts are now being made to get the people back to the land, the land back to the people. Whoever imagines that the return of the people to their own—the reoccupying of broad parks and game preserves by groups of cottages, industrious farmers and sportive children—will impair or degrade the beauty of the land, has a perverted aesthetic sense. A happier England will mean a more beautiful England.

ROAD SIDE FRUIT TREES.

Americans who visit Belgium with observant eyes, and note the rows of fruit trees bordering the public roads, come away impressed with a sense of wasted opportunity in their own country. Just think what an abundance there would now be of fruit of all kinds as well as of umbrageous beauty everywhere, if the miles and miles of dull, shadeless American roads had been planted with hardy apple, cherry, plum and pear trees! The cost would have been slight, the amount of care required, small, the returns, how large! In the neighborhood of towns and cities also, the abundance of roadside fruit which the boys might be permitted, under slight restrictions, to pick up and eat at will, would have been a protection to private trees, which few persons now attempt to grow on account of the general apprehension that the boys, not the cultivator, would get the fruit.

THE MORE DESIRABLE TOWN.

The town whose stores and shops thrive on the patronage of a large population engaged in agricultural pursuits and home handicrafts is a far pleasanter and healthier place to live in than one where population is packed in factories and tenement houses.

Plant flowers in the soul's front yard,
Set out new shade and blossom trees,
An' let the soul, once froze and hard,
Sprout crocuses of new ideas.
Yes, clean yer house, an' clean yer shod,
An' clean yer barn in ev'ry part;
But brush the cobwebs from yer head,
An' sweep the snowbanks from yer heart.
Sam Walter Foss.
