PICKENS, S. C. :

Nature's Awakening.

Take a drive into the country now and as your eyes fall upon field and meadow, there is every evidence of an awakening of nature. The recent shower, followed by springtime's golden sunshine, has brought forth the green so pleasing to the eye and given hope to the soul of man.

What is more impressive than this change of seasons, this coming of life, where a few months ago all was death?

Viewing with Nature in all her splendor, a long pent-up humanity takes to outdoors and enjoys the invigorating sunshine.

The season when the merchant, as well as the farmer, wears a smile, is at hand. All humanity ever longs for Spring, when all nature animate and inanimate teems with newly given life.

Spring, the real thing. Joy in its reality is not confined to the birds, to the young lambs, to the housewife who sees the smoke from the burthe landscape spread, or of Spring-time now upon us.

There is a certain kind of expatriate American snobbishness that goes a long way toward justifying the contempt which foreigners entertain for our fellow-citizens abroad. In Paris, for instance, is an American woman who maintains a "salon" and whose boast it is that English is never spoken in her house. It is difficult to comprehend the mental status of such a person, but we are forced to confess that it is exclusively American. Nobody ever heard of a Frenchman pluming himself on the fact that he never spoke French, or a German repudiating his own language. It is precisely because a certain class of Americans seem to be ashamed of their country that Europeans have a good deal of contempt for us.

The Birmingham News says the corn crop of the Southern States for 1906 was worth $500,000,000. The value of the cotton crop of the Southern States for the same year was about $700,000,000. Add to these the value of the wheat, oats, tobacco and fruit crops, the value of live stock and poultry, and the value of industrial products in the South, and the total will make it easily understood why this vast fertile and productive region cares not a rap about the turmoil among the stock jobbers and gamblers and get rich-quick dispatches of frenzied finance in Wall street.

The good book says, "Give to everyone that asketh thee" but that doesn't mean to give a drunkard money to buy whisky; it doesn't mean to give the baby a hammer and looking-glass because he asks for it, and it doesn't mean that we shall give to professional beggars who travel from town to town. The Bible doesn't always mean what it says, but it always means what it means.

The farmer's hair may be bushy, his skin bronzed, but his eyes are clear, his digestion is like that of a three-year-old mule his conscience is like the ether above his head, and his bank account as fat as his favorite shunt. He is the most independent creature that wears the garb of civilized man.

When a man in search of a home or business location goes to a town and finds everybody full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place, he, too, soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, drives down his stakes and goes to work with equal interest.

How

Saves You Money

THE way to figure the cost to you of a wagon, a carriage or a set of harness—
Is to figure the cost as long as you use it.
If a farm wagon, for instance, costs you $60 and lasts 20 years and requires $10 worth of repair, the cost to you is $3.10 a year.
If another wagon costs $80 and requires $10 worth of repair, the cost to you is $4 a year, at least.
Which is the cheaper?

There is no doubt about the lasting qualities of Studebaker wagons, carriages and harness.
It's the material that goes into them—plus the way they are made.
Studebaker farm wagons have axles 3/4 inch deeper than others, made from selected butt-cut Black Hickory—air-dried from 3 to 5 years.
The axles are also reinforced with a special bar of steel running from the heel of one skein to the other.
The Studebaker Patent Truss Skeins are made from cast iron having a transverse strength of over 3,000 pounds to the square inch—25% greater than the requirements of the United States Government—and probably 50% greater than the ordinary wagon.
The Studebaker hubs are large in diameter—furnishing a proper foundation for the spokes. They are treated with a secret solution, which greatly adds to their weather resisting qualities.
The Studebaker slope-shoulder spokes—one of the greatest improvements ever made in wagon building—carrying the largest amount of weight into the hub. They are strongest with other spokes are weakest.
The Studebaker patented round edge tires are oil-welded and cold. That's why they never loosen.
And so on—point by point—feature by feature—nothing that will add to the durability and long life of the wagon.

Studebaker is overlooked.
Do you wonder that it lasts?
Do you wonder that it is the wagon with a reputation behind it?
You cannot afford to buy a "cheap" wagon, when you can get the best for so little.
It is poor economy to be constantly paying out money for repair bills.
Get a Studebaker and save money.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE of what plant foods can do for farmers. The picture on the right shows plant development and potato yield (55.8 lbs.) of a small patch, treated with

POTASH

On the left, a patch of same size (yield 21 lbs.) planted at same time, in same soil, but untreated. These pictures are taken from an experiment station bulletin, compiled in

Our Free Book, "Profitable Farming" which gives authentic and authoritative accounts of experiments and actual results of practical and scientific farming. It is invaluable to the farmer who is anxious to improve his products and who is working for a wider margin of profits. Send for it to-day.
