

PICKENS, S. C.:
THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1909.

Whiskey For Sale.

We heard that several parties have ordered, and have got, a lot of whiskey, which they expect to dispose of at the fair next week. This may be idle rumor, and we hope it is, but if it be true, we hope the said parties will take a second thought and desist from their plans. At the fair will be no place for any one under the influence of whiskey and the officers of the law are determined to be extra vigilant to see that there is none sold, and even drank in and around town during that time, if they can prevent it. With main street packed and jammed with women and children and the streets closed to traffic, one man under the influence of a decoction of the cheap poison would create a panic and might be the means of several lives lost. We hope the good people of the county will exert their influence for a sober crowd at the fair. If you have any whiskey to sell or drink, wait until the fair is over to do it. As we remarked in the outset, this report may be only an idle rumor, and we hope it is, but a stitch in time saves nine, and a word to the wise is sufficient.

The Importance of Observing the Rules Laid down for Exhibitors.

We print to-day a series of rules laid down to govern exhibitors, which are necessary in order to enable the various committees having charge of exhibits to properly collect and direct the same so that none may be overlooked. The crowded condition of the streets during Fair week, and the fact that Main Street will be closed against travel during the active operations of the Fair make it necessary for the convenience of all parties and for the safety of the general public that some rules be made and enforced. So do not blame the Fair management for any miscarriage of your own exhibits, but take these rules into consideration, and observe them by sending your exhibits in due time and aid the various committees by looking personally after your exhibits.

Post Master Morris Attends Meeting.

The Sixth Annual Convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the second and third classes, was held at Gainsville, Ga., on September 8, 9, 10, 1909, and Postmaster A. M. Morris of Pickens, S. C. attended same. Postmaster Morris stated that the convention was a success in every respect, and although there was considerable business transacted at the said meeting, there was plenty of time remaining for pleasure and he enjoyed every moment of the trip.

Postmasters from all parts of the country were present, some of which had never seen cotton growing, therefore meetings of this kind not only improve postal facilities but affords opportunities for the Northern people to become better acquainted with the Southern people and the progress they have made since the war and are making in the present time. Let us hope that Postmaster Morris will be able to convince the majority of the members that Pickens is the most suitable place for next convention.

Governor and Mrs. Joseph M. Brown gave a reception to the Postmasters at the Executive Mansion Saturday evening, and when he saw Mr. Morris he intentionally forgot his dignity and screamed with sincerity, "Why, there's my old friend Morris, from Pickens."

Pickens Court House on June 30, 1909, a resolution was proposed and adopted commemorating the valor and bravery of old soldiers, many of whom have long since passed to their reward, and it was especially desired that the Old Soldiers of Pickens County give some public expression of their appreciation of their comrades in arms who have passed to their final reward, and, whereas, it is desired to make this expression of esteem and appreciation out of respect to many who did not hold membership in any Camp of Confederate veterans in the County, though it seemed eminently meet and proper that they should be remembered, and desiring so to remember all old soldiers who were entitled to recognition as Confederate veterans, the meeting of June 3rd, 1909, saw fit, after full discussion, to appoint the undersigned a committee to draft suitable resolutions as hereinabove indicated:

BE IT Resolved: That the old soldiers of Pickens County, through the undersigned committee duly appointed, hereby speak the feelings of regret and of loss which the Confederate veterans of Pickens County sustain in the death of all our comrades who have passed away since the organization of any Camp in Pickens County. In a general way, we cannot deal with each individual life and hold it up to the present generation more than to say that the courage exemplified by these soldiers has had no equal in the history of this country. The Southern army contained no truer representatives of American soldiery and citizenship than those who went from this section of South Carolina to serve the cause for which they fought for principle. In passing we realize that such tribute as this must be written of all true soldiers, and we think it appropriate that we stop long enough to give some measure of expression of our gratitude to God for his mercies unto us in giving us the examples of their lives and in sparing us to fulfill our allotted duties. We yield submissively to the decree of Him who doeth all things well, and commend the present and future generation to those lives devotion, as true examples of the highest citizenship. We would remind all old soldiers of the days so soon to come when they too must wrap their mantles about them and lie down to pleasant dreams.

We commend you all to the source of all comfort and strength.
 Respectfully submitted,
 W. B. Allgood,
 Chairman.
 A. F. McCord,
 B. J. Johnston,
 Committee.

Catechee

It was the writers pleasure to attend the Sunday school picnic at Six Mile on last Saturday, 10th inst. Promptly at 9 a. m. The people began to gather at the church and by 10 o'clock there was a good crowd present. The writer has seen larger crowds at Six Mile, but owing to the mud and the inclemency of the weather the audience was fairly good. At 10 a. m. the Supt. of the school, Mr. C. R. Abercrombie, read the 23rd and 24th division of Psalms after which a prayer was offered by Brother D. E. Garrett.

As the invited speakers, Hon. J. E. Boggs and Rev. J. M. Stewart, had not arrived by this time a program was arranged as there were other able speakers present. The first speaker, Rev. W. M. Walker, was then introduced and made a good lecture on Sunday school work. Every body who knows Bro. Walker, knows he is one of the ablest promulgators of the Gospel, in the county, for the Lord seems to bless his work and crown his efforts with success wherever he holds a meeting. He closed a weeks meeting at Glenwood Cotton Mill a few days ago and the result was 25 accessions to the church.

The next speaker was Bro. J. C. Garrett who also made an instructive and edifying talk on Sunday school work. Mr. Garrett made his speech pretty well along the same line that he did at the Catechee Sunday school picnic. He showed the importance of work to develop the physical frame as well as the mental training. Mr. Garrett is an earnest worker in a Sunday school and has a flourishing school at his church in Norris.

The third and last but not least, was that natural born speaker, Hon. W. G. Mauldin, who is always ready when it comes to making a speech, either politically or religiously. He seemed to be at his best on this occasion and for the writer to undertake to outline his speech our pen would fall short of him justice; for his words touched the hearts of a present and when he there was scarcely a dry eye in the audience.

audience was then told to retire to the grove near the church where they might find something as pleasing to the eye and taste as that they had seen receiving by the ear.

After marching out there we found a table 80 feet long and loaded with every kind of luxuries, and when every one present had fully satisfied their appetites Bro. A. D. Garcoy was the food as there was enough left on the table to have fed the same crowd again.

Right here we want to say to the young men who are contemplating marrying, and want a good cook go to the Six Mile section to get her.

At 1 p. m. the audience reassembled in the church when Prof. R. M. Baker was asked to arrange the class and sing 15 minutes. It is needless to say that these brethren made some soul stirring music.

At three P. M. Rev. W. M. Walker preached from the text "Behold Thy Mother." At the close of this sermon the spirit was visible all over the audience. Bro. Walker opened the door of the church and received two members into the church. After extending the right hand of fellowship to these two young converts, the audience was then dismissed and returned home about four P. M. feeling that they had been benefited by being present at the picnic at Six Mile.

The members of Six Mile church have had three misfortunes, by having three churches burned at this place. However they have by their unceasing efforts rebuilt every time. They now have a $1,500 house here just completed a few months ago. The church is built in an ideal place and a better section of country cannot be found in the State than this Six Mile country.
