

CRATE FOR CATCHING HOGS.

Must Be Made of Strong Material to Stand Strain.

This crate can be made of most any kind of strong material. We used 2x2 for posts, 1x4 for slats and 1x4 boards for bottom and lower side boards. Crates are about five or six feet long, 2 1/2 feet high and 1 1/2 feet wide. Five-sixteenth-inch bolts used at corners and through lower end of lever and at cross at top where levers slide. Run any size hog or pig in from back end and have man catch them as they stick their heads between the lever slats. A boy can hold the largest hog very easily while being rung, etc., without injury to either. When ready to let them loose, directs the Epitomist, throw levers open and hog goes through outside and is separated from unringed hogs. We also use it as a crate to haul one or two hogs. This is worth $25 to us and can be made for almost nothing and in an hour on a rainy day.

companying illustration, says Prairie Farmer. It is fastened on the top of the bridle, brought down on each side and passed through the rings on the bridle. The lines are then attached to the rings on the strap and when the horse starts to run it is very easy to hold him as the bit is drawn up.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to get the right morning. Sold by all druggists.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Waste of Life in Coal Mining.

During the year 1906 nearly 7,000 men were killed or injured in the coal mines of the United States, and indications point to an increase in that number since that period, due to a lack of proper and enforceable mine regulations; to the lack of reliable information concerning explosives used in mining, and the conditions under which they can be used with safety; to the presence of gas and dust encountered in the mines and to the fact that in the development of coal mining not only is the number of coal miners increasing, but many areas from which coal is being taken are either deeper or farther from the entrance, where good ventilation is more difficult and the dangerous accumulations of explosive gas are more frequent. To remedy this state of affairs, says Review of Reviews, the United States must adopt the means that have proved successful in European countries. In 1895 our ratio of killed in every 1,000 employed in mines was 2.67. In 1906 it reached 3.40. Effective mining legislation tells a different tale in Europe. In this country 50 per cent. of all the fatal accidents and 39 per cent. of all the non-fatal accidents were due to falls of roofs and coal. In all European coal-producing countries the use of excessive charges of explosives is prohibited by law, and definite limits are set to the amount of any explosive that may be used. In the United States there is no limit. In this country during 1906 11 per cent. of deaths in coal mines were due to gas and dust explosions. Abroad, governmental testing stations into the use of explosives are conducted.

The forthcoming trip by Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of her friends up the Mississippi from the gulf to St. Paul is evidently a direct result of the president's journey down the river when on his way to the Louisiana bear hunt. He expressed himself publicly at the time as enjoying the experience, and no doubt went home and talked enthusiastically about it. The tour planned is well worth taking, remarks the Indianapolis Star, and when it is ended the travelers will know many new things about their country. River travel has many attractions for people who wish an outing and are not afflicted with the mad American haste to "get somewhere."

A Chicago man proposed 385 times before he was accepted. This was not so much for a Chicago man. If it had been a Baltimorean the case would have been different. As the autocrat of the breakfast table once pleasantly remarked, says the Baltimore American, if you wrecked a Baltimorean on a desert island, he would be parading the beach with a pretty girl the next morning. Mexicans are accused of taking shiploads of Yaquos out to sea and drowning them. Mexico probably wonders why it never hit on this plan of answering the Indian question before.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS
Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also. The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.
GIVEN AWAY.—Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new revised Edition, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATTLE AS A SIDE ISSUE.

Probable That They Pay a Larger Profit Than Cattle Otherwise Raised.

It is probable that cattle as a side issue pay larger comparative profits than cattle raised in any other way. The farmer that raises a small bunch of good calves can frequently feed them at almost no cost. The statisticians that figure on the cost of raising beef cattle always put in the cost of the pasture at a certain fixed price. But in the case of the pasture being otherwise understocked, the feeding of a bunch of steers actually costs nothing. On many of our farms unused opportunities go to waste. These opportunities include acres of corn stalks in the fall of the year; rough grasses that the smaller stock do not eat; pasture grasses in excess of what the other stock will eat; silage in a greater abundance than can be eaten by the dairy cows. Some times these opportunities include unused grazing areas in the woodlands. The farmer to utilize all of these lets some of his calves grow up into heaves. The men that think they know that heaves do not pay cannot convince the farmer that he is not ahead under the above-mentioned conditions.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

According to the noble commission in Rome, which has revised all titles, a younger son of a count is a Noble del Conti—a noble of the counts. Therefore Count Scanni can put on his visiting cards above his Christian and family name the crown of a count and, for courtesy, is called "Conte." His wife may call herself "Nobile Donna del Conti" others will call her "Contessa." Even on court invitations her name will figure in that attribute.

The report by the Illinois Pupils' Reading Circle that during the year 1907 22,739 books were distributed among the school children of the state may well encourage the formation of circulating libraries in every populated school district in other states. For all that, as well as for the children, the circulation of literature thus provided greatly enriches the medium of the long winter evenings and cultivates a taste for books that is altogether beneficial. In the rural districts there are already many such libraries, but not enough of them, says the St. Louis Republic.

A woman in Detroit wants a divorce from her husband on the ground that he has so much that he has no time left in which to work for the support of his family. This plan of being "too busy" will make men sigh again with resigned despair at ever being able to solve the puzzle of the feminine ego. "There is no pleasing 'em."

Making the Best of It.
That the blind must live in a world of their own, shut out from all the interests and activities of their fellow-men, is a lessening belief. To dispense the stiffness of all work such as the vast of the most commonplace tasks they keep pace with or even outstep those with full senses. Says the secretary of the New York Association for the Blind: "On the staff of the association a blind stenographer is regularly employed. I usually have her to do my work for me, and find that she makes fewer typographical errors than any of the others. . . . When I asked the head of our telephone company to give a switchboard for blind people to practice on he thought I was crazy. That was a year ago. I had the pleasure of writing him the other day asking for the installation of a switchboard at our new office. . . . and told him there were now in the city of New York five blind switchboard operators, two in hospitals in positions of great responsibility, where they have the ambulance calls and other emergency work; two in business houses and one in the editorial rooms of a great New York daily paper. Three of these switchboard operators are women." The less of one sense often offsets the other four to a keenness which overcomes the apparent deficiency. What the blind usually lack, says Collier's Weekly, is opportunity and the movement to give them opportunity should enlist the sympathy and help of all.
