

Would like to do so.

We would be pleased did our little BULLETIN afford room to give each of Newberry's enterprising merchants who come before the public this morning a good send off, in the way of an appropriate notice, but they must preforce take the will for the deed. This we can say, that those represented in this paper are of the stamp that will do to be to; honorable and fair in all their dealings, we commend them heartily to the great public who are in town to-day in attendance on Newberry's Second Annual Fair under the new regime. If you need anything in Dry Goods, Clothing, Millinery, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Groceries, Crockery, Furniture, Doctors' Stuffs, Wagons, Buggies, Jewelry or Watches, Candy, Fruit, Segars; want a note discounted in Bank, a little legal advice, a horse or mule shod, or a piece of machinery repaired, look over the card and decide where you will bestow your patronage. Perhaps you don't need anything to-day, or this week, in that case take the BULLETIN home with you and refer to it when you are in need.

To Advertisers.

A limited space is still open for those who have not as yet sent in their cards for a place in our BULLETIN. We have two more issues—Thursday and Friday and as every body gets a copy the opportunity afforded for advertising is a good one.

Local or special notices inserted at five cents per line, but must be handed in the day before publication.

The BULLETIN is distributed without charge, no one need therefore come in to subscribe for it. The Weekly HERALD however can be had twelve months for $2, six months for $1 or three months for 50 cts. If you are not a subscriber come and give us your name.

Cheap muscle not being convenient Mr. M. Foot one day last week moved a barrel of sugar weighing 338 lbs. into position and did not think it much of a feat.

Visitors to the Fair who wish to write are invited to the HERALD Book Store. Paper, pen and ink will be furnished free of charge.

If you would while away an hour in pleasant reading get a cheap book at HERALD Store. Large variety to select from.

If you want any kind of Stationery, fancy or plain, call at the HERALD Book Store. Large variety, prices moderate.

Our Fair week BULLETIN takes like hot cakes. Everybody likes it, and our merchants have places in the picture.
