

Among the patchwork quilts, two of silk, Nos. 745 and 633, and 549, the latter made by a little girl 6 years of age, were particularly noticeable. A home-made rug, No. 132, also deserves mention, we could not ascertain of what material it was made, but the amount of work on it was wonderful. A woolen counterpane, No. 333, was a good piece of work.

The wine committee could not find a cork screw to open their bottles until an editor came up and furnished one he uses on paregoric bottles. A thimble full of blackberry wine was his reward.

A very pretty piece of work and very much admired by the ladies was a pillow sham with thread lace insertion, made with 25 bobbins. Oh the amount of bobbin' done.

Lace work by a child 14 years old, a crocheted child's sack, a crocheted shawl, a lace handkerchief, and a large variety of Green house flowers, claimed much attention.

A long, low, plain shanty of undressed pine, with a door at either end had its scores of visitors. Mr. Thos. Q. presided. No article was tagged, but the fagg d were refreshed.

Messrs. Smith & Christian have had between two and three hundred horses in their stables every day since the Fair began.

Mr. Robt. W. Atchison and Mr. Henry Dorroh have as fine pairs of S. C. raised mules as can be found in the State.

The order at the Fair Grounds yesterday was excellent. Not a single drunken man on the grounds.

Newberry can beat any County in the State on fine horses. The display yesterday was something to be proud of.
