The Port Royal News South, of the 13th instant, contains the following highly interesting information:

A ROGUE COMES TO GRIEF.

Sometime ago a gentleman at Charleston made affidavit before Capt. Pratt, Provost Marshal of the Northern District of this Department, that he had met in the streets of that city one M. C. Laturite, Sergeant-at-Arms of the United States Senate, at the breaking out of the rebellion. This notable, it appears, had disposed of certain furniture and carpeting in the Senate Chamber, and appropriating the money, left for the South. A reward of $5,000 was offered for his arrest, and when interrogated by some one on this point, supposing he was among those of his own kidney, he admitted the fact. Under the supervision of Capt. Pratt, a careful watch of the fellow's actions was instituted, and it was soon discovered that he was engaged in "roping in" soldiers and others to a gambling hell—in fact, was doing a very brisk business. He was arrested, and when asked for his pass, the document was non est, and he gave as a reason that he had come to the city as one of General Sherman's advance scouts—a lie, of course. He was then sent to the Headquarters of the Provost Marshal General at this place, to be examined, punished befittingly for gambling, and forwarded to Brigadier-General J. B. Fry, at Washington, to run the rascal under the double charge of being a spy and a thief.

Whereupon on Tuesday, as the good steamer Fulton was about to leave for New York, a double file of soldiers, with reversed arms, traversed our town and proceeded out upon the wharf, lugubriously. In their rear marched this doleful but vicious looking customer, with his head just half shaved and a placard on his back inscribed "A GAMBLER." And bringing up the procession was the music—the drum and fife, blowing to the winds the monotonous but plaintive air of the "Rogue's March"—and speaking for its distinguished guest unrequitingly.

Poor old sol—dier!

Poor old sol—dier!

I'm the man who swindled you out

Of all your hard-earned money—

I'm going North with my head half-shaved,

Wishing I had 'nt done ye!

The TAX COMMISSIONERS have increased the amount received for taxes, since the occupation of Charleston, from $20,000 (mentioned in our last issue) to about $30,000.

In Charleston and vicinity, the time allowed by the act expired the 6th of May—since which time 10 per cent. interest is added to the tax from the 1st of July, 1862—that being the date of the President's proclamation declaring certain States and parts of States insurrectionary districts. Section 9 of the amendment of the act of March 3d, 1865, says: "That boards of tax commissioners shall give due notice, by advertisements, of sales of lands to be made by them, by authority of law, as the Commissioners of Internal Revenue, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall order and direct."

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
COLUMBIA, May 22, 1864.

To the People of the State of South Carolina.

I HAVE THIS DAY RECEIVED INFORMATION of an order issued by Major-General Q. A. Gilmore. I deem it proper, without delay, to present it to you for your information, such portions thereof as effect me and concern you; because they create for you a conflict with the forces of the United States, which can only be avoided by my forbearance to exercise the functions of the Executive Department of the State:

HEADQUARTERS DEPT OF THE SOUTH,

HILTON HEAD, S. C., May 15, 1865.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 63.

1. The proclamation of A. G. Magrath, styling himself Governor of South Carolina, dated at Headquarters, Columbia, South Carolina, May 2, 1865, declaring that all subsistence stores and the property of the Confederate States within the limits of the State should be turned over and accounted for by the agents of the State, appointed for that purpose, and directing that the subsistence and other stores shall be used for the relief of the people of the State, and the proclamation of Joseph E. Brown, styling himself Governor of Georgia, dated at the capital of that State, on the 3d day of May, 1865, requiring the officers and members of the General Assembly to meet in extraordinary session at the Capitol in Milledgeville, on Monday, the 22d day of May, 1865; and the proclamation of A. K. Allison, styling himself Acting Governor of Florida, dated at Tallahassee, on the 8th day of April, 1865, giving notice and direction that an election be held on Wednesday, the 7th day of June, 1865, for Governor of the State of Florida; are, each and all of them, declared null and void, it having become known to me, from trustworthy information, that the aforesaid A. G. Magrath, Joseph E. Brown and A. K. Allison, are disloyal to the United States, having committed sundry and divers acts of treason against the same, in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.

The persons and peoples to whom the proclamations hereinabove referred to have been respectively addressed, are, therefore, enjoined and commanded to give no heed whatever thereto, or to any orders, proclamations, commissions or commands emanating from persons claiming the right to exercise the functions and authority of Governor in either of the States of South Carolina, Georgia or Florida, unless the same shall have been promulgated by the advice or consent of the United States authorities.

11. * * * * *

111. District and Post Commanders throughout this Department will at once cause this order to be circulated far and wide, by special couriers or otherwise, and will take such steps to secure its enforcement as may by them be deemed necessary.

Q. A. GILMORE,

Major-General Commanding.

Official: G. F. McKAY, 1st Lieut. and A. A. General.

I cannot, under all the circumstances which surround you, expose you to the consequences which will be produced because of any effort on my part—fruitless, if not mischievous, as it must be—to exercise those functions which you in your confidence have committed to me. Nor am I willing that, without such consequences to you, while in the Executive Chair of the State, I shall be held forth to the world charged with crime; without the most positive declaration, that I am ready to meet and repel it, whatever and by whomsoever made.

In that peculiar condition of our affairs, which is now disclosed to you, I feel that my duty, whether considered in regard to myself as your Executive, or to you as a people whose welfare is dear to me, is at once plain and imperative. I will not introduce within this State discord or contention. I will not allow myself to furnish the occasion by which a single atom of suffering can be added to that load which now weighs so heavily upon you. I will not give opportunity for conflict between the Government of this State and the Government of the United States, the functions, therefore, of the Executive are suspended by me from this day.

Under other circumstances and at other times, I would pause in doing that which I now do without hesitation; and with a perfect conviction that it is due to you that it should be done. The exercise of the executive power in the proclamation of the 2d May, 1865, which was complained of, has been rectified and the proclamation recalled. Before my letter was received containing the explanation of the circumstances which led to the proclamation, these orders have been issued; in which, because of "trustworthy information" of "disloyalty" and "sundry and divers acts of treason," the functions of the Governor of the State are suspended and his authority denied. To exercise my functions in the face of these orders, is to invoke force to sustain me in opposition to that which will be displayed against me. Such a contest could have but one result. While to those in the State who would give their support to the Executive there must come penalties and suffering without the possibility of advantage.

Whatever, therefore, may be the feeling which belongs to me as a man or a citizen in a case like this; where conviction precedes the hearing, and sentence comes before the trial; I feel that it becomes me to be mindful of the considerations which involve your peace and affect your welfare. I have said to you before, I say to you now, the war is over; hostilities have ceased; and it is your duty to forbear opposition which is hopeless—content which is unavailing—and reconcile to yourself that submission which the government of the United States can impose, and you cannot resist.

While the considerations which I have now expressed lead me to this forbearance in the exercise of the functions of the Executive Department of the State, I owe it myself, to you, to the State, the Legislature of which, according to the constitution of this State, elected me the Governor of the State, to make my protest against the power claimed and exercised by Gen. Gilmore. It involves a question which concerns not alone the State, but all the States of the United States. It affirms a principle which it is not now necessary for me to discuss.

Whatever may be your condition of availing resistance on your part will but make it worse. With an earnestness, or the sincerity of which I need not give you assurance, I urge upon you the resumption of your peaceful pursuits; and the adaptation of your yourselves to those changes which may be made in your condition. Do not be misled by excitement; give no heed to passion; deal resolutely with facts; look the truth calmly in the face; spill no more blood; accept with the dignity which ever misfortune can command, the condition which you cannot avert.

In thus suspending the active exercise of the duties of my office, I do so with the most earnest wish that your suffering may soon find mitigation and relief; that you may retrieve the waste and loss of property which you have endured in the progress of the war, and that you may experience those blessings, intellectual social and moral, which, under the favor of God were the great ends which I desired to accomplish. To have succeeded in these would have secured to me a reward, the richest and only inheritance which I could have left to my children.

With regard to myself, so far as I am affected by the charges which are made against me, I am ready to answer to them or any of them. At any time or place, when or where my presence may be desired or required for investigation, I shall be there, or notified thereof, with the least possible delay. Whatever I have said, I believed to be right. And with the consciousness of the rectitude of my purpose, and of the integrity of my conduct, I shall not avoid delay or hinder the closest scrutiny that can be desired.

To you, among whom I was born; to you; with whom my whole life has been spent; to you, whose confidence I have enjoyed; to you, whose testimony I feel I could well invoke for my conduct, I have but to express the pain which this condition of the State has cast me; and to wish you all the happiness which a people are ever permitted to enjoy.

A. G. MAGRATH.

May 24.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward in Specie.

STOLEN FROM MY STABLES ON THE NIGHT of the 5th inst., two (2) fine BAY MARES; one a large bay mare, will fold in the first of the fall, 7 years old, color a deep bay, black legs, main and tail, very small fore top, too short to be kept or placed under the brow band, no white about her, unless saddle marks; a small scar on the right hind leg at the knee or hock joint, outside of the leg, recently done by ploughing; a very heavy made animal, with great muscular power, fine action, gentle and kind in harness or under saddle; gates, walk trot and lope.

Also, one BAY FILLEY, 4 years old, about 14 1/2 hands high, dark bay color, black legs, main and tail, a very handsome animal, beautifully formed with, rather a heavy main and tail. No particular marks except a small scar on the left hip, near the root of the tail, in the shape of a half moon, caused by a kick. These two animals are very much attached to each other, and when separated, restless and uneasy.

I will pay the above reward in specie or its equivalent for the recovery of my mares, or one hundred dollars for either of them. Any information as to the thief will be duly appreciated, and any information as to the mares can be given to James B. Cureton, Esq., or Dr. R. B. Johnston, Camden, S. C., or Hon. James A. Witherspoon, Lancaster, S. C., Capt. Thomas Taylor, Columbia, S. C., or myself.
