Hints . . .

it, and if it is left on, that meter outside keeps turning.

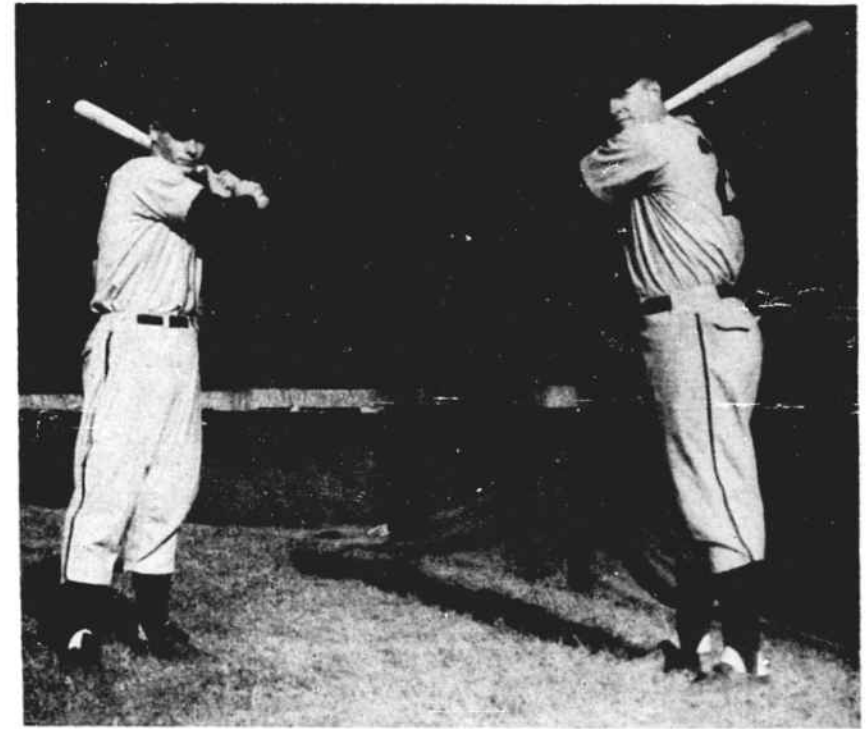

The electricians passed some warnings on to us which are well worth remembering. Don't turn on all of your electrical equipment at one time. It may overload the wiring and blow a fuse. If fuses keep blowing, don't try to patch it up someday--call an electrician.

Be sure to remember this: using cut fuses, pennies or any other metal to make a fuse keep working practically guarantees you a good big fire in your house. The free fuses made available to you by the company are the cheapest fire insurance you can buy for your furniture--and for yourself and loved ones.

Use electric power carefully and economically and you will find it is one of the cheapest servants you can use.

HERE ARE SOME MORE CAVALIERS you'll see a lot of this season. Above are Roy Whitaker and Furman Taylor, both pitchers with a lot on the ball. As you can see Roy is a southpaw and Furman a righthanded hurler. (Below) These outfielders, "Huff" Huffstetler and Ralph Harbin, we predict, will turn in some fine hitting this year plus some wide-awake fielding.

Safety Shoe Campaign On

A "safety shoe" campaign will take place in both Clinton and Lydia plants the week of April 21, according to Calvin Cooper, personnel director.

A professional factory shoe expert will be in Clinton during that time and will measure the feet of any employee in both plants for safety shoes. Even though a person may not want to buy safety shoes at this time, it is important to get measured professionally now so that your measurements will be on file if you decide to buy the shoes later. The shoes may be paid for by payroll deductions, paying half one week and the other half the next.

Take a look at the samples. They are one of the best shoe "buys" on the market, not to mention that they may save your feet in case of an accident.

TAN WINDSOR, DC 1, son of the Lum Windsors, Clinton plant, is stationed at Elizabeth City, N. C. His wife, the former Margaret Blease, and children have joined him there.
