Strength In These Days

The sun, moon and stars;
Earth in its unfailling turning;
the seas, the trees—
you and I and the people
besides us; all that God makes is good; the evil we do ourselves.

Mark Thompson is still out sick and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Vera Williams, Mrs. Mary Ott and Mrs. Jack Wright, all of Clinton, were sick during June.

News Of The Boy Scouts

Six boys from Clinton Mills Troop No. 138, Boy Scouts of America, have returned from a week spent at Camp Old Indian. The boys were under the supervision of Lydia recreation director George Fleming while at camp.

Marshall Cooper, another one of our Boy Scouts at Clinton, has returned from Phi'mont, New Mexico where he attended the national Boy Scout Camporee.

A court of honor for the Boy Scouts will be held July 21 in Laurens.

Around Lydia

By Mrs. Ione Wallace

Senator Ralph Wilson addressed the monthly meeting of the Lydia Woman's Club June 19, speaking on the honesty, integrity and individualism of people in a community. Miss Mary Johnson presided and Mrs. Floyd Poole gave the devotional. Hostesses were Mrs. R. E. Whitmire, Mrs. E. C. Burdette, and Mrs. Melvin Satterfield.

The Clinton Leaders association met June 17 at the Clinton Mills community center with Mrs. J. B. Templeton presiding. Miss Mary Johnson led in singing novelty songs, Mrs. Joe Cooper led in playing games and Miss Bernice Stroupe directed folk dancing.

The Wahanka Campfire Girls met June 13 in the Lydia park under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. Templeton. The girls participated in games and swimming. Those present included Joyce Roof, Faye Bailey, Shelby Alexander, Betty Lou McLendon, Jo Anne Wigley and Miriam Templeton.

Mail Carriers Tour Clinton

Approximately 150 South Carolina rural mail carriers, during their state convention in Clinton July 8, were taken on a tour of Clinton Cotton Mills to see what happened to a bale of cotton as it is processed into cloth.

The tour was conducted under the supervision of Superintendent Huguley and second hands of the mill. Many of the carriers were from the lower part of the state and had never been in a mill. It was an interesting experience for them.

LAURA ANITA is the daughter of the Dorsey Turners, Clinton plant. The young beauty was a year old June 28.

THE SUNBEAMS of the Lydia Mills Baptist Church are an active group of youngsters. They are shown in this snapshot with Corrie Ballard and Jessie Hairston, their leaders.
