

Candid Cameraman Snaps Clinton Girls While At Buck Horn

CLINTON MILLS' CAMPFIRE GIRLS are shown above just before they left on the mill's bus for an enjoyable three days at Camp Buck Horn. Included in the group are the following adult supervisors: Mrs. Eva Land, Pat Sholar, Nellie Osborne, Selma Patterson, Alice Lowe, Sara Coope, Boyce Wilson, life guard and Ott Thomas, driver.

A HAPPY GROUP swimming at Camp Buck Horn are shown neck deep under the supervision of life guard Boyce Wilson.

Buck Horn...

(Cont'd. from Page 1)

During the arts and crafts periods, the younger girls performed magic by transforming oatmeal boxes into attractive pocketbooks and work boxes. At the same time the older girls were making white aprons with hand-painted designs.

Congratulations go to Susan Terry, Lorraine Patterson, Ann Cooper, Delores Brookshire, Iris Hughes and Shirley Ivester for passing their Wood-Gatherer's rank while at camp.

An average of 30 girls participated in the camp each of the three days under the supervision of Mrs. J. V. Lowe and Mrs. Pat Sholar as counselors; guardians, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Mrs. Joe Cooper, Miss Nellie Osborne and social director, Mrs. Joe E. Land. Boyce Wilson was life guard for the encampment.

SHOWN ENJOYING a boatripe at Camp Buck Horn are Sandra Ivester, Shirley Lowry, Delores Brookshire and Shirley Ivester.

TEXTILE PAINTING was one of the crafts taught at Buck Horn and this group is shown displaying some aprons they hand-painted.

Day Camp...

(Cont'd. from Page 1)

The successful day camp was under the director of Mrs. Ione Wallace, Lydia Mills' community director, with the following advisors: Mrs. J. B. Templeton, Miss Mary Johnson, Mrs. Roy Thomas, Miss Miriam Templeton, Mrs. Frances Warner, Miss Margaret Mitchell, Mrs. Bobby Boyce, Mrs. Lois Webb, Mrs. Trammie Boozer, Lydia recreation assistant Pat Sholar and George Fleming.

The day camp will become an annual event following the outstanding success and interest of the first one.

IT WAS A TIRED group at Buck Horn after a busy round of activities, so this group is shown resting while getting a little sun.