Plant No. 1 Employee Finalist In Contest

Robert Fuller

Robert Fuller, a student employee in Plant No. 1 Spinning, was a finalist in the annual State Textile Contest held recently at the R.D. Anderson Vocational Center in Moore, S.C.

Sponsored by the South Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association and the State Department of Education, the textile contest is held each year to offer high school textile students an opportunity to compete for top South Carolina Textile honors.

Robert competed with a number of fellow area textile vocational students in such manufacturing areas as carding, roving, spinning, weaving and cloth inspection.

The textile student's parents are both Clinton employees: Fred is employed in Bailey Carding and Linda is a No. 2 Cloth Room employee.

Photographs Of Graduates Needed

Each year The Clothmaker publishes a pictorial account of employees, their sons and daughters who are graduating from High Schools, Colleges, Technical Education Centers, Business Colleges, Nurses Training, Adult Education, or other higher educational institutions.

If you are a graduating senior or have a child who is a senior, The Clothmaker would like to have a photograph to include in its 1982 pictorial record of graduates.

The deadline for sending photographs to Mack Parsons, Clinton Mills' Main Office, has been extended to May 19. Please indicate the senior's name, the school attended and the parent's name(s). Geneva employees should give their photographs to Personnel Director, Bob Dettmar.

Your Assistant Departmental Superintendent will be pleased to answer any questions you have about getting a photograph in The Clothmaker.

Clinton Mills Receives Award

Clinton Mills was among the ten textile companies who were winners in the American Textile Manufacturers Institute's "First In Safety" contest.

Clinton's award was for the company showing the most improved safety award during the past year. Others in this category included Dan River, Inc., Greenville, S.C.; Tri-Caro, Inc., Gastonia, N.C.; Armtex, Inc., Pilot Mountain, N.C.; and Jefferson Mills, Inc., Jefferson, Ga.

Participating companies in the safety program were grouped into five categories based on the number of people employed.

When the ATMI safety contest was announced, ATMI President Robert E. Coleman said, "Over the years we've maintained an outstanding safety record that places us among the safest industries in America. But we can, and should, be first. All of the people who work in this industry have a personal stake in making this the safest industry."

The National Safety Council currently ranks the textile industry fourth among all manufacturing industries.

Clinton Mills received a flag and plaque recognizing its safety accomplishment. The ATMI contest will be an annual event with awards presented at the Institute's annual meeting each spring.
