

"All my life I said I wanted a job that I could work two days a week and get paid for a full week — now I've got it. I have another part-time job and even with the two jobs, I still have plenty of time off."

—Emma McClain

"This work week gives me a lot to look forward to. At age 60, I farm, raise cattle, and see after a roofing company that I own. I work two days a week and have lots of benefits. The 12-hour days are really a delight and I really don't mind them because there are only two in a row."

—Bernie Prosser

"I can work, be a student and a housewife. How could I do it otherwise? Besides, I need time to study since I'm a student at Enterprise Junior College. My husband, Joey, also is on the two-day schedule and we love the working hours."

—Sonya Wynn

"My attendance improved when I went on the two-day schedule. At first, I had a few problems adjusting to the 12 hours, but that difficulty was soon overcome. I don't seem to have as many worries that I once had now that I have more time off."

—Kozie Fink

"This is the greatest work schedule in the world. I love the weekend work, especially since I'm a full-time college student."

—Ginny Flowers

"My family understands that I have to work on the weekends and I get their full support. I'm an avid fisherman, and this schedule is perfect for me. I wouldn't work any other way unless I had to."

—Pat Lewis

"This schedule has meant much to me. I'm a full-time student at Enterprise State Junior College. I have a wife and two children. The new work schedule allows me to be a father, a full-time student, and a good employee. Sunday night is available for us to attend worship services if we wish to do so."
