

We're Proud Of You.

Graduation is one of the most important milestones in a person's life. It is a long and tiring road which leads to graduation, but those who reach this pinnacle in life can be assured of facing a challenging future with confidence.

The Clothmaker is proud to salute the graduates and their parents. These young people of today and others like them will hold and shape the future of our Company, communities, state and nation.

With their unlimited ambitions, their dedicated service, and their confidence in the future, Clinton Mills says to one and all, "Congratulations."
