Textile Group Seeks New Labeling Law

A national coalition representing the U.S. fiber, textile and apparel industry has called for passage of a new labeling law to provide the consumer with clear information as to country of origin when purchasing textile and apparel products.

Current law requires that imported textile and apparel products carry a country of origin label but there is no such requirement for textile or apparel products made in the United States.

The House Subcommittee on Commerce, Transportation and Tourism heard testimony from representatives of textile companies and others all endorsing a bill which would require all textile and apparel products to be clearly labeled with country of origin.

Agencies of UW Need Our Support

In a few days, Clinton No. 1 and 2, Bailey and Lydia employees will once again be asked to voluntarily support the United Way drive in our plants.

For many years, Clinton employees have led all other local industries in support of the United Way drive.

The goal for the Greater Clinton area is $23,480. The agencies comprising the United Way are as follows:

Alston Wilkes Society—Provides services to men, women and children in prison and to their families, especially to those being released or paroled.

American Red Cross—Provides 24 hr. disaster relief, community health, safety and blood services and liaison between military and families. Teaches Lifesaving, CPR, First Aid and Swimming.

Autistic Children Society—Provides for the welfare of communication and behaviorally handicapped persons by promoting educational and training opportunities.

Blind-Laurens County Chapter—Provides for the spiritual and economic well being of the blind of Laurens County.

Boy Scouts-Blue Ridge Council—Provides training in physical, mental and spiritual development for youth ages 7-21.

Camp Fire Inc., Clinton Council—Provides learning experiences and educational programs for girls and boys ages 5-18. It also provides opportunities for the youth to become active with community projects.

Clinton Family YMCA—Dedicating itself to developing all aspects of the total person: Body, Mind and Spirit. It provides athletics, aquatics, parent-child programs, family activities and informal education classes for all youth and adults.

Easter Seal Society of South Carolina—Provides physical, occupational and speech therapy, orthopedic shoes and braces. Also provides for loan of medical equipment and provides transportation to receive medical services.

Florence Crittenton Home of South Carolina—Provides a residential program for unwed mothers and offers complete medical care, psychiatric consultation and adoption counseling.

Girl Scouts, Old Ninety Six Council—Provides professional guidance, leadership and training for girls, ages 6-17. It also provides girls, an opportunity to become a vital part of the community through working as volunteers.

Joanna Community Recreation Association—Provides classes in crafts, exercise, karate and tennis. It also offers sports: soccer, track, basketball, volleyball, baseball and softball.

Joanna Youth Activities—Epworth United Methodist Church and First Baptist church of Joanna provides guidance, support and leadership for youth ages 7-18.

Salvation Army—Provides emergency assistance to families needing food, clothing and temporary lodging.

Senior Citizen Service Council—Provides for the physical, mental and social well-being of the elderly. It also provides home delivered meals, transportation, homemaker services and referral services.

St. Nicholas Speech and Hearing Center—Provides speech, language and hearing evaluations and therapy for articulation disorders, cerebral palsy, cleft palate and stroke victims.

Travelers Aid Association—Provides immediate help for transients.

Speak Well of Your Company

"Where do you work?" the fellow asked. "I'm with Clinton Mills," came the reply.

There was pride in the answer. "With" rather than "at," told the questioner that this man was a member of a company of people ...not just an employee.

Every time you meet someone, you are an ambassador of your company. The way you say where you work or what your job may be not only tells a lot about yourself, but also a lot about your company.

A person who speaks well about his company is the kind of person we all like to be with. The fellow who is always griping about how bad his job is or how poorly his company is doing certainly isn't saying very much for himself.

Your future depends on the success of our company. And the success of our company depends on you... and the kind of image you carry with you about it wherever you go.

When someone asks where you work, how do you reply? With pride? Remember, it's your future, too.
