Williams Appointed to Education Post

Gov. Carroll Campbell has appointed Mrs. Thad Williams a member of the state's Commission on Higher Education from the fifth Congressional District.

Mrs. Williams is an alumna of the University of South Carolina and has been a strong supporter of educational improvement activities in the state for many years.

She is a former trustee of the Spartanburg Day School, has served on the Board of Visitors of Presbyterian College, and has served on the University of South Carolina Alumni Scholarship Committee. She has also held leadership positions for numerous fund raising drives in support of education in both the public and private sector.

Mrs. Williams is on the executive committee of the State Republican Party, is vice chairperson of the fifth District Republican Party, and has served in major campaign positions for President Ronald Reagan, Sen. Strom Thurmond, and Gov. Carroll Campbell.

The new commission member joins others in making recommendations to the legislature which will improve the quality of the state's higher educational institutions.

Mrs. Williams is the wife of Clinton Mills President G. Thaddeus Williams and the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Donald Russell of Spartanburg. Judge Russell is a former governor and previously served as president of the University of South Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are the parents of three children — Russell, who this fall is a freshman at the University of South Carolina; Cecilia, an eighth grade student at Bell Street Middle School; and Virginia, a freshman at Goucher College in Baltimore, Md. They reside at 302 Elm Street.

"I am interested in the opportunities and challenges of this position which will enable me, as part of this distinguished commission, to make further improvements in the higher education institutions in South Carolina," noted Williams.

Proof of Citizenship Required

As of June 1, all U.S. employers, including Clinton Mills Inc., are required by federal law to require all new employees to provide proof of citizenship or immigration status.

The law, named the Immigration and Reform Control Act of 1986, was signed by President Reagan on November 6. It has two key provisions: an amnesty for illegal aliens who have lived in the United States since before January 1, 1982, and penalties against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens not eligible for amnesty. The law is designed to protect legal residents from discrimination. Its purpose is to prevent employment of individuals not authorized to work in the U.S.

Clinton Mills Inc. is asking all new employees employed on or after November 7, 1986, to sign a certification of U.S. citizenship or authorized alien status.

New employees must furnish certain

Truman Owens

Owens Honored by NFIOA

Truman Owens, personnel department, received the 1987 Distinguished Service Award presented by the National Federation Interscholastic Official Association.

Owens was one of 14 selected by the NFIOA in two chapters from eight sections of the country. He was selected from candidates from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. There are 121,000 members in the NFIOA.

He received his award during a recent conference in Kansas City, Mo.

In presenting the plaque to Owens, officials noted that he has over 20 years football and basketball officiating experience.

During his high school career, he has officiated over 451 varsity assignments, worked 18 state championship game finals, and been rated the number one football judge eight times in the South Carolina directory.

He is a past director of the South Carolina Football Officials Association and a former president.

He was a semi-pro football official from 1970-1980 and officiated 115 SAC 8 college football games from 1968-85.

Owens, known as the cornerstone in officiating for South Carolina, is widely known for his fairness and vast knowledge of competitive sport rules.
