

LOCAL DOTS

—Cotton brought 10½ cents on this market yesterday; cotton seed, 22½ cents.

The Bruce school was opened Monday. The teacher is Miss Allee Horton.

The Russel Place school, taught by Mr. W. A. Hughes, opened last Monday.

—Born, Nov. 7, 1905, to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mathis, of Clinton, Tenn., a daughter.

The Baptist church lot is being graded and leveled. It already presents a better appearance.

Greenville joined the "dry" counties last Tuesday, voting out the dispensary by a large majority.

—Mary Ann Austin, a colored woman here, who recently underwent a serious surgical operation, died Wednesday.

—The Heath-Jones Co., has an unusually attractive announcement in today's paper. Don't fail to read it.

Principal M. D. Lee, of the colored graded school, was painfully hurt in a runaway accident in town yesterday morning. His buggy was wrecked and the horse's leg broken.

The Rev. R. Lee Robinson, of Camden, Ala., who, as noted in our last issue, is visiting his parents in this vicinity, will preach in the A. R. P. church here tomorrow morning, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Hazel Witherspoon has sold his house and lot next to the Baptist church, where he now resides, to Mr. John Edwards, and he has purchased from Mr. Edwards his house and lot in West End.

Magistrate Morrison of Chesterfield, who has been presented by the grand jury of that county for alleged failure to turn over fines collected, has asked the governor to defer action until his side of the matter can be submitted.

—Miss Phoenie Crockett, who had the misfortune to break her leg recently at Mr. W. T. Vanlandingham's, in the Dry Creek section, where she was visiting, as noted in The News at the time, was safely brought to her home here last Tuesday evening, by her kinsman, Mr. W. J. Cunningham.

Let us Know if you Don't Get Your Paper.

Subscribers failing to get their papers regularly are requested to promptly report the fact to this office, and an effort will at once be made to find out where in the trouble lies.

Preparing for a Bazaar.

The ladies of the A. R. P. church are arranging to have a Bazaar in the near future. A special feature will be a "Cake Booth," where all sorts of nice Christmas cakes can be bought. So don't make any yourself until you see how cheaply they may be obtained at the bazaar.

The Hon. Mat Hough, of Landsford, was in town Thursday.

Boy Accidentally Shot.

A little son of Mr. Luke Hallman was accidentally shot in the arm with a palor rifle Thursday, in the Sims section. The lad and some companions were chasing a wounded bird, when the rifle in the hands of one of the party discharged, striking young Hallman.

Marriage in Kershaw.

Mr. Daniel Hough, son of Col. Labon Hough, of Kershaw, and Miss Ella Welsh, daughter of Mayor James V. Welsh, were married in that town Wednesday night. The ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian manse by the pastor, the Rev. J. T. Dendy.

Some Turkeys.

A load of turkeys which were offered for sale on the streets Monday were disposed of in a few moments and few questions asked. They brought from 90 to $1.25 and $200.—Greenwood Journal.

Gee, wouldn't you like to see one of those two hundred-dollar turkeys! They must be as big as Cope Elliott's mules. They certainly did not descend from Job's turkey. One feather alone plucked from the tail of a two hundred dollar gobbler ought to make a ton of toothpicks.

Boxes for the Orphans.

The ladies of Lancaster have placed two boxes at the A. R. P. manse to be filled with Christmas offerings for the inmates of Thornwell Orphanage, at Clinton, and the Dunlap Orphanage, of Tennessee.

Persons having articles of any kind to be placed in either or both of these boxes are requested to send them in promptly, in order that Mr. and Mrs. Pressly may ship the boxes in time to reach the children before Christmas.

Tributes of Respect and their Publication.

The attention of persons desiring tributes of respect published in The News is called to the standing announcement in this paper to the effect that such publications must be paid for. When a death occurs the fact is, of course, published free of charge, being a matter of news and full particulars of the life and character of the deceased are given when known to the editor. But later on, when it is desired by friends or relatives or organizations of any kind to pay tribute through the columns of the paper to the memory of their beloved dead, they are advised to submit their manuscript to the business manager, who will inform them what its publication will cost.

It will readily be seen why the printing of a tribute of respect should be paid for. It can not be considered a matter of news, for the death of the person has already been duly chronicled in the paper. It is usually a personal or family matter and of no special interest to the general public. Such being the case the party or parties desiring its publication should be willing to pay at least the actual expense thereof.
