Bradford's Springs.

IT is a circumstance of no small importance to the citizens of this State to have a convenient and healthy situation, to which they can have access during the Summer and Autumnal months.

The Bradford Spring, at this time, exhibit such a situation. The buildings, here, are capacious and convenient; and are as well calculated for the accommodation of the delicate and infirm, as those who are in search of pleasure.

The situation is, probably, one of the most eligible that this country affords. The elevation is considerably above the common level of the surface. The rise and declivity of the hill is gradual and regular; and its summit smooth and unbroken. The Springs empty out of the basis of the hill, at different apertures, where it abruptly breaks off, in almost, a perpendicular descent.

The water is a strong mineral. It is transparent and palatable. The ingredients which form the composition of this mineral, have not yet been accurately ascertained by chymical analysis. A few individuals have annually visited these Springs, and those alone, can form an adequate idea of the advantage which results from attending; them.

The ruinous condition of the buildings in all probability, and the want of accommodation has, hitherto, prevented a number of persons from attending these Springs. But the subscriber flatters himself that he is now, well prepared for the accommodation of a number of persons. And he pledges himself to spare no exertions to render the situation of all those who attend these Springs both comfortable and agreeable.

RELIGIOUS.

REPORT

ON THE STATE OF RELIGION.

The following Report was occasioned by a communication laid before the Board of Managers of the Bible Society of Charleston—being a letter from Mr. WALSH, of Philadelphia, to Gen. THOMAS PINCKNEY, containing a request, that a statement might be furnished him of the number of churches, charitable religious societies, &c. and of the state of Religion generally in South-Carolina. This gentleman, it was understood, was endeavoring to collect accurate and complete information on this subject from all parts of the United States, with a view to repel the charges of foreign journalists against this country, as not sufficiently alive to the interests of religion, nor doing her proportion of duty in the great schemes that are in operation for evangelizing the world. To meet his laudable views as far as possible, in relation to this State, a Committee of Enquiry was appointed, consisting of the following gentlemen:—Timothy Ford, Esq. Rev. Doctors Percy, Furman, Flinn and Palmer, and James George, Esq. the result of whose investigation is contained in the following statement:

The Committee of the Board of Managers of the Bible Society of Charleston, to whom it was referred to inquire and report concerning the progress and present state of Religion, and of the means generally adopted for cultivating the same, and diffusing the light of Divine Truth, in South-Carolina,

REPORT:

That within the short period that has elapsed since it was committed to them to collect information on the above subject, your Committee have not had sufficient opportunities for extensive inquiry, and have been obliged to avail themselves of such resources of intelligence as were within their immediate reach; and although in some instances their information has been particular, in others it is known to be general, and in some degree imperfect; and they have been obliged to content themselves by forming estimates; in the doing of which they have aimed to avoid exaggeration.

In the state of South-Carolina, there are the following denominations of Protestant Christians which comprehend the principal part of the population, though there are considerable numbers also of the Roman Catholic persuasion. These are the Episcopalians, the Presbyterians, the Methodists, the Baptists, the Congregationalists, the Lutherans and the Seceders. Of most of these denominations it may be truly said, that within fifteen or twenty years they have greatly increased, and some of them are daily increasing with rapid progress. To state the numbers of congregations and people in their several denominations, though practicable as to some not being so as to all; is deemed by your committee to be inexpedient, and for the purposes contemplated by this Report unnecessary. Within the period above mentioned, some of them have increased three-fold, some have more than doubled, and most of them have advanced in a proportion far beyond the progressing population of the state. From the best information your Committee have been able to obtain, they find that the Gospel is now preached to about 618 congregations of Protestant Christians; that there are about 292 ordained clergymen, who labor in word and doctrine amongst them, besides
